J. J. Menken, 2004 What type of Old Testament text did Matthew use as editor of his Gospel On the one hand the editorially inserted fulfilment quotations with their peculiar textual form may be expected to represent Matthew's biblical text On the other hand the remaining OT quotations are mainly Septuagintal and it is often assumed that Matthew reinforced the Septuagintal character of the quotations which he found in his sources In the first part of this study the fulfilment quotations are examined Their textual form is best explained as a Septuagint text that was revised to make it better agree with the Hebrew and to improve the quality of its Greek the evangelist took these quotations from a continuous text In the second part Matthew's remaining OT quotations are investigated If Matthew borrows quotations from his sources he does not adjust them to the LXX but he simply copies them or edits them in his usual way if he inserts quotations into his sources he makes use of his revised Septuagint On the whole this revised Septuagint seems to have been Matthew's Bible Eerdmans Commentary on the Bible: Judges and Ruth P. Gospel of Matthew on the Landscape of Antiquity Edwin K. Broadhead, 2017-07-13 The Gospel of Matthew is an oeuvre mouvante a work in process and the dynamics of this process are essential to its identity and function This understanding of the Gospel of Matthew stands in distinction from the long history of research centered on Matthew the author and his design for the gospel Focused instead on tradition history the history of composition and transmission Edwin K Broadhead s approach keeps open the dialectical engagements and the conflicting voices intrinsic to the Gospel of Matthew As a result the consistently Jewish textures of this gospel are emphasized there is a broader engagement with the landscape of antiquity and serious attention is given to further developments in the history of transmission This focus on the developing tradition thus highlights rather than suppresses the viability and the generative potential of such discourses The Universalist Leader, 1924

Theodicy and the Cross of Christ Tom Holmén, 2018-12-13 The death of Jesus is commonly regarded as the one radically novel perspective from which the problem of suffering is viewed in the New Testament as opposed to the appropriation of viewpoints present elsewhere in contemporary writings and in the Old Testament Tom Holm n s focus on the death of Jesus as a source of New Testament theodicy reveals a two fold reasoning the lasting relevance of the theme of Jesus death on the cross and theodicy and the lack of thorough and sustained New Testament investigations into this theme Holm n s argument focuses on the changes in the concept of suffering occasioned by the unprecedented sacrifice of Jesus He explores both the derivative nature of suffering as God s retribution or a test for discipline in line with the traditions known in the time contemporary to the formation of the New Testament and the sharp wholly new contrast of suffering as intercessory in the crucifixion of Christ Son of God appearing to the world as impossible Holm n considers many issues in his discussion including the context of providence and covenant and the problem that Jesus death causes for theodicy He also examines other perspectives such as the writings of Paul and practical considerations of coping with anguish Taken as a whole this study provides a fresh examination of the crucifixion s central role for understanding New Testament approaches to suffering
