Readings On Black Children And Youth:

Readings on Black Children and Youth Lula A. Beatty, 1986 Readings on the Development of Children Mary Gauvain, Michael Cole, 2005 Streamlined and thoroughly updated this carefully selected collection of classic and contemporary articles is ideal for use as a supplement in undergraduate developmental psychology courses The collection features 37 primary sourced articles 21 of them new to the fourth edition Written by respected scholars in the field they constitute a representative survey of the prominent issues in the study of child development today Each reading is preceded by a headnote that provides a context for understanding and is followed by new discussion questions that encourage students to think more broadly about key concepts BOOK JACKET Handbook of Individual Differences in Reading Peter Afflerbach, 2015-08-11 The central unifying theme of this state of the art contribution to research on literacy is its rethinking and reconceptualization of individual differences in reading Previous research focused on cognitive components of reading signaled the need for ongoing work to identify relevant individual differences in reading to determine the relationships of individual differences to reading development and to account for interactions among individual differences Addressing developments in each of these areas this volume also describes affective individual differences and the environments in which individual differences in reading may emerge operate interact and change The scant comprehensive accounting of individual differences in reading is reflected in the nature of reading instruction programs today the outcomes that are expected from successful teaching and learning and the manner in which reading development is assessed An important contribution of this volume is to provide prima facie evidence of the benefits of broad conceptualization of the ways in which readers differ The Handbook of Individual Differences in Reading moves the field forward by encompassing cognitive non cognitive contextual and methodological concerns Its breadth of coverage serves as both a useful summary of the current state of knowledge and a guide for future work in this area The Educational Work of Women's Organizations, 1890-1960 A. Knupfer, C. Woyshner, 2008-03-18 This book explores women's organizations and their various educational contributions through local state and national networks from 1890 to 1960 Contributors investigate how women united to support and sustain education in both formal and informal settings and examine various associations Exploring Culturally Diverse Literature for Children and Adolescents Darwin L. Henderson, Jill P. May, 2005 This collection of original essays concentrates on the meaning of cultural aesthetics in children's and adolescent literature and uniquely tackles the particular issues teachers face today Discusses beginning literary patterns of a particular group stereotypic representations of American cultures imagery in American adolescent and children's literature and issues of literary inclusion Theory and practice come together throughout the three sections of the text Journal of African Children's & Youth Literature, 1994 Handbook of Reading Research Michael L. Kamil, 2000 In Volume III as in Volumes I and II the classic topics of reading are included from vocabulary and comprehension to reading instruction in the classroom and in addition each contributor was asked to include a brief history that chronicles the legacies within each of the volume's many topics. However, on the whole, Volume III is not about tradition. Rather, it explores the verges of reading research between the time Volume II was published in 1991 and the research conducted after this date. The editors identified two broad themes as representing the myriad of verges that have emerged since Volumes I and II were published: 1) broadening the definition of reading and 2) broadening the reading research program. The particulars of these new themes and topics are addressed.

Reading Children's Literature: A Critical Introduction - Second Edition Carrie Hintz, Eric L. Tribunella, 2019-03-28
Reading Children's Literature offers insights into the major discussions and debates currently animating the field of children's literature. Informed by recent scholarship and interest in cultural studies and critical theory, it is a compact core text that introduces students to the historical contexts, genres, and issues of children's literature. A beautifully designed and illustrated supplement to individual literary works assigned, it also provides apparatus that makes it a complete resource for working with children's literature during and after the course. The second edition includes a new chapter on children's literature and popular culture, including film, television, and merchandising, and has been updated throughout to reflect recent scholarship and new offerings in children's media.

The Unfinished Business of the Civil Rights Movement Frank Simpkins, 2014-02
The Unfinished Business of the Civil Rights Movement: Failure of America's Public Schools to Properly Educate its African American Student Populations by Frank Simpkins. The Unfinished Business of the Civil Rights Movement: Failure of America's Public Schools to Properly Educate its African American Student Population vividly describes the current crisis of America's inability to properly educate its African American students. Many of the details and cited statistics indicate alarming illiteracy rates and high dropout rates for disadvantaged Black and Latino students across the country. These rates stand in sharp contrast to those of their White peers, and the Black-White academic achievement gap continues to widen. The author mentions other problems that afflict the Black community, including the horrendous incarceration rates of young Black males, the shocking rates of Black abortions, and the precarious and implosive condition of the Black family in America. He contends that the core of these problems lies with America's failure to properly educate its Black students. These alarming figures are more than just statistics; they have widespread consequences upon American society. The author highlights a proven and scientifically tested dialect reading program that showed promising results for Black functionally illiterate inner-city students in grades 7-12. He urges that a Second Civil Rights movement is needed to gain equal quality educational opportunities for all of America's children. We cannot deny these rights to some children without disparaging all children and the nation. About the Author: Frank Simpkins co-authored the book Between the Rhetoric and Reality with his brother Gary Simpkins. He has served a number of years in the K-12 system and as Director of Educational Opportunities Programs and Services at Barstow Community College District.
