Ready to Fire Richard B. Holmsten, 2010-06-28 Once North Korean forces crossed the 38th parallel in 1950 the lives of many Americans half the globe away were disrupted President Truman authorized a call up of enlisted inactive reservists like Richard B Holmsten an about to be married 20 year old with a bright future Replacements were needed for artillerymen killed during one disastrous day in August 1950 He was assigned to the Headquarters Battery of the 8th Field Artillery Battalion of the 25th Infantry Division This memoir begins with Holmsten s transition from civilian to newlywed soldier It covers training at Fort Lewis Washington state the voyage across the Pacific and the readying of a Fire Direction Control Center for 105 Howitzers near Kaesong It covers the early days of the conflict as the unit moved during the flux of battle the problems faced as the unit retreated south of Seoul and the efforts put forth as the unit struck north again The major campaign covered concerns the crossing of the Han River in March 1951 The crossing was a massive but fast operation and Holmsten s unit was responsible for firing 70 000 rounds of artillery against enemy forces The daily happenings hopes and fears of soldier life are explored including the often contentious relationship of enlisted reserve versus regular army It concludes with the author s rotation back to civilian life Photographs accompany the text Ready to Fire Richard B.

World Christianity, 1884-1965 William Yoo, 2016-10-04 This book examines the partnerships and power struggles between American missionaries and Korean Protestant leaders in both nations from the late 19th century to the aftermath of the Korean War Yoo analyzes American and Korean sources including a plethora of unpublished archival materials to uncover the complicated histories of cooperation and contestation behind the evolving relationships between Americans and Koreans at the same time the majority of the world Christian population shifted from the Global North to the Global South American and

Korean Protestants cultivated deep bonds with one another but they also clashed over essential matters of ecclesial authority cultural difference geopolitics and women s leadership This multifaceted approach incorporating the perspectives of missionaries migrants ministers diplomats and interracial couples casts new light on American and Korean Christianities and captures American and Korean Protestants mutually engaged in a global movement that helped give birth to new Christian traditions in Korea created new transnational religious and humanitarian partnerships such as the World Vision organization and transformed global Christian traditions ranging from Pentecostalism to Presbyterianism

Bracketing the Enemy John R. Walker, 2013-08-08 After the end of World War II General George Patton declared that artillery had won the war Yet howitzers did not achieve victory on their own Crucial to the success of these big guns were forward observers artillerymen on the front lines who directed the artillery fire Until now the vital role of forward observers in ground combat has received little scholarly attention In Bracketing the Enemy John R Walker remedies this oversight by offering the first full length history of forward observer teams during World War II As early as the U S Civil War artillery fire could reach as far as two miles but without an FO forward observer to report where the first shot had landed in relation to the target and to direct subsequent fire by outlining or bracketing the targeted range many of the advantages of longer range fire were wasted During World War II FOs accompanied infantrymen on the front lines Now for the first time gun crews could bring deadly accurate fire on enemy positions immediately as advancing riflemen encountered these enemy strongpoints According to Walker this transition from direct to indirect fire was one of the most important innovations to have occurred in ground combat in centuries Using the 37th Division in the Pacific Theater and the 87th in Europe as case studies Walker presents a vivid picture of the dangers involved in FO duty and shows how vitally important forward observers were to the success of ground operations in a variety of scenarios FO personnel not only performed a vital support function as artillerymen but often transcended their combat role by fighting as infantrymen sometimes even leading soldiers into battle And yet although forward observers lived fought and bled with the infantry they were ineligible to wear the Combat Infantryman s Badge awarded to the riflemen they supported Forward observers are thus among the unsung heroes of World War II Bracketing the Enemy signals a long overdue recognition of their distinguished service

Understanding the Korean War Arthur H. Mitchell, 2013-07-30 This is a study of the Korean War of 1950 1953 from the inside the nuts and bolts of armed conflict The perspective is American with the principal focus on the relationships of the people involved North and South Koreans the Chinese and Soviets and how the U S and its allies engaged with them all The lives of ordinary soldiers are examined U S forces with attention paid to the other side as well The book examines such important aspects of military operations as supplies equipment and weapons tactics and strategy intelligence and psychological warfare as well as the effective elimination of racial segregation in the U S military Also studied is the vexing matter of prisoners of war on both sides Finally there is an effort to fit Korea into the generalities of American military experience in Asia from the war with Japan to Vietnam

The War for Korea, 1950-1951 Allan R. Millett, 2021-09-07 In The War for Korea 1945 1950 A House Burning one of our most distinguished military historians argued that the conflict on the Korean peninsula in the middle of the twentieth century was first and foremost a war between Koreans that began in 1948 In the second volume of a monumental trilogy Allan R Millett now shifts his focus to the twelve month period from North Korea's invasion of South Korea on June 25 1950 through the end of June 1951 the most active phase of the internationalized Korean War Moving deftly between the battlefield and the halls of power Millett weaves together military operations and tactics without losing sight of Cold War geopolitics strategy and civil military relations Filled with new insights on the conflict his book is the first to give combined arms its due looking at the contributions and challenges of integrating naval and air power with the ground forces of United Nations Command and showing the importance of Korean support services He also provides the most complete and sympathetic account of the role of South Korea's armed forces drawing heavily on ROK and Korea Military Advisory Group sources Millett integrates non American perspectives into the narrative especially those of Mao Zedong Chinese military commander Peng Dehuai Josef Stalin Kim Il sung and Syngman Rhee And he portrays Walton Walker and Matthew Ridgway as the heroes of Korea both of whom had a more profound understanding of the situation than Douglas MacArthur whose greatest flaw was not his politics but his strategic and operational incompetence Researched in South Korean Chinese and Soviet as well as American and UN sources Millett has exploited previously ignored or neglected oral history collections including interviews with American and South Korean officers and has made extensive use of reports based on interrogations of North Korean and Chinese POWs The end result is masterful work that provides both a gripping narrative and a greater understanding of this key conflict in international and American history
