Reimagining The Nation State:

Reimagining the Nation Marjorie Ringrose, Adam J. Lerner, 1993 Capturing a wide spectrum of current thought on the construction of nationhood and national identity this work explores new ways of thinking about the concept of the nation and suggests possible ways of resisting its totalizing effects

Reimagining the Nation-state, 1997 Kropotkin and the Anarchist Intellectual Tradition Jim Mac Laughlin, 2016-02-20 Peter Kropotkin's philosophy of anarchism suffers from neglect in mainstream histories misrepresented as a utopian creed or a recipe for social chaos and political disorder the intellectual strengths and philosophical integrity is overlooked Moving beyond most previous accounts of Kropotkin's anarchism Mac Laughlin focuses less on the man and his political career instead providing a sustained and critical reading of his extensive writings on the social historical and scientific basis of modern anarchism The result is a thorough examination of a number of key themes in Kropotkin's philosophy of anarchism including his concerted efforts to provide anarchism with an historical and scientific basis the role of mutualism and mutual aid in social evolution and natural history the ethics of anarchism and the anarchist critique of state centred nationalism and other expressions of power politics

Mussolini's National Project in Argentina David Aliano, 2012-08-31 During the 1920s and 1930s Mussolini's fascist regime attempted to promote fascist Italy's national project in Argentina bombarding the republic with its propaganda Although politically a failure this propaganda provoked a debate over the idea of a national identity outside the nation state and the potential roles that citizens living abroad could play in their country of origin In propagating an Italian national identity within another sovereign state Mussolini's initiative also inspired heated debate among native Argentines over their own national project as a nation of immigrants Using the experiences of Mussolini's efforts in Argentina as its case study this book demonstrates how national projects take on different meanings once they enter a contested public space It details how both members of the Italian community as well as native Argentines reshaped Italy's national discourse from abroad by entangling it with Argentina's own national project In exploring the way in which nations are imagined constructed and recast both from above as well as from below Mussolini's National Project in Argentina offers new perspectives on the politics of identity formation while providing a transatlantic example of the dynamic interplay between the Italian state and its emigrant communities It is in short a transnational perspective on what it means to belong to a nation

Postcoloniality and Statehood Priyanka Chandra, 2025-09-12 This book traces the evolution of the postcolonial state and the social contract in Egypt It problematises two of the most ubiquitous and contentious terms democratisation and development within the context of Egypt and the larger Global South It also subverts western centric ideas of global politics to examine why certain aspects of Egypt's history and policies have received more attention than others This volume presents a study of state society relations the shift to Infitah the impact of neoliberalisation from 1970 to 2011 and social responses to it It argues that the Arab Uprisings of 2011 were not isolated events but a result of a longue dur e political economic history Through the prism of postcoloniality it shows how citizenship is constantly renegotiated in view of the ongoing neoliberalisation and the impact of such social transformations on the nature of the postcolonial state. It juxtaposes the role of the state and society against global political and economic landscapes to address the larger question: what is the nature of the postcolonial state? This book will be of interest to a wide array of scholars and researchers from politics and international relations, sociology and social anthropology, social theory, political theory, postcolonialism and Global South studies. Language and Minority Rights Stephen May, 2013-06-17. This book assesses competing modes of nation building and nationalism through a critical reappraisal of the works of key theorists such as Benedict Anderson and Eric Hobsbawm. Exploring the processes of nation building from a variety of ethnic and social class contexts, it focuses on the contested terrain within which nationalist ideologies are often rooted. Mac Laughlin offers a theoretical and empirical analysis of nation building, taking as a case study the historical connections between Ireland and Great Britain in the clash between big nation historic British nationalism on the one hand and minority Irish nationalism on the other. Locating the origins of the historic nation in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, Mac Laughlin emphasises the difficulties and specificity of minority nationalism in the nineteenth century. In so doing, he calls for a place-centred approach which recognises the symbolic and socio-economic significance of territory to the different scales of nation building. Exploring the evolution of Irish Nationalism, Reimagining the Nation State also shows how minority nations can challenge the hegemony of dominant states and threaten the territorial integrity of historic nations. Nationbuilding, Gender and War Crimes in South Asia Bina D'Costa, 2012-07-26. This book gives a detailed political analysis of nationbuilding processes and how these are closely linked to statebuilding and to issues of war crime, gender and sexuality and marginalization of minority groups. With a focus on the Indian subcontinent, the author demonstrates how the state itself is involved in the construction of a gendered identity and how control of women and their sexuality is central to the nationbuilding project. She applies a critical feminist approach to two major conflicts in the Indian subcontinent: the Partition of India in 1947 and the Liberation War of Bangladesh in 1971, and offers suggestions for addressing historical injustices and war crimes in the context of modern Bangladesh. Addressing how the social and political elites were able to construct and legitimize a history of the state that ignored these issues, the author suggests a critical re-examination of the national narrative of the creation of Bangladesh, which takes into account the rise of Islamic rights and their alleged involvement in war crimes. Looking at the impact that notions of nation state and nationalism have on women from a critical feminist perspective, the book will be an important addition to the literature on gender studies, international relations and South Asian politics. Global Ireland Tom Inglis, 2007-10-18. Global Ireland offers a concise synthesis of globalization's dramatic impact on Ireland. Reflecting 9/11 Heather Pope, Victoria Bryan, 2016-06-22 In over fifteen years the cultural and artistic response to 9 11 has been wide ranging in form and function As the turbulent post 9 11 years have unfolded years that have been shaped and characterized by the War on Terror the Patriot Act the Wars in Afghanistan and Iraq 7 7 Abu Ghraib and Guant namo Bay these texts have been commemorative and heroic have attempted to work through collective and individual traumas and have struggled with trying to represent the terrorist other Many of these earlier domestic heroic and traumatic works have so often been read as limitations in narrative This collection however challenges the language of limitation and provides re readings of earlier work but also traces the emergence of a new paradigm for discussing the artistic responses to 9 11 one that frames these narratives as dialogic self conscious and self reflexive interventions in the responses to the attacks the initial representations of the attacks and the ever shifting social and geopolitical continuities of the 9 11 decade These texts widen the conversation about the lasting impacts of 9 11 and incorporate strands of discussion on American exceptionalism and imperialism torture and otherness whilst still remaining invested in the personal and collective traumas of the attacks The authors included here ask crucial questions about the way 9 11 is being historicized will it for example be read as a moment of rupture or epoch Will it inevitably be attached to the War on Terror or the Wars in Iraq and Afghanistan As they trace the emergent patterns of reflexivity politicization and dissent the contributions here are also implicitly invested in asking how far they extend

Riverscapes and National Identities Tricia Cusack,2010-03-02 Painted riverscapes such as Claude Monet s impressions of the Seine Isaak Levitan s Volga views or Thomas Cole s Hudson scenery became iconic not least because they embodied nationalist ideas about place and about culture At a time when nationalism was taking root across Europe and the United States the riverscape played an important role in transforming the abstract idea of the nation into a potent visual image It not only offered a picture of the nation s physical character but through aspects such as style the figures portrayed and the nature of the implied spectator it presented a cultural ideal In this highly original book Tricia Cusack explores significance of painted riverscapes to the creation of national identities in nineteenth and early twentieth century Europe and America Focusing on five rivers the Hudson the Volga the Seine the Thames and the Shannon the author outlines the history of the development of national landscapes elaborating on the distinctive nature of riverscapes Drawing on the symbolic potential of rivers to represent life and time the riverscape provided a metaphor for the mythic stream of national history flowing unimpeded out of the past and into the future
