Feminism and Women's Writing Catherine Riley, 2018-02-09 Explores the transformative reign of the Catholic King James VII and the revolution that brought about his fall Greatness Engendered Alison Booth, 2018-03-15 The egotism that fuels the desire for greatness has been associated exclusively with men according to one feminist view yet many women cannot suppress the need to strive for greatness In this forceful and compelling book Alison Booth traces through the novels essays and other writings of George Eliot and Virginia Woolf radically conflicting attitudes on the part of each toward the possibility of feminine greatness Examining the achievements of Eliot and Woolf in their social contexts she provides a challenging model of feminist historical criticism Beginning Theory Peter Barry, 2002-09-07 In this second edition of Beginning Theory the variety of approaches theorists and technical language is lucidly and expertly unraveled and explained and allows readers to develop their own ideas once first principles have been grasped Expanded and updated from the original edition first published in 1995 Peter Barry has incorporated all of the recent developments in literary theory adding two new chapters covering the emergent Eco criticism and the re emerging Narratology Fair Exotics Rajani Sudan, 2013-06-15 Arguing that the major hallmarks of Romantic literature inwardness emphasis on subjectivity the individual authorship of selves and texts were forged during the Enlightenment Rajani Sudan traces the connections between literary sensibility and British encounters with those persons ideas and territories that lay uneasily beyond the national border The urge to colonize and discover embraced both an interest in foreign fair exotics and a deeply rooted sense of their otherness Fair Exotics develops a revisionist reading of the period of the British Enlightenment and Romanticism an age during which England was most aggressively building its empire By looking at canonical texts including Defoe's Robinson Crusoe Johnson's Dictionary De Quincey's Confessions of an English Opium Eater and Bronte's Villette Sudan shows how the imaginative subject is based on a sense of exoticism created by a pervasive fear of what is foreign Indeed as Sudan clarifies xenophobia is the underpinning not only of nationalism and imperialism but of Romantic subjectivity as well Revisionary Interventions Into the Americanist Canon Donald E. Pease, 1994-06-17 Throughout the era of the Cold War a consensus reigned as to what constituted the great works of American literature Yet as scholars have increasingly shown and as this volume unmistakably demonstrates that consensus was built upon the repression of the voices and historical contexts of subordinated social groups as well as literary works themselves works both outside and within the traditional canon This literature has become increasingly pronounced In the case of the French Caribbean the work of several writers Aime Cesaire Frantz Fanon Edouard Glissant and Patrick Chamoiseau for example has gained international recognition and has formed a vital part of more general debates on history culture language and identity in the post colonial world The majority of such writers however have been male and perhaps recalling the preference that France has always shown for the island have come in large part from Martinique Mapping a Tradition Francophone Women s Writing from Guadeloupe aims to explore a different side of francophone Caribbean writing through the examination of selected novels by Jacqueline Manicom Michele Lacrosil Maryse Conde Simone Schwarz Bart and Dany Bebel Gisler Placing the work of these writers in the context of that of their better known male counterparts this study argues that it has provided an important mode of intervention in and disruption of a literary tradition which has failed to address questions of sexual difference and has often excluded issues relating to French Caribbean women At the same time this study suggests that Guadeloupean women s writing of the last thirty years may be seen to constitute a tradition in itself replete with its own influences and inheritances At once within and outside the dominant tradition women s writing from Guadeloupe and Martinique has come to occupy a position at the forefront of contemporary efforts to expand and redefine a still burgeoning corpus of literary and theoretical work Still Crazy After All These Years Rachel Bowlby, 2003-09-02 One of feminism s most dynamic critics brings together psychoanalysis critical theory and cultural studies to look at how texts construct possibilities and limits for thinking what a woman is and where women might be going Identification Papers Diana Fuss, 2013-09-05 The notion of identification especially in the discourse of feminist theory has come sharply and dramatically into focus with the recent interest in such topics as queer performativity cross dressing and racial passing Identification Papers is the first book to track the evolution of identification s emergence in psychoanalytic theory Diana Fuss seeks to understand where this notion of identification has come from and why it has emerged as one of the most difficult problems in contemporary theory and politics Identification Papers situates the recent critical interest in identification in the intellectual tradition that first gave the idea its theoretical relevance psychoanalysis Fuss begins from the assumption that identification has a history and that the term carries with it a host of theoretical problems conceptual difficulties and ideological complications By tracking the evolution of identification in Freud s work over a forty year period Fuss demonstrates how the concept of identification is neither a theoretically neutral notion nor a politically innocent one Identification Papers closely examines the three principal figures gravity ingestion and infection that psychoanalysis invokes to theorize identification Fuss then deconstructs the psychoanalytic theory of identification in order to open up the possibility of more innovative rethinkings of the political Drawing on literature film and Freud s own case histories and engaging with a wide range of disciplines including critical theory philosophy film theory cultural studies psychoanalysis and feminism Identification Papers will be a necessary starting point in any future theoretical project that seeks to mobilize the concept of identification for a feminist politics Gothic: Eighteenth-century Gothic :
