legal structure of GATT and the WTO as well as those agreements which control trade in textiles One of the GATT's major failures was its inability to come into line with the new economic reality and the needs of those states who created this system for controlling international trade Trade in textiles was an excellent example of this Now the WTO aims to overcome this problem thanks to its greater pragmatism and its search for solutions to free trade difficulties The WTO is not however the perfect solution Its highly political character allows room for improvement even though the key to its success still lies with the effective cooperation of member states As for the textile sector this new panorama for trade in goods provides it with a new opportunity to finally return to the general legal framework in the year 2005

Optimal Regulation and the Law of International Trade Boris Rigod, 2015-11-13 Are the limitations imposed on World Trade Organization WTO members right to regulate efficient This is a question that is only scarcely if ever analysed in existing literature Boris Rigod aims to provide an answer to this fundamental concern Using the tools of economic analysis and in particular the concept of economic efficiency as a benchmark the author states that domestic regulatory measures should only be subject to scrutiny by WTO bodies when they cause negative international externalities through terms of trade manipulations He then suggests that WTO law applied by the WTO judiciary can prevent WTO members from attaining optimal levels of regulation By applying a law and economics methodology Rigod provides an innovative solution to the
