

Feelings and Emotions

Read the passage below and answer the following questions.

Feelings and emotions are like the different colors of our hearts. They can make us feel happy, excited, sad, or even angry. Sometimes, our feelings can be really strong, and other times they can be more gentle. Our feelings help us understand ourselves and the people around us better. It's important to know and talk about our feelings because it helps us grow and have good relationships with others. By learning how to handle our feelings in a positive way, we can face challenges and be true to ourselves.

1) What are feelings and emotions?

2) How can feelings influence our actions?

3) Can you give an example of a strong feeling?

4) How can talking about our feelings help us?

and low cultural forms Unlocking Close Reading Linda Feaman,2014-06-17 Unlock complex informational text through close reading Use this book as a guide to teach close reading in a way that delves deeply into the text and aligns with the Common Core State Standards Each standards based lesson includes Complex informational text that is grade level appropriate text dependent questions designed to facilitate discussion and provide differentiation for all students Thought Capturers to help students organize their ideas for writing and constructed response prompts exemplars and rubrics By design these books are not printable from a reading device To request a PDF of the reproducible pages please contact customer service at 1 888 262 6135 102 Reading Response Lessons Kristin Noelle Wolfgang,2005-11-18 Using this classroom tested five step process your students will learn to dismantle even the most challenging comprehension questions and respond in clear sophisticated paragraphs Reading for Learning Maria Nikolajeva,2014-06-15 How does reading fiction affect young people How can they transfer fictional experience into real life Why do they care about fictional characters How does fiction enhance young people s sense of self hood Supported by cognitive psychology and brain research this ground breaking book is the first study of young readers cognitive and emotional engagement with fiction It explores how fiction stimulates perception attention imagination and other cognitive activity and opens radically new ways of thinking about literature for young readers Examining a wide range of texts for a young audience from picturebooks to young adult novels the combination of cognitive criticism and children s literature theory also offers significant insights for literary studies beyond the scope of children s fiction An important milestone in cognitive criticism the book provides convincing evidence that reading fiction is indispensable for young people s intellectual emotional and social maturation Literary Reading, Cognition and Emotion Michael Burke,2010-10-18 This theoretical and empirical study explores what happens in the minds of engaged readers when they read literature It considers the roles that the text the reading context cognition and emotion play and it argues for the importance of understanding the oceanic interaction that takes place between those inputs I Wear My Feelings Guided Reading 6-Pack ,2019-08-15 Reading Bernard Williams Daniel Callcut,2009 When Bernard Williams died in 2003 the Times newspaper hailed him as the greatest moral philosopher of his generation This collection of essays on Williams work is essential reading for anyone interested in Williams ethics and moral philosophy and philosophy in general Zhu Xi's Reading of the Analects Daniel K. Gardner,2003 This text explains the significance of Zhu Xi s interpretation of the Confucian tradition and of the genre of commentary in Eastern philosophy Building Reading Confidence in Adolescents Holly Johnson,Lauren Freedman,Karen F. Thomas,2007-12-13 The authors present a research based approach for building reading self efficacy and focus on four concepts necessary to learners literacy success confidence independence metacognition and stamina Reading Is My Window Megan Sweeney,2010-02-15 Drawing on extensive interviews with ninety four women prisoners Megan Sweeney examines how incarcerated women use available reading materials to come to terms with their pasts negotiate their present experiences and reach toward different futures

Foregrounding the voices of African American women Sweeney analyzes how prisoners read three popular genres narratives of victimization urban crime fiction and self help books She outlines the history of reading and education in U S prisons highlighting how the increasing dehumanization of prisoners has resulted in diminished prison libraries and restricted opportunities for reading Although penal officials have sometimes endorsed reading as a means to control prisoners Sweeney illuminates the resourceful ways in which prisoners educate and empower themselves through reading Given the scarcity of counseling and education in prisons women use books to make meaning from their experiences to gain guidance and support to experiment with new ways of being and to maintain connections with the world Storytelling for Sustainability in

Higher Education Petra Molthan-Hill, Heather Luna, Tony Wall, Helen Puntha, Denise Baden, 2020-03-25 To be a storyteller is an incredible position from which to influence hearts and minds and each one of us has the capacity to utilise storytelling for a sustainable future This book offers unique and powerful insights into how stories and storytelling can be utilised within higher education to support sustainability literacy Stories can shape our perspective of the world around us and how we interact with it and this is where storytelling becomes a useful tool for facilitating understanding of sustainability concepts which tend to be complex and multifaceted The craft of storytelling is as old as time and has influenced human experience throughout the ages The conscious use of storytelling in higher education is likewise not new although less prevalent in certain academic disciplines what this book offers is the opportunity to delve into the concept of storytelling as an educational tool regardless of and beyond the boundaries of subject area Written by academics and storytellers the book is based on the authors own experiences of using stories within teaching from a story of the Ecology of Law to the exploration of sustainability in accounting and finance via contemporary cinema Practical advice in each chapter ensures that ideas may be put into practice with ease In addition to examples from the classroom the book also explores wider uses of storytelling for communication and sense making and ways of assessing student storytelling work It also offers fascinating research insights for example in addressing the question of whether positive utopian stories relating to climate change will have a stronger impact on changing the behaviour of readers than will dystopian stories Everyone working as an educator should find some inspiration here for their own practice on using storytelling and stories to co design positive futures together with our students
