Inside the bulb, a human brain is depicted, surrounded by several concentric, glowing white circles that suggest a ripple effect or a burst of inspiration. Reinspiring the Corporation Mark C. Scott, 2000-05-18 Job Spec Construction of Cathedral in Chartres North West France Dimensions 34m high 130m long Materials 500 000 tonnes of limestone 176 stained glass windows Style Gothic Time Frame 30 years Confronted with this project would you screw it up and bin it Probably Why Because the task is too enormous Because the goal is too hard to achieve Because you could not get the people in your organization to buy into the idea But wouldn't it be fabulous if you could achieve this or its equivalent in your place of business How then could the construction of Chartres cathedral be achieved Individuals working on a largely voluntary basis hauled and hammered stone strained on pulleys and mixed mortar to craft this monumental building What drove them A vision the fulfilment of something in which they all consummately believed something that validated the unrewarded toil something they believed in fully They call it Faith What this achievement confirms is what is possible if people believe strongly enough in what they are doing If the human soul buys into an idea with a passion with total commitment the bounds of what we are collectively capable are quite simply astounding What would it be like for a company if fifty thousand souls were as single mindedly driven to do what they did at Chartres What would AT T look like IBM ABB Your company This book argues that it is possible for the corporation to inspire and harness comparable committed co-ordinated energy The process is called Reinspiration Apply it within your corporation and reap the benefits

Cooperatives and Local Development Christopher D. Merrett, Norman Walzer, 2016-09-16 First Published in 2004 The market economy has changed profoundly over the past two centuries In the nineteenth century business enterprises were largely single product ventures managed directly by the owners and rooted within national economies In the twentieth century firms employed managers who were not owners Firms also evolved into multiproduct multiunit entities that could employ thousands of workers In the twenty first century many firms operate on a global scale taking advantage of free trade policies and rapidly evolving computer and telecommunications technologies Given this potential it is crucial that producers consumers economic developers and researchers realize how co ops can promote local economic and community development Hence this book includes the perceptions of experts on a variety of cooperative issues including the challenges involved in starting a co op and in understanding its impact on surrounding communities This book can be especially useful because it provides the theoretical foundations and practical applications of cooperative behavior Marketing - The Retro Revolution Stephen Brown, 2001-06-07 the finest writer in our field today Journal of Marketing the great heretic Retrospectives in Marketing the most devastating critic of the academic discipline of marketing ever likely to be encountered Service Industries Journal a jewel in the crown of the academic marketing establishment Marketing Intelligence and Planning remarkably entertaining Public Library Journal dazzling erudition European Journal of Marketing instant classic Journal of Marketing Management Has marketing moved from new and improved to as good as always Is old the new new Retro marketing is all around us whether it be retro products like the neo Beetle retro scapes such as Niketown or retro advertising campaigns which make the most of the advertiser s glorious heritage The rise of retro has led many to conclude that it represents the end of marketing that it is indicative of inertia ossification and the waning of creativity Marketing The Retro Revolution explains why the opposite is the case demonstrating that retro orientation is a harbinger of change and a revolution in marketing thinking In his engaging and lively style Stephen Brown shows that the implications of today s retro revolution are much more profound than the existing literature suggests He argues that just as retro marketing practitioners are looking to the past for inspiration so students consultants and academics should seek to do likewise History reveals that new ideas often come wrapped in old packaging Marketing the Retro Revolution unwraps this retro package and in doing so offers radically new ideas for the future of the field Long Range Planning Strategic Planning Society, 2000 People Management , 2000 Heartland Mark C. Scott, 2001-06-22 The need for companies to differentiate has never been greater and the ideas for how to do so never in shorter supply The need for a new model to take firms to the next stage of evolution is acute This book proposes a new model that can transform the national firm into a global powerhouse Books In Print 2004-2005 Ed Bowker Staff, Staff Bowker, Ed, 2004 Interfaces , 2001 Traditionelle, innovative und revolutionierende

Good to Great Jim Collins, 2001-10-16 The Challenge Built to Last the defining management study of the nineties showed how great companies triumph over time and how long term sustained performance can be engineered into the DNA of an enterprise from the very beginning But what about the company that is not born with great DNA How can good companies mediocre companies even bad companies achieve enduring greatness The Study For years this question preyed on the mind of Jim Collins Are there companies that defy gravity and convert long term mediocrity or worse into long term superiority And if so what are the universal distinguishing characteristics that cause a company to go from good to great The Standards Using tough benchmarks Collins and his research team identified a set of elite companies that made the leap to great results and sustained those results for at least fifteen years How great After the leap the good to great companies generated cumulative stock returns that beat the general stock market by an average of seven times in fifteen years better than twice the results delivered by a composite index of the world s greatest companies including Coca Cola Intel General Electric and Merck The Comparisons The research team contrasted the good to great companies with a carefully selected set of comparison companies that failed to make the leap from good to great What was different Why did one set of companies become truly great performers while the other set remained only good Over five years the team analyzed the histories of all twenty eight companies in the study After sifting through mountains of data and thousands of pages of interviews Collins and his crew discovered the key determinants of greatness why some companies make the leap and others don t The Findings The findings of the Good to Great study will surprise many readers and shed light on virtually every area of management strategy and practice The findings include Level 5 Leaders The research team was shocked to discover the type of leadership required to achieve greatness The Hedgehog Concept Simplicity within the Three Circles To go from good to great requires transcending the curse of competence A Culture of Discipline When you combine a culture of discipline with an ethic of entrepreneurship you get the magical alchemy of great results Technology Accelerators Good to great companies think differently about the role of technology The Flywheel and the Doom Loop Those who launch radical change programs and wrenching restructurings will almost certainly fail to make the leap Some of the key concepts discerned in the study comments Jim Collins fly in the face of our modern business culture and will quite frankly upset some people Perhaps but who can afford to ignore these findings
