Hanson, 1984-12-06      Anthologisation and Irish Short Fiction Paul Delaney, 2025-03-28 This original new study explores the recent flowering of short fiction in Ireland analysing the production dissemination and reception of the short form in the twenty first century and reading contemporary short stories in their many configurations and guises This volume covers twenty five years of Irish writing beginning in late 1997 with the establishment of the innovative literary periodical The Stinging Fly and concludes in 2022 The book is structured in five parts with each part focusing on a particular mode of publication periodicals single author volumes short story cycles edited anthologies and small or independent presses Each part includes a series of case studies while also engaging with a diverse range of short story criticism and theory both comparative and Irish centered Anthologisation and Irish Short Fiction brings different writers at distinct stages of their careers into conversation and This volume aims to illuminate the contemporaneous value of this body of work its innovative and varied use and the diversity of its practice Particular attention is also shown to the fluidity of the short form to its capacity to disrupt and arrest and to its progressive writerly potential

Short Stories, Knowledge and the Supernatural Amândio Reis, 2022-07-11 This book proposes a comparative approach to the supernatural short stories of Machado de Assis Henry James and Guy de Maupassant It offers an alternative to predominantly novel centric and Anglo centric perspectives on literary pre modernism by investigating a transnational and multilingual connection between genre theme and theory i e between the modern short story the supernatural and the problem of knowledge Incorporating a close analysis of the literary texts into a discussion of their historical context the book argues that Machado James and Maupassant explore and reinvent the supernatural short story as a metafictional genre This modernized and innovative form allows them to challenge the dichotomies and conventions of realist and supernatural fiction inviting their past and present readers to question common assumptions on reality and literary representation
