Race Studs Terkel, 2012 Presents the feelings of nearly one hundred Americans on such issues as affirmative action changing neighborhoods and secret prejudices Seema's Show Sara Halprin, 2005-09-15 The fascinating life of a cultural and political icon Degrees of Freedom Keith G. Banting, George Hoberg, Richard Simeon, 1997 A comparative study of Canadian and American responses to the changing international economy and to changing patterns of social diversity in domestic society Degrees of Freedom traces the impact of these pressures on the economic and social structure culture political institutions and policy regimes of the two countries The Changing Terrain of Race and Ethnicity Maria Krysan, Amanda E. Lewis, 2004-11-11 The legal institutions of overt racism in the United States have been eliminated but social surveys and investigations of social institutions confirm the continuing significance of race and the enduring presence of negative racial attitudes This shift from codified and explicit racism to more subtle forms comes at a time when the very boundaries of race and ethnicity are being reshaped by immigration and a rising recognition that old systems of racial classification inadequately capture a diverse America In The Changing Terrain of Race and Ethnicity editors Maria Krysan and Amanda Lewis bring together leading scholars of racial dynamics to study the evolution of America's racial problem and its consequences for race relations in the future The Changing Terrain of Race and Ethnicity opens by attempting to answer a puzzling question how is it that so many whites think racism is no longer a problem but so many nonwhites disagree Sociologist Lawrence Bobo contends that whites exhibit what he calls laissez faire racism which ignores historical and structural contributions to racial inequality and does nothing to remedy the injustices of the status quo Tyrone Forman makes a similar case in his chapter contending that an emphasis on color blindness allows whites to be comforted by the idea that all races are on a level playing field while not recognizing the advantages they themselves have reaped from years of inequality The book then moves to a discussion of the new ways that Americans view race Eduardo Bonilla Silva and Karen Glover argue that the United States is moving from a black white divide to a tripartite system where certain light skinned non threatening minority groups are considered honorary whites The book's final section reexamines the theoretical underpinnings of scholarship on race and ethnicity Joe Feagin argues that research on racism focuses too heavily on how racial boundaries are formed and needs to concentrate more on how those boundaries are used to maintain privileges for certain groups at the expense of others Manning Marable contends that racism should be addressed at an institutional level to see the prevalence of structural racism deeply entrenched patterns of inequality that are coded by race and justified by stereotypes The Changing Terrain of Race and Ethnicity provides an in depth view of racism in modern America which may be less conspicuous but not necessarily less destructive than its predecessor Jim Crow The book's rich analysis and theoretical insight shed light on how despite many efforts to end America's historic racial problem it has evolved and persisted into the 21st century Losing the Race John H. McWhorter, 2000 Explains why victimhood is exaggerated and enshrined in African American families and discusses why these attitudes are destructive to future generations

Winning the Race John McWhorter,2006-12-28 In his first major book on the state of black America since the New York Times bestseller Losing the Race John McWhorter argues that a renewed commitment to achievement and integration is the only cure for the crisis in the African American community Winning the Race examines the roots of the serious problems facing black Americans today poverty drugs and high incarceration rates and contends that none of the commonly accepted reasons can explain the decline of black communities since the end of segregation in the 1960s Instead McWhorter posits that a sense of victimhood and alienation that came to the fore during the civil rights era has persisted to the present day in black culture even though most blacks today have never experienced the racism of the segregation era McWhorter traces the effects of this disempowering conception of black identity from the validation of living permanently on welfare to gansta rap s glorification of irresponsibility and violence as a means of protest He discusses particularly specious claims of racism attacks the destructive posturing of black leaders and the hip hop academics and laments that a successful black person must be faced with charges of acting white While acknowledging that racism still exists in America today McWhorter argues that both blacks and whites must move past blaming racism for every challenge blacks face and outlines the steps necessary for improving the future of black America     Creating America Joyce Moser,Ann Watters,1995 CREATING AMERICA FOURTH EDITION presents readings and JOYCE MOSER images that depict the political and social changes in America from the Revolutionary War to the twenty first century Its argumentative focus will teach you how to persuade others through written words and visual ideas     Locked Up but Not Locked Down Ahmariah Jackson,IAtomic Seven,2011-07-30     Home Mission Monthly ,1905
