Politics of Skin Tone Nicole D. Yadon, 2025-05-05 A nuanced examination of the salience of skin tone within African American politics Research shows that skin tone is associated with significant differences in life experiences On average African Americans with darker skin earn lower wages suffer worse health outcomes and endure more negative criminal justice experiences than lighter skinned African Americans Nicole D Yadon conceptualizes skin tone as one facet of the multidimensional construct of race that powerfully influences racialized experiences which in turn can influence political identities and attitudes Drawing on evidence from one hundred in depth interviews multiple surveys and a survey experiment The Politics of Skin Tone investigates the political associations of skin tone Yadon finds that skin tone correlates with political attitudes particularly on issues where color based disparities are especially pronounced such as criminal justice Moreover a sizable number of African Americans adopt a skin tone based identity In an era of shifting racial boundaries and growing color based discrimination The Politics of Skin Tone examines the implications for both scholars and policymakers Skin

Color, Power, and Politics in America Mara Cecilia Ostfeld, Nicole Yadon, 2022-04-30 A person's skin color affects their life experiences including income educational attainment health outcomes exposure to discrimination interactions with the criminal justice system and one's sense of ethnoracial group belonging But do these disparate experiences affect the relationship between skin color and political views In Skin Color Power and Politics in America political scientists Mara Ostfeld and Nicole Yadon explore the relationship between skin color and political views in the U S among Latino Black and White Americans They examine how skin color influences an individual's politics and whether a person's political views influence how they assess their own skin color Ostfeld and Yadon surveyed over 1 300 people about their political views including party affiliation their opinions on welfare and the importance of speaking English in the U S The authors created a matrix grounded in their Roots of Race framework which predicts the relationship between skin color and political attitudes for each ethnoracial group based on the blurriness of the group's boundaries and historical levels of privilege They draw upon three distinct measures of skin color to conceptualize the relationship between skin color and political views Machine Rated Skin Color measured with a light reflectance meter Self Assessed Skin Color using the Yadon Ostfeld Skin Color Scale and Skin Color Discrepancy the difference between one's Machine Rated and Self Assessed Skin Color Ostfeld and Yadon examine patterns that emerge among these measures and their relationships with life experiences and political stances Among Latinos a group with relatively blurry group boundaries and low levels of historical privilege the authors find a robust relationship between political views and Self Assessed Skin Color Latinos who overestimate the lightness of their skin color are more likely to hold conservative views on current racialized political issues such as policing Latinos who overestimate the darkness of their skin color on the other hand are more likely to hold liberal political views As America s major political parties remain divided on issues of race this suggests that for Latinos self reported skin color is used as a means of aligning oneself with valued political coalitions African Americans another group with low levels of historical privilege but with more clearly defined group boundaries demonstrated no significant relationship between skin color and political attitudes Thus the lived experiences associated with being African American appeared to supersede the differences in life experiences due to skin color Whites a group with more historical privilege and increasingly blurry group boundaries showed a clear relationship between machine assessed skin color and attitudes on political issues Those with darker Machine Rated Skin Color are more likely to hold conservative views suggesting that they are responding to the threat of losing their privilege in a multicultural society At a time when the U S is both more diverse and politically divided Skin Color Power and Politics in America is a timely account of the ways in which skin color and politics are intertwined

Skin Colour Politics

Nina Kullrich,2022-02-14 The global practice of skin bleaching is predominantly understood as an internalized legacy of colonialism and an embodiment of Western ideals of beauty This book offers a new perspective on fair skin preference in India it challenges the assumption that desires for light skin are always a desire of whiteness Rather than talking back to the colonial centre skin colour politics reorganise and reinforce social distinctions in Indian societies which are neither exclusively local nor global Based on primary research conducted in Delhi this multi dimensional study shows how skin colour intersects with and reproduces other categories of social distinction primarily gender class caste race region and religion It historically embeds fairness as an Indian precolonial yet transnational ideal of beauty The bleached body emerges as an active and thus potentially resistant part of negotiating social status within multiple power relations and complex beauty regimes By mapping a whole geography of skin colours in India this book shows how fair skin as a locally embedded beauty norm and whiteness as a global cultural imperative

Navigating the Inequitable U.S. Healthcare System Kellina Craig-Henderson, 2024-06-04 This book explores the existing inequities within the U.S. healthcare system and their impacts on individuals and in particular Black women who seek life-saving healthcare. Specifically, it documents the impact of racial and ethnic inequities on the quest for critical health care in the context of a major health care crisis. More poignantly, as a healthcare consumer recently plunged into the marketplace for life-saving health care, the author systematically explored and documented the process of obtaining care as an African American woman against the backdrop of an emerging global pandemic. This book recounts some of these experiences by showing specific instances where the ogre of race intruded and influenced her access to life-saving care. Among other things, this book argues for increased formal and informal support structures within the healthcare system that are specifically focused on Black women's survival, well-being, and quality of life.

Rethinking the Color Line Charles A. Gallagher, 2022-01-20 Rethinking the Color Line helps make sense of how race and ethnicity influence aspects of social life in ways that are often made invisible by culture politics and economics. Black Beauty: Aesthetics, Stylization, Politics Shirley Anne Tate, 2016-04-15 Previous work discussing Black beauty has tended to concentrate on Black women's search for white beauty as a consequence of racialization. Without denying either the continuation of such aesthetics or their enduring power, this book uncovers the cracks in this hegemonic Black beauty. Drawing on detailed ethnographic research amongst British women of Caribbean heritage, this volume pursues a broad discussion of beauty within the Black diaspora contexts of the Caribbean, the UK, the United States, and Latin America through different historical periods to the present day. With a unique exploration of beauty, race, and identity politics, the author reveals how Black women themselves speak about, negotiate, inhabit, work on, and perform Black beauty. As such, it will appeal not only to sociologists but anyone working in the fields of race, ethnicity, and post-colonial thought, feminism, and the sociology of the body.
