Reading In Bed Brian Doyle, 2017-12-20 If you love to read or write or both you'll appreciate Brian Doyle passionate observer of and commentator on all things written In this ultimate collection of his thoughts on writers and writing and readers and reading he covered everything from what the books people keep stashed in the cars or sitting on their bookshelves tell you about them to the pleasures of reading box scores or what's hung on refrigerator doors to the scent that books and newspapers give off as they age to literary genres of books about nature or travel or Portland or almost any subject you can name to in his humble opinion the great and not so great but still essential writers to why the essay is the coolest wildest literary form of all But don't believe us listen to him Think how many times in your own work you were typing along happily cursing and humming and suddenly you wrote something you didn't know you felt so powerfully and maybe you cried right there by the old typewriter and marveled not always happily at what dark thread your typing had pulled from the mysterious fabric of your heart Maybe that happens the most with essays This could be The Bitch is Back Sarah Appleton Aguiar, 2001 When she wrote The Robber Bride Margaret Atwood created a really villainous villain who happened to be a woman partly in reaction to the fact that in Western literature the most meaty wicked and therefore interesting parts always seemed to go to male characters Aguiar English Murray State U cites the beacon shone by Atwood in introducing her study which discusses the dawning in contemporary literature of the season of the bitch a re-evaluation and reclaiming of female toughness thorniness and just plain badness in which women characters are also portrayed as more complete possessed of motivations and strongly individual Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Censored Books Nicholas J. Karolides, Lee Burrell, John M. Kean, 2001 A collection of essays confronting the censorship issue including six authors views and defenses of individual books Readings for a History of Anthropological Theory Paul A. Erickson, Liam Donat Murphy, 2013-01-01 This comprehensive anthology offers over 40 readings that are critical to the understanding of anthropological theory and the development of anthropology as an academic discipline The fourth edition maintains a strong focus on the four field roots of the discipline in North America but has been reorganized with a new section on twenty first century theory including coverage of postcolonial and public anthropology New key terms and introductions accompany each reading and a revamped glossary makes the book more student friendly Used on its own or together with the overview text A History of Anthropological Theory Fourth Edition this anthology offers a flexible and unrivaled introduction to anthropological theory that reflects not only the history but also the changing nature of the discipline today For additional resources visit the Teaching Theory page at www.utpteachingculture.com Reading Writers Reading Danielle Schaub, 2006 I am a writer because I was a reader first Alison Gordon Nobody has ever written who never read Mavis Gallant Reading is a connection at once a way and a goal a liberating destiny Robert Kroetsch Over 160 Canadian writers in English and French write about their experiences of reading With striking photographs of each writer Reading Writers Reading offers a sublime voyage into the heart of literary creation Foreword by Russell Morton Brown Reading for Pleasure Kenny Pieper, 2016-12-01 In Reading for Pleasure Kenny Pieper has gathered a range of tried and tested strategies to get kids reading and enjoying it We hear too often that kids don't read any more Kenny thinks it should be every teacher's mission to prove this isn't true In a squeezed curriculum it can be tempting to accept pupils lack of reading and make excuses that there is not enough time to give to the luxury of personal reading Teachers do this at our peril Reading is the essential building block of further literacy development as well as a skill hobby and habit that we can take with us forever Kenny Pieper takes the act of reading for granted as many but sadly not all adults do You're reading this right now However this isn't the case for everyone Kenny teaches kids whose lives are terrifying obstacle courses of reading related problems They know they struggle with reading so they try to avoid reading at all costs They leave school not merely unaffected by this strange reading thing but saddled with a great deal of emotional baggage about being an outsider even more entrenched in a belief that reading is for others more intelligent than them Then there are the children who can read perfectly well but chose not to unconvinced of the importance of reading in their lives What difference does it make to them We have to answer that question in school We have a duty to put an end to illiteracy and aliteracy Kids need reading role models and as a teacher that role model is you You may be the only adult who that reluctant reader will ever see reading Teachers are critical in giving all children the gift of being able to read well and to value reading Topics covered include the author's personal reading journey how reading enabled him to become the first person in his family to go to university and convinced him that fostering a love of reading is his moral duty as an educator illiteracy and aliteracy reluctant readers book reviews prioritising personal reading by devoting ten minutes each lesson to it habitual reading the reading environment interest inventories technology e readers Accelerated Reader programmes recommended reading building a class library bookmarks book tweets book speed dating libraries librarians literacy and class inequality parental involvement podcasting reading records reading dialogue journals the rights of the reader reading aloud silent reading and literacy and gender amongst others The benefits we can all reap when kids become confident readers who read for pleasure are obvious Discover strategies which will get kids talking about books get them thinking about books get them reading books encourage independent reading develop literacy skills and establish a classroom culture where reading is expected and celebrated Suitable for primary and secondary teachers leaders and SENCOs or just anyone with an interest in or responsibility for getting kids to read

Humanity in Healthcare Peter Barritt,2017-11-22 The impressive progress of medical science over the nineteenth and twentieth centuries has tended to overshadow the art of caring for the patient and their families This book aims to restore the balance by examining practical ways in which the arts can help health professionals to understand the experience of suffering and illness Written by a family physician with 25 years experience Humanity in Healthcare offers a broad perspective on the potential contribution of the arts toward fostering a humane approach to the care of those who are ill or suffering It refers to a wide range of literature from prose and poetry sociology history philosophy politics religion and spirituality This book is an invaluable resource for all medical and healthcare professionals as well as students of the medical humanities

Reading Art Spiegelman Philip Smith,2015-12-07 The horror of the Holocaust lies not only in its brutality but in its scale and logistics it depended upon the machinery and logic of a rational industrialised and empirically organised modern society The central thesis of this book is that Art Spiegelman s comics all identify deeply rooted madness in post Enlightenment society Spiegelman maintains in other words that the Holocaust was not an aberration but an inevitable consequence of modernisation In service of this argument Smith offers a reading of Spiegelman s comics with a particular focus on his three main collections Breakdowns 1977 and 2008 Maus 1980 and 1991 and In the Shadow of No Towers 2004 He draws upon a taxonomy of terms from comic book scholarship attempts to theorize madness including literary portrayals of trauma and critical works on Holocaust literature method of literary and cultural interpretation and a new theory of narrative setting by examining five sites supermarkets dumps roads ruins and asylums that have been crucial to American literature and visual art since the mid twentieth century Against the traditional understanding of setting as a static background for narrative action and character development David Alworth argues that sites figure in novels as social agents Engaging a wide range of social and cultural theorists especially Bruno Latour and Erving Goffman Site Reading examines how the literary figuration of real material environments reorients our sense of social relations To read the sites of fiction Alworth demonstrates is to reveal literature as a profound sociological resource one that simultaneously models and theorizes collective life Each chapter identifies a particular site as a point of contact for writers and artists the supermarket for Don DeLillo and Andy Warhol the dump for William Burroughs and Mierle Laderman Ukeles the road for Jack Kerouac Joan Didion and John Chamberlain the ruin for Thomas Pynchon and Robert Smithson and the asylum for Ralph Ellison Gordon Parks and Jeff Wall and shows how this site mediates complex interactions among humans and nonhumans The result is an interdisciplinary study of American culture that brings together literature visual art and social theory to develop a new sociology of literature that emphasizes the sociology in literature
