Prehistory of the Eastern Highlands of New Guinea Virginia Drew Watson, J. David Cole, 1977-12 The Evolution of Highland Papua New Guinea Societies D. K. Feil, 1987-12-03 D K Feil's study focuses on the divergent regions of the eastern and western highland of Papua New Guinea

The Origins And Spread Of Agriculture And Pastoralism In Eurasia David R. Harris, 2024-11-01 As the first book to examine the origins and spread of agriculture and pastoralism in Europe and Asia as a whole this major contribution should be essential reading for archaeologists anthropologists biologists and geographers Adopting a novel approach to the subject the authors examine it first in terms of seven different disciplinary perspectives social ecological genetic linguistic biomolecular epidemiological and geographical Then 20 case studies are presented which are based primarily on archaeological and biological evidence and which relate to three major regions Southwest Asia Europe and Central Asia to the Pacific The book concludes with an overview of Eurasia as a whole The transition from hunting and gathering to agriculture had revolutionary consequences for human society It led to the emergence of urban civilizations and ultimately to humanity's almost complete dependence on relatively few domesticated animals and plants The subject has been much studied but the results have tended to be interpreted largely in terms of local cultural sequences with insufficient comparison made with evidence from other areas In contrast this book provides a continental scale framework with its scope extended to pastoralism because in Eurasia both the raising of livestock and the cultivation of crops were integral components of the agricultural revolution from its inception some 10 000 years ago Comprehensive and authoritative The Origins and Spread of Agriculture and Pastoralism in Eurasia should appeal strongly to the wide readership of students and specialists concerned with the prehistoric antecedents of modern civilization

Archaeologies of Island Melanesia Mathieu Leclerc, James Flexner, 2019-08-08 The island world of Melanesia ranging from New Guinea and the Bismarcks through the Solomons Vanuatu and New Caledonia is characterised more than anything by its boundless diversity in geography language and culture The deep historical roots of this diversity are only beginning to be uncovered by archaeological investigations but as the contributions to this volume demonstrate the exciting discoveries being made across this region are opening windows to our understanding of the historical processes that contributed to such remarkably varied cultures Archaeologies of Island Melanesia offers a sampling of some of the recent and ongoing research that spans such topics as landscape exchange systems culture contact and archaeological practice authored by some of the leading scholars in Oceanic archaeology Professor Patrick Vinton Kirch Professor of Anthropology University of Hawai'i Island Melanesia is a remarkable region in many respects from its great ecological and linguistic diversity to the complex histories of settlement and interaction spanning from the Pleistocene to the present Archaeological research in Island Melanesia is currently going through a vibrant phase of exciting new discoveries and challenging debates about questions that apply far beyond the region This volume draws together a variety of current perspectives in regional archaeology for

West New Guinea Dylan Gaffney, Marlin Tolla, 2025-02-20 This book explores the human past in West New Guinea otherwise known as Indonesian Papua West Papua or Irian Jaya The western part of New Guinea and its surrounding islands were critical for the early peopling of the Pacific region over 50 000 years ago when Homo sapiens moved out of

Africa and into Asia seafaring through the islands of Wallacea as far as New Guinea the Bismarck Archipelago and the Solomon Islands After arriving on the shores of West New Guinea people adapted to diverse environments including coral reefs tropical rainforests swamps montane cloud forests and savannah grasslands Over millennia people transformed these habitats by burning and cutting the forests translocating plants and animals and managing access to resources Food production later emerged in the region as the global climate warmed up around 10 000 years ago Between 4000 3000 years ago the Austronesian languages began to enter West New Guinea with its speakers settling around the coasts and offshore islands New forms of exchange connected people and particularly within the last 2000 years drew West New Guinea into global networks The objects produced and traded at ethnographic contact like pottery stone axes string bags shell ornaments and wooden carvings can be informative about these networks but they are increasingly changing as people navigate and transform their material worlds in the present The examination of these objects in museums not only casts light on their makers traders and collectors but also highlights the ongoing connections that Papuans have with their material culture in the twenty first century The 22 chapters in this book contribute novel perspectives and critical data on each of these themes The authors come from archaeology social anthropology biological anthropology linguistics museology palaeoecology and beyond They write about a wide array of West New Guinea s regions including the highlands north and south coasts Bird s Head Peninsula Cenderawasih Bay and the Raja Ampat Islands
