Ancient Ghana was not the same as the modern nation of Ghana; instead, it was part of a larger network of African kingdoms that capitalized on the growing demand for gold and salt across the trans-Saharan

South Africa's Gold Mines & the Politics of Silicosis Jock McCulloch, 2012 Examines the silicosis crisis in the South African mining industry and reveals how the rate of often fatal tuberculosis among black migrant miners was hidden for over a century. South Africa's gold mines are the largest and historically among the most profitable in the world. Yet at what human cost? This book reveals how the mining industry abetted by a minority state hid a pandemic of silicosis for almost a century and allowed miners infected with tuberculosis to spread disease to rural communities in South Africa and to labour sending states. In the twentieth century South African mines twice faced a crisis over silicosis which put its workers at risk of contracting pulmonary tuberculosis, often fatal. The first crisis 1896-1912 saw the mining industry invest heavily in reducing dust and South Africa became renowned for its mine safety. The second began in 2000 with mounting scientific evidence that the disease rate among miners is more than a hundred times higher than officially acknowledged. The first crisis also focused upon disease among the minority white miners; the current crisis is about black migrant workers and is subject to major class actions for compensation. Jock McCulloch was a Legislative Research Specialist for the Australian parliament and has taught at various universities. His books include Asbestos Blues Southern Africa, South Africa, Namibia, Lesotho, Swaziland, Botswana, Jacana. TB Notes, 2004. Global Tuberculosis Report 2013 World Health Organization, 2013. This is the eighteenth global report on tuberculosis (TB) published by WHO in a series that started in 1997. It provides a comprehensive and up-to-date assessment of the TB epidemic and progress in implementing and financing TB prevention, care and control at global, regional and country levels using data reported by almost 200 countries that account for over 99% of the world's TB cases. Two years before the 2015 deadline for achievement of global TB targets, the 2013 report includes a special supplement that assesses progress towards the 2015 targets and the actions needed to accelerate towards or move beyond them. The report has 8 main chapters. The introductory chapter provides general background on TB as well as an explanation of global targets for TB control, the WHO's Stop TB Strategy that covers the period 2006-2015 and the development of a post-2015 global TB strategy. The remaining seven chapters cover the disease burden caused by TB, incidence, prevalence, mortality, TB case notifications and treatment outcomes, drug resistance, surveillance among TB patients and the programmatic response in detecting and providing treatment for multidrug-resistant TB, diagnostics and laboratory strengthening for TB, addressing the co-epidemics of TB and HIV, financing TB care and control and research and development for new TB diagnostics, drugs and vaccines The four annexes of the report include a thorough explanation of methods used to estimate the burden of disease caused by TB one page profiles for 22 high TB burden countries and tables of data on key indicators for all countries organized by WHO region Immuno-diagnosis of Active Tuberculosis Harriet Mayanja-Kizza,Pere-Joan Cardona,Novel N. This volume collects case studies on the lives of people living in post apartheid Johannesburg South Africa In doing so it considers how people manage respond to narrate and or silence their experiences of past and present violence multiple insecurities and precarity in contexts where these experiences take on an everyday continuous character Taking seriously how context shapes the meaning of violence the forms of response and the consequences thereof the contributing chapter authors use participatory and ethnographic techniques to understand people s everyday responses to the violence and insecurity they face in contemporary Johannesburg Each case study documents an example of a strategy of coping and healing and reflects on how this strategy shapes the theory and practice of violence prevention and response The case studies cover a diversity of groups of people in Johannesburg including migrants refugees homeless people sex workers and former soldiers from across the African continent Read together the case studies give us new insights into what it means for these residents to seek support to cope and to heal challenging the boundaries of what psychologists traditionally consider support mechanisms or interventions for those in distress They develop a notion of healing that sees it as a process and an outcome that is rooted in the world view of those who live in the city Alongside the people s sense of insecurity is an equally strong sense of optimism care and a striving for change It is perhaps not surprising then that this book deals very centrally with themes of the struggle for progress mobility geographic material and spiritual and a sense of possibility and change associated with Johannesburg Ultimately the volume argues that coping and healing is both a collective and individual achievement as well as an economic psychological and material phenomenon Overall this volume challenges the notion that people can and should seek support primarily from professional medicalized psychological services and rather demonstrates how the particular support needed is shaped by an understanding of the cause of precarity     Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications ,1990     Athenaeum and Literary Chronicle ,1853     Builder and Wood-worker ,1881
