Regional Partners In Global Markets Limits And Possibilities Of The Euromed Agreements:

Regional Partners in Global Markets Ahmed Galal, Bernard Hoekman, 1997 Development Centre Seminars Towards Arab and Euro-Med Regional Integration OECD, Economic Research Forum for the Arab Countries, Iran and Turkey, 2001-12-05 This book examines the dynamics of open regionalism the expansion of domestic markets from increased FDI and monetary stability and the optimal mix of regional trade agreements Impact of European Union Association Agreements on Mediterranean Countries Mr. Henri C. Ghesquière, 1998-08-01 By establishing free trade for industrial products in 12 years the European Union's Association Agreements with countries in the Mediterranean region seek to promote accelerated economic growth This paper reviews the literature and evaluates the economic benefits and costs for Tunisia Morocco Lebanon Egypt and Jordan It concludes that the benefits could be substantial but only if accompanied by deep supplementary reforms including extending trade liberalization to services and agriculture and on a multilateral basis improving the environment for foreign direct investment ensuring an adequate fiscal and exchange rate policy response and strengthening European Union assistance Perspectives on Development: the Euro-Mediterranean Partnership George Joffe, 2003-05-09 The Euro Mediterranean Partnership Initiative launched by the Barcelona Conference in 1995 is the most ambitious project to date directed at comprehensive prosperity and security in the Mediterranean region Yet the assumptions on which it is based are untried and untested This study seeks to analyse what they are and to draw some conclusions as to the potential of the Initiative for success by comparing it with other experiences of regional development Development Centre Studies Regional Integration and Internal Reforms in the Mediterranean Area Dessus Sébastien, Suwa Akiko, 2000-07-21 The authors of this study highlight the opportunities trade liberalisation agreements offer for supporting reforms to encourage industrial restructuring through financial transfers providing incentives for producers to diversify and securing new markets Catching Up with the Competition Bernard M. Hoekman, Jamel Zarrouk, 2010-05-18 At a time when countries in the Middle East and North Africa MENA are joining the World Trade Organization the lack of an economically sound analysis of trade policies in the region is especially notable This volume remedies the situation by bringing together a distinguished group of applied trade economists to provide a broad view of the state of trade in and among the region's nations The contributors provide original empirical analyses on key reform issues and their work reflects deep knowledge of government concerns and policies Part 1 sets the scene by comparing the performance of the MENA region with the rest of the world on a large number variables and indicators Part 2 contains a number of CGE model based analyses of trade policy reform options Part 3 focuses on specific policy areas standards as nontariff barriers and red tape trade facilitation an assessment of the impact of protecting intellectual property using partial equilibrium techniques and a review of the existing Euro Med agreements Part 4 discusses how the region could benefit from WTO membership and from changing the existing regional integration schemes into arrangements that help promote a growth enhancing reform agenda

The volume will be essential reading for economists and policymakers working in and with the MENA nations as well as officials at the multilateral and regional institutions Contributors are A Halis Akder Benita Cox Dean De Rosa Hana a Kheir El Din Sherine El Ghoneim Oleh Havrylyshyn Bernard Hoekman Denise Konan Peter Kunzel Will Martin Keith Maskus Mustapha Nabli Thomas Rutherford Elisabet Rutstrom David Tarr Subidey Togan L Alan Winters Alexander Yeats and Jamel Zarrouk Bernard Hoekman is an Economist with the Development Research Group s Trade team of the World Bank Jamel Zarrouk is an Economist with the Arab Monetary Fund

The External Economic Dimension of the European Union Gerrit Faber, Pitou van Dijck, 2021-11-22 The External Economic Dimensions of the European Union focuses on the broad range of recent initiatives taken by the EU to reinforce its common external economic policy in a rapidly changing environment The prospects of the EU are increasingly interrelated with the dynamics of the world economy In the multipolar post Cold War economy the EU faces many uncertainties and new challenges The transatlantic link still dominates the EU s external relations but the cohesion of the Euro American relationship has been tested severely Moreover the transition of Central and Eastern Europe and the rise of new growth poles in Asia and Latin America have not only creates new opportunities for trade and investment but intensified international competition at the same time The volume is organised in two parts Part I focuses on the competitiveness of the EU and its position in the world economy as well as on specific aspects of its external economic policies including the restructuring of the Common Agricultural Policy and the enlargement of the EU membership Part II is exclusively devoted to the regional dimension of the external policy of the EU and focuses on the rapidly evolving relationship with the other Triad powers the USA and Japan the neighbouring countries and the emerging markets The book brings together a range of distinguished authors who analyse the wide range of initiatives from the perspective of economics political science and law It is a timely and essential work that will reward the attention of policymakers and interested academics throughout the world

The European Union's Mediterranean Policy: Model or Muddle? K.

Knio, 2013-11-15 By analysing case studies through the lens of new constructivist Institutional perspective this book sheds new light on the failure of EU policies in the Mediterranean It suggests that these failures are the result of problems at the very heart of EU policy making which clearly privilege economic concerns over social concerns

Multilateralism and Regionalism in the Post-Uruguay Round Era Olga Memedovic, A. Kuyvenhoven, Willem T.M. Molle, 2012-12-06 The Post Uruguay Round era has seen a proliferation of regional preferential trade agreements PTAs as well as progressive multilateral trade liberalization initiatives This has stimulated theoretical discussion on whether the policy of pursuing PTAs will have a malign or a benign impact on multilateralism In the former case proliferation of PTAs may increase protection in global trade due to trade diversion effects thereby creating impediments to multilateral freeing of global trade In the latter case the expansion of PTA membership could ultimately lead to non discriminatory global free trade At the core of this discussion is the question of how to explain the preference for PTA membership While some economists view the expansion of PTA membership as exogenously determined participants of the Fourth Annual Workshop of the Network EU LDC Trade and Capital Relations also considered endogenous factors explaining increased PTA membership This book offers a closer look at the motives of policy makers in both developed and developing countries to still adhere to PTAs notwithstanding the theoretical superiority of multilateralism and addresses the question of how to bring order into the world trading system These issues are dealt with in 9 chapters by scholars from both the EU and LDCs Each paper is discussed in terms of its policy relevance by a policy maker as well as by an academic specialized in the field

Economic and Trade Policies in the Arab World Mahmoud A. T. Elkhafif, Sahar Taghdisi-Rad, Mutasim Elagraa, 2012 This book explores the link between trade policy making employment generation and poverty reduction in Arab countries It argues that because of recent high population growth and the emergence of an often highly educated youth population bulge employment generation ought to be a prime aim of economic and trade policy in Arab countries

The Convergence of Civilizations Emanuel Adler, Federica Bicchì, Beverly Crawford, Raffaella Del Sarto, 2006-12-15 Recent efforts by the United States and its allies to promote democracy security and stability in the Middle East owe much to the Euro Mediterranean Partnership EMP also known as the Barcelona Process an important region building plan in the Mediterranean region since 1995 The Convergence of Civilizations represents the output of an innovative and much needed collaborative project focused on the EMP Editors Emanuel Adler Beverly Crawford Federica Bicchì and Raffaella A Del Sarto have set out to show that regional security and stability may be achieved through a cultural approach based on the concept of regional identity construction and aim to take stock of the EMP in relation to this goal The contributors to this collection focus on the obstacles Mediterranean region construction faces due to post 9 11 regional and global events the difficulties of the Israeli Palestinian peace process tensions between the EU and the US over Iraq and the expected consequences of EU enlargement They also seek to bring the EMP and region making practices to the attention of American scholars in order to promote a more fertile academic exchange Ultimately the contributors demonstrate that the EMP and related region making practices while failing so far to promote the development of a Mediterranean regional identity and to achieve regional stability suggest nonetheless a viable model for regional partnership and cooperation and thus for preventing a clash of civilizations in the long haul The Convergence of Civilizations will be an important tool for meeting the current global challenges being faced by nation states as well as those in the future

Challenges and Reforms of Economic Regulation in MENA Countries Imed Limam, 2003 Focuses on the challenges faced by MENA economies to improve their competitiveness in the world economy

Sustainable Development and Adjustment in the Mediterranean Countries Following the EU Enlargement Franco Praussello, 2006

Trade Liberalization and Poverty in the Middle East and North Africa Nicholas Minot, 2009 Agricultural trade liberalization has been resisted by many developing country policymakers including those in the Middle East and North Africa for fear it could hurt domestic farmers and exacerbate poverty The authors of Trade Liberalization and Poverty in the Middle East and

North Africa argue however that this concern about liberalization might be misplaced Drawing on case studies from Egypt Morocco Syria and Tunisia the study uses household survey data and computable general equilibrium models to simulate the effects of various liberalization scenarios on different types of households in these countries especially poor households The results indicate that agricultural trade barriers are not an effective means of protecting the poor and that the benefits from many forms of agricultural trade liberalization to the region s consumers outweigh the costs to producers If complemented with other domestic programs including agricultural research and extension information services disease control and social safety nets the reforms have the potential to reduce poverty in these nations The study findings are a valuable resource for policymakers and development specialists evaluating the role trade liberalization can play in economic development and poverty reduction

Breaking the Barriers to Higher Economic Growth Mustapha Kamel Nabli, 2007-01-01 The world s attention to the countries of the Middle East and North Africa MENA region has often been dominated by headline issues conflict sanctions political turmoil and rising oil prices Little of this international attention has considered the broad range of development challenges facing this diverse group of countries Breaking the Barriers reflects the collected thinking of the World Bank s Office of the Chief Economist for the MENA Region on the long term development challenges facing the region and the reform priorities and strategies for effectively meeting these challenges It
