Navaho Trading Days:

Navaho Trading Days Elizabeth Compton Hegemann, 1963 Photos and text give picture of Navaho life in the period between the two World Wars Navaho Trading Days Elizabeth Compton Hegemann, 1963 Navaho Trading Days ... With Photographs by the Author Elizabeth Compton HEGEMANN, 1963 Navajo Trading Willow Roberts Powers, 2002-11 This overview is the first to examine trading in the last quarter of the twentieth century when changes in both Navajo and white cultures led to the investigation of trading practices by the Federal Trade Commission resulting in the demise of most traditional trading posts Navajo Land, Navajo Culture Robert S. McPherson, 2003-01-01 In Navajo Land Navajo Culture Robert S. McPherson presents an intimate history of the Din or Navajo people of southeastern Utah Moving beyond standard history by incorporating Native voices the author shows how the Dine s culture and economy have both persisted and changed during the twentieth century As the dominant white culture increasingly affected their worldview these Navajos adjusted to change took what they perceived as beneficial and shaped or filtered outside influences to preserve traditional values With guidance from Navajo elders McPherson describes varied experiences ranging from traditional deer hunting to livestock reduction from bartering at a trading post to acting in John Ford movies and from the coming of the automobile to the burgeoning of the tourist industry Clearly written and richly detailed this book offers new perspectives on a people who have adapted to new conditions while shaping their own destiny A New Deal for Navajo Weaving Jennifer McLerran, 2022-05-10 A New Deal for Navajo Weaving provides a detailed history of early to mid twentieth century Din weaving projects by non Natives who sought to improve the quality and marketability of Navajo weaving but in so doing failed to understand the cultural significance of weaving and its role in the lives of Din women By the 1920s the durability and market value of Din weavings had declined dramatically Indian welfare advocates established projects aimed at improving the materials and techniques Private efforts served as models for federal programs instituted by New Deal administrators Historian Jennifer McLerran details how federal officials developed programs such as the Southwest Range and Sheep Breeding Laboratory at Fort Wingate in New Mexico and the Navajo Arts and Crafts Guild Other federal efforts included the publication of Native natural dye recipes the publication of portfolios of weaving designs to guide artisans and the education of consumers through the exhibition of weavings aiding them in their purchases and cultivating an upscale market McLerran details how government officials sought to use these programs to bring the Din into the national economy instead these federal tactics were ineffective because they marginalized Navajo women and ignored the important role weaving plays in the resilience and endurance of wider Din culture American Nations Frederick Hoxie, Peter Mancall, James Merrell, 2020-11-25 This volume brings together an impressive collection of important works covering nearly every aspect of early Native American history from contact and exchange to diplomacy religion warfare and disease Both Sides of the Bullpen Robert S. McPherson, 2017-10-19 Between 1880 and 1940 Navajo and Ute families and westward trending Anglos met in the bullpens of southwestern trading posts to barter for material goods As the products of the livestock economy of Navajo culture were exchanged for the merchandise of an industrialized nation a wealth of cultural knowledge also changed hands In Both Sides of the Bullpen Robert S McPherson reveals the ways that Navajo tradition fundamentally reshaped and defined trading practices in the Four Corners area of southeastern Utah and southwestern Colorado Drawing on oral histories of Native peoples and traders collected over thirty years of research McPherson explores these interactions from both perspectives as wool blankets and silver crossed the counter in exchange for flour coffee and hardware To succeed traders had to meet the needs and expectations of their customers often interpreted through Navajo cultural standards From the organization of the post building to gift giving health care and burial services and a credit system tailored to the Navajo calendar every feature of the trading post served trader and customer alike Over time these posts evolved from ad hoc business ventures or profitable cooperative stores into institutions with a clearly defined set of expectations that followed Navajo traditional practices Traders spent their days evaluating craft work learning the financial circumstances of each Native family following economic trends in the wool and livestock industry back east and avoiding conflict In detail and depth the many voices woven throughout Both Sides of the Bullpen restore an underappreciated era to the history of the American Southwest They show us that for American Indians and white traders alike in the Four Corners region during the late 1800s and early 1900s barter was as much a cultural expression as it was an economic necessity

Navajo National Monument Hal Rothman,1991 Ed Moses Ed Moses,John Yau,1996 Ed Moses b 1928 is widely considered to be one of the central figures in the rich and complex history of postwar West Coast art Like Richard Diebenkorn and Sam Francis his work has been greatly influenced by the brilliant light of Southern California Modernism and European and American abstract art are also echoed in Moses s work and the vitality of his diverse oeuvre radiates throughout this first major retrospective of his paintings and drawings Although he attended art school Ed Moses is an autodidact who has labored to overcome his inability as he put it to draw three dimensionally And drawing has been central to his work the spine from which all of his art extends From his egg tempera paintings in the early 1950s to the ror shock paintings and drawings of the early 1990s he has found ways to investigate the relationship between spontaneity the legacy of abstract expressionism and control and balance inherited from Mondrian and the Russian constructivists Moving decisively from abstraction to figuration and from monochrome to tonality and color Moses like de Kooning and Pollock has consistently turned away from the predictable and has sought new ground In his bold exploration of forms and methods Ed Moses has avoided the label of a particular tradition and instead continues to reinvent himself With over seventy paintings and drawings that span his career this is the most comprehensive book on Ed Moses available today I felt as though these paintings were not something I created they were something I discovered Ed Moses Diné Peter Iverson,2002-08-28 The most complete and current history of the largest American Indian nation in the U S based on extensive new archival research traditional histories interviews and personal observation Tales from Wide Ruins Jean Cousins,1996 Recounts the experiences of two Indian traders during the 1930s and 1940s describing the hardships endured by them and the Native Americans with whom they dealt "I Choose Life" Maureen Trudelle Schwarz,2014-10-20 How Navajos navigate the complex world of medicine Surgery blood transfusions CPR and organ transplantation are common biomedical procedures for treating trauma and disease But for Navajo Indians these treatments can conflict with their traditional understanding of health and well being This book investigates how Navajos navigate their medically and religiously pluralistic world while coping with illness Focusing on Navajo attitudes toward invasive procedures Maureen Trudelle Schwarz reveals the ideological conflicts experienced by Navajo patients and the reasons behind the choices they make to promote their own health and healing Schwarz has conducted extensive interviews with patients traditional herbalists and ceremonial practitioners and members of Native American Church and Christian denominations to reveal the variety of perspectives toward biomedicine that prevail on the reservation and to show how each group within the tribe copes with health related issues She describes how Navajos interpret numerous health issues in terms of local understanding drawing on both their own and biomedical or Christian traditions She also provides insight into how Navajos use ceremonial practice and prayer to deal with the consequences of amputation or transplantation Patterns of Exchange Teresa J. Wilkins,2013-03-15 The Navajo rugs and textiles that people admire and buy today are the result of many historical influences particularly the interaction between Navajo weavers and the traders who guided their production and controlled their sale John Lorenzo Hubbell and other late nineteenth century traders were convinced they knew which patterns and colors would appeal to Anglo American buyers and so they heavily encouraged those designs In Patterns of Exchange Teresa J Wilkins traces how the relationships between generations of Navajo weavers and traders affected Navajo weaving The Navajos valued their relationships with Hubbell and others who operated trading posts on their reservation As a result they did not always see themselves as exploited victims of a capitalist system Rather because of Navajo cultural traditions of gift giving and helping others the artists slowly adapted some of the patterns and colors the traders requested into their own designs By the 1890s Hubbell and others commissioned paintings depicting particular weaving styles and encouraged Navajo weavers to copy them reinforcing public perceptions of traditional Navajo weaving Even the Navajos came to revere certain designs as the weaving of the ancestors Enhanced by numerous illustrations including eight color plates this volume traces the intricate play of cultural and economic pressures and personal relationships between artists and traders that guided Navajo weavers to produce textiles that are today emblems of the Native American Southwest Winner Multi cultural Subject New Mexico Book Awards American Indian Culture and Research Journal ,2000 Reopening the American West Hal K. Rothman,2016-12-15 Take a good look at the American West and you ll see that the frontier is undergoing constant changes not only changes made to the land but also changes in attitudes about the land held by the people who live there In this book

Mike Davis Stephen Pyne William deBuys Donald Worster Dan Flores and others re examine the relationship between people and the environment in the American West over five hundred years from the legacy of Coronado s search for the Cities of Gold to the social costs of tourism and gaming inflicted by modern adventurers By exploring places in the West aspects of the region s past and ways of understanding some of its pressing issues the authors foster a better understanding of how people interact and perceive land Reopening the American West takes a fresh approach to the history of the region examining the premises of earlier scholars as well as those who have redefined the study of the West over the past two decades It combines provocative essays with insightful analyses to address issues that are representative of the West in the twentieth century multiculturalism water issues resource exploitation and to reopen the West for all readers interested in new ways of looking at its wide open spaces Contents Places Dreams of Earth William deBuys Environmentalism and Multiculturalism Dan L Flores Pyre on the Mountain Stephen J Pyne Las Vegas Versus Nature Mike Davis Past The Legacy of John Wesley Powell Donald Worster Pokey s Paradox Tourism and Transformation on the Western Navajo Reservation Hal K Rothman Negotiating National Identity Western Tourism and See American First Marguerite Schaffer Understanding Place Humanists at the Headgates Helen Ingram Tapping the Rockies Resource Exploitation and Conservation in the Intermountain West Char Miller The Meaning of Place Reimagining Community in a Changing West Robert Gottlieb

A bibliography of the Athapaskan languages Richard T. Parr, 1974-01-01 This bibliography brings together the relevant materials in linguistics anthropology archaeology folklore and ethnomusicology for the Athapaskan languages It consists of approximately 5 000 entries of which one fourth have been annotated as well as maps and census illustrations Published in English Viewing the Ancestors Robert S. McPherson, 2014-03-17 The Anaas z people left behind marvelous structures the ruins of which are preserved at Mesa Verde Chaco Canyon and Canyon de Chelly But what do we know about these people and how do they relate to Native nations living in the Southwest today Archaeologists have long studied the American Southwest but as historian Robert McPherson shows in Viewing the Ancestors their findings may not tell the whole story McPherson maintains that combining archaeology with knowledge derived from the oral traditions of the Navajo Ute Paiute and Hopi peoples yields a more complete history McPherson s approach to oral tradition reveals evidence that contrary to the archaeological consensus that these groups did not coexist the Navajos interacted with their Anaas z neighbors In addition to examining archaeological literature McPherson has studied traditional teachings and interviewed Native people to obtain accounts of their history and of the relations between the Anaas z and Athapaskan ancestors of today s Hopi Pueblo and Navajo peoples Oral history McPherson points out tells why things happened For example archaeological findings indicate that the Hopi are descended from the Anaas z but Hopi oral tradition better explains why the ancient Puebloans may have left the Four Corners region the drought that may have driven the Anaas z away was a symptom of what had gone wrong within the society a point that few archaeologists could derive from what is found in the ground An important text for non Native scholars as well as Native people committed to retaining traditional knowledge Viewing the Ancestors exemplifies collaboration between the sciences and oral traditions rather than a contest between the two

Navajo Textiles Nancy J. Blomberg, 1994-07-01 William Randolph Hearst's collection of Navajo textiles is one of the most complete gatherings of nineteenth century Navajo weaving in the world Comprising dozens of Classic Period serapes chief blankets Germantown eyedazzlers and turn of the century rugs the 185 piece collection was donated to the Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History in 1942 but for the next forty years was known only to a handful of scholars Hearst began acquiring textiles from the Fred Harvey Company after viewing an exhibit of Indian artifacts Over four decades he amassed a collection spanning more than a century of Navajo weaving and including nearly every major type produced from 1800 to 1920 Hearst's passion for American Indian artifacts was so strong that he had originally visualized his now famous castle in San Simeon as a showplace for his Navajo textile collection At a time when the Harvey Company was itself influencing the development of Indian handcrafts by opening up the tourist market Hearst contributed to this influence by expressing his own artistic preference for rare and unusual pieces This catalogue raisonné featuring nearly 200 illustrations provides the general public with the first look at this important collection Nancy Blomberg's narrative introduces the reader to the history of Navajo weaving and documents Hearst's role in its development The heart of the book provides a detailed analysis of each textile fibers yarn types dyes and designs Navajo Textiles thus constitutes an invaluable reference for scholars and collectors and will be enjoyed by anyone who appreciates these beautiful creations from the Navajo loom
