Fisher, Ralph Lynn Lowenstein, 1967 All the People Joseph Torres, Juan González, 2012-09-11 From colonial newspapers to the Internet age America's racial divisions have played a central role in the creation of the country's media system just as the media has contributed to and every so often combated racial oppression This acclaimed book called a masterpiece by the esteemed scholar Robert W McChesney and chosen as one of 2011 s best books by the Progressive reveals how racial segregation distorted the information Americans have received even as it depicts the struggle of Black Latino Asian and Native American journalists who fought to create a vibrant yet little known alternative democratic press Written in an exciting story driven style and replete with memorable portraits of journalists both famous and obscure News for All the People is destined to become the standard history of the American media Reporting on Race in a Digital Era Carolyn Nielsen, 2020-02-19 This book explores U S news media s 21st century reckoning with race from the election of President Barack Obama through the birth and growth of the Black Lives Matter movement to the tense weeks after a white police officer killed an unarmed African American teenager in Ferguson Missouri While legacy newsrooms struggled to interpret complex events a diverse group of digital storytellers used emerging technologies Veteran journalist and media scholar Carolyn Nielsen examines how the first two decades of this century produced new models for journalists to explore the complexity of racism amplify the voices of lived experience and understand their audiences Using critical analysis of news coverage and interviews with reporters who cover racial issues the book shows how new models of journalism break with legacy journalism s conceptions of objectivity expertise and news judgment to provide deeper understanding of systems of power Journalism's Racial Reckoning Brad Clark, 2022-03-27 This book addresses endemic issues of racism in news media at what is a critical moment in time as journalists around the world speak out en masse against the prejudice and inequality in the industry As the events of 2020 the death of George Floyd the rise in prominence of the Black Lives Matter movement have drawn new and focused attention to inequality white supremacy and systemic racism including in the media this volume chronicles this racial reckoning revisiting and examining the issues that it has raised The author analyses media output by racialized and Indigenous journalists identifying the racial make up of newsrooms the dominance of white perspectives in news coverage interpretations of ethics downplaying systemic racism and bias ignorance of racist history in editorial decisions and news

content and diversity and inclusion measures The actions taken by news organizations in response to the reckoning are also detailed and placed in the context of existing race and media scholarship to offer emerging strategies to address journalism s longstanding issues with racism in news content and newsrooms Grounding the interplay between news media and race within this pivotal moment in history this text will be an important resource for students and scholars of journalism journalism ethics sociology cultural studies organizational studies media and communication studies Women in the News Marian Meyers, 2013-07-24 African American Women in the News offers the first in depth examination of the varied representations of Black women in American journalism from analyses of coverage of domestic abuse and crack mothers to exploration of new media coverage of Michelle Obama on Youtube Marian Meyers interrogates the complex and often contradictory images of African American women in news media through detailed studies of national and local news the mainstream and Black press and traditional news outlets as well as newer digital platforms She argues that previous studies of African Americans and the news have largely ignored the representations of women as distinct from men and the ways in which socioeconomic class can be a determining factor in how Black women are portrayed in the news Meyers also proposes that a pattern of paternalistic racism as distinct from the modern racism found in previous studies of news coverage of African Americans is more likely to characterize the media s treatment of African American women Drawing on critical cultural studies and black feminist theory concerning representation and the intersectionality of gender race and class Meyers goes beyond the cultural myths and stereotypes of African American women to provide an updated portrayal of Black women today African American Women in the News is ideal for courses on African American studies American studies journalism studies media studies sociology studies women s studies and for professional journalists and students of journalism who seek to improve the diversity and sensitivity of their journalistic practice Race-Baiter Eric Deggans, 2012-10-30 Gone is the era of Edward R Murrow and Walter Cronkite when news programs fought to gain the trust and respect of a wide spectrum of American viewers Today the fastest growing news programs and media platforms are fighting hard for increasingly narrow segments of the public and playing on old prejudices and deep rooted fears coloring the conversation in the blogosphere and the cable news chatter to distract from the true issues at stake Using the same tactics once used to mobilize political parties and committed voters they send their fans coded messages and demonize opposing groups in the process securing valuable audience share and website traffic Race baiter is a term born out of this tumultuous climate coined by the conservative media to describe a person who uses racial tensions to arouse the passion and ire of a particular demographic Even as the election of the first black president forces us all to reevaluate how we think about race gender culture and class lines some areas of modern media are working hard to push the same old buttons of conflict and division for new purposes In Race Baiter veteran journalist and media critic Eric Deggans dissects the powerful ways modern media feeds fears prejudices and hate while also tracing the history of the word and its consequences intended or otherwise

Campbell, Kim M. LeDuff, Cheryl D. Jenkins, Rockell A. Brown, 2013-07-03 The history of American journalism is marked by disturbing representations of people and communities of color from the disgraceful stereotypes of pre civil rights America to the more subtle myths that are reflected in routine coverage by journalists all over the country Race and News Critical Perspectives aims to examine these journalistic representations of race and in doing so to question whether or not we are living in a post racial world By looking at national coverage of stories like the Don Imus controversy Hurricane Katrina Barack Obama's presidential candidacy and even the Virginia Tech shootings readers are given an opportunity to gain insight into both subtle and overt forms of racism in the newsroom and in national dialogue The book itself is divided into two sections with the first examining the journalistic routine and the decisions that go into covering a story with or without relation to race The second section comprised of case studies explores the coverage of national stories and how they have impacted the dialogue on race and racism in the United States As a whole the collection of essays and studies also reflects a variety of research approaches With a goal of contributing to the discussion about race and its place in American journalism this broad examination makes Race and News an ideal text for courses on cultural diversity and the media as well as making it valuable to professional journalists and journalism students who seek to improve their approach to coverage of diverse

Weill, 2002-03-30 Mississippi is a unique case study as a result of its long standing defiance of federal civil rights legislation and the fact that nearly half its population was black and relegated to second class citizenship According to the vast majority of Mississippi daily press editorials examined between 1948 and 1968 the notion that blacks and whites were equal as races of people was a concept that remained unacceptable and inconceivable While the daily press certainly did not advocate desegregation in contrast to what many media critics have reported about the Southern press promoting violence to suppress civil rights activity Mississippi daily newspapers never encouraged or condoned violence during the time periods under evaluation Weill places coverage of these important events within a historical context shedding new light on media opinion in the state most
