Racial Separation In South Africa:

Race and Reconciliation in South Africa William E. Van Vugt, G. Daan Cloete, 2000-01-01 In the mid 1990s the Truth and Reconciliation Commission disclosed its findings on the awful reality of the apartheid era in South Africa. The Commission inspired scholars from Europe, North America and South Africa to convene a group of their own to investigate in multicultural scholarly dialogue the history, theology, philosophy and politics of race and reconciliation in South Africa. This volume is the product of that important dialogue. And while the focus is the particular environment of South Africa, the contributors work within a comparative perspective using examples from other nations and cultures to explore that which makes South Africa unique. Ultimately, the book aims to offer not only a better understanding of the depth of injustice in South Africa's past but also a deeper appreciation for the achievement of the present and the promise of the future in South Africa and in every other multiethnic region in the world.

Racial Separation in South Africa Eugene P. Dvorin, 1952 Segregation and Apartheid in Twentieth Century South Africa William Beinart, Saul Dubow, 2013-04-15 As South Africa moves towards majority rule and blacks begin to exercise direct political power, apartheid becomes a thing of the past, but its legacy in South African history will be indelible. This book is designed to introduce students to a range of interpretations of one of South Africa's central social characteristics: racial segregation. It brings together eleven articles which span the whole history of segregation from its origins to its final collapse, reviews the new historiography of segregation, and the wide variety of intellectual traditions on which it is based. Includes a glossary, explanatory notes, and further reading.

Ethnicity Housing Frederick W. Boal, 2020-09-29 This title was first published in 2000. This work has its origins in the 1995 Congress of the International Federation for Housing and Planning held in Belfast. The theme was Accommodating Differences. Differences were defined in broad terms and included ethnic and social, economic and political differences. However, Frederick W. Boal's own interest in ethnic differences motivated him to invite a number of Congress participants to make available their papers for inclusion in this book of essays. It seeks to offer experience that can be drawn on by housing practitioners who are operating in multi-ethnic contexts. It also provides empirical material that should contribute to the development of more soundly based theoretical insights in both urban sociology and social geography.

The Pitfalls of Liberal Democracy and Late Nationalism in South Africa M. Muiu, 2008-12-08 This book compares African and Afrikaner nationalisms to demonstrate that the transition from apartheid to liberal democracy in South Africa was a neo-colonial settlement that left the economy and the military and security sectors under the control of the white minority while increasing wide socioeconomic disparities between rich and poor.

State, Civil Society and Apartheid in South Africa T. Kuperus, 1999-04-07 An examination of the role played by civil society in the legitimisation of South Africa's apartheid regime and its racial policy. This book focuses on the interaction of dominant groups within the Dutch Reformed Church and the South African state over the development of race policy within the broader context of state-civil society relations. This allows a theoretical examination and typology of the variety of state civil society relations Additionally the particular case study demonstrates that civil society's existence in and authoritarian situations can deter the establishment of democracy when components of civil society identify themselves with exclusive ethnic interests

Alabama in Africa Andrew Zimmerman, 2012-05-27 This work recounts an expedition sent by Tuskegee Institute to transform the German colony of Togo West Africa into a cotton economy like the American South This book reveals a transnational politics of labour sexuality and race invisible to earlier national imperial and comparative historical perspectives

The Politics of Memory in Post-Authoritarian Transitions, Volume One Joanna Marszałek-Kawa, Joanna

Piechowiak-Lamparska, Anna Ratke-Majewska, 2017-01-06. History is a powerful tool in the hands of politicians and can be a destructive weapon since power over the past is the power to decide who is a hero and who is a traitor. Tradition, the memory of ancestors and the experience of previous generations are the keys that unlock the door to citizens' minds and allow certain ideas, visions and political programs to flourish. However, can history be a proper political weapon during democratisation processes when the past is clearly separated from the present? Are the new order and society founded on the basis of some interpretation of the past or rather are they founded only with reference to the imagined future of the nation? This book explores such questions through a detailed description of the use of remembrance policies during political transformations. It discusses how interpretations of the past served the accomplishment of transitional objectives in countries as varied as Chile Estonia Georgia Poland South Africa and Spain The book is a unique journey through different parts of the world different cultures and different political systems investigating how history was remembered and forgotten by certain democratic leaders Individual chapters discuss how governments remembrance policies were used to create a new citizen to change a political culture and to justify the vision of the society promoted by the new elites They explain why some difficult topics were avoided by politicians and why sometimes there was no transitional justice or punishment of the leaders of the authoritarian state The book will be of interest to anyone wishing to explore policies of remembrance democratisation and the role of memory in contemporary societies

International Human Rights Michael Haas, 2013-09-05 This book provides a comprehensive introduction to international human rights international human rights law why international human rights have increasingly risen to world prominence what is being done about violations of human rights and what might be done to further promote the cause of international human rights so that everyone may one day have their rights respected regardless of who they are or where they live It explains how the concept of international human rights has developed over time the variety of types of human rights civil political rights economic social rights as well as a delineation of war crimes empirical findings from statistical research on human rights institutional efforts to promote human rights an extensive listing of international human rights agreements identification of recent prosecutions of war criminals in domestic and international tribunals ongoing efforts to promote human rights through international aid programs the newest dimensions in the field of human rights gay rights animal rights environmental rights Richly illustrated throughout with case studies controversies court cases think points historical examples biographical statements and suggestions for further reading International Human Rights is the ideal introduction for all students of human rights The book will also be useful for human rights activists to learn how and where to file human rights complaints in order to bring violators to justice The new edition is fully updated and includes new material on the Obama presidency the Arab Spring and its aftermath the workings of the International Criminal Court quantitative analyses of human rights war crimes
