Snapshots of Evolving Traditions

Liv Ingeborg Lied, Hugo Lundhaug, 2017-01-23 Scholars of early Christian and Jewish literature have for many years focused on interpreting texts in their hypothetical original forms and contexts while largely overlooking important aspects of the surviving manuscript evidence and the culture that produced it This volume of essays seeks to remedy this situation by focusing on the material aspects of the manuscripts themselves and the fluidity of textual transmission in a manuscript culture With an emphasis on method and looking at texts as they have been used and transmitted in manuscripts this book discusses how we may deal with textual evidence that can often be described as mere snapshots of fluid textual traditions that have been intentionally adapted to fit ever shifting contexts The emphasis of the book is on the contexts and interests of users and producers of texts as they appear in our surviving manuscripts rather than on original authors and their intentions and the essays provide both important correctives to former textual interpretations as well as new insights into the societies and individuals that copied and read the texts in the manuscripts that have actually been preserved to us

Oscar Wilde's

Collaborative Translation Anthony Cordingley, Céline Frigau Manning, 2016-12-15 For centuries the art of translation has been misconstrued as a solitary affair Yet from Antiquity to the Middle Ages groups of translators comprised of specialists of different languages formed in order to transport texts from one language and culture to another Collaborative Translation uncovers the collaborative practices occluded in Renaissance theorizing of translation to which our individualist notions of translation are indebted Leading translation scholars as well as professional translators have been invited here to detail their experiences of collaborative translation as well as the fruits of their research into this neglected form of translation This volume offers in depth analysis of rich sometimes explosive relationships between authors and their translators Their negotiations of cooperation and control assistance and interference are shown here to shape the translation of prominent modern authors such as Günter Grass Vladimir Nabokov and Haruki Murakami The advent of printing the cultural institutions and the legal and political environment that regulate the production of translated texts have each formalized many of the inherently social and communicative practices of translation Yet this publishing regime has been profoundly disrupted by the technologies that are currently revolutionizing collaborative translation techniques This volume details the impact that this technological and environmental evolution is having upon the translator proliferating sites and communities of collaboration transforming traditional relationships with authors and editors revisers stage directors actors and readers

Heroizability Ibrahim Taha, 2015-07-01 It is commonly believed that some approaches of structural semiotics narratology and cognitive science have not yet succeeded in constructing a complete and coherent theory of literary character The author argues that the primary explanation of the failure is the artificial separation between characters and their actions One of the chief implications of such separation is treating characters in terms of structures agents actants functions roles and signs which obviously mean that actions can hardly be explained as intended motivated performed and experienced Survival as a motivation based concept is one of the key concepts making the separation between character and action something impossible Humans in literary narratives search for survival as an aware process of knowing and meaning making Meaning in literary narratives can be produced by heroizability which treats literary characters as living anthroposemiotic entities aware of their natural motivation to achieve in order to survive and produce meanings of their survival As such characters in literary narratives have active cognitions and their cognitive activities remain meaningless without a process of semiosis Applying Anthroposemiotic theory with Modeling System Theory heroizability provides methodical tools to explain how the narrative text is represented and thus how it is to be interpreted properly by the reader not only to find but also to make meaning in narrative world Using Documents Gerald Hartung, Frederik Schlupkothen, Karl-Heinrich Schmidt, 2022-09-20 Using Documents presents an interdisciplinary discussion of human communication by means of documents e g letters Cultural scientists together with researchers from media science and media engineering analyze questions of document modeling including a document s contexts of use on the basis of cultural theory The research also concerns the debate on the material turn in the fields of cultural studies and media studies Looking back on existing work texts on written communication by the philosopher and sociologist Georg Simmel and by an interdisciplinary French group of authors under the pseudonym Roger T P dauque are taken as a starting point and presented afresh A look ahead to the future is also attempted Whereas the modeling including technical modeling of documents has to date largely been limited to the description of output forms and specific content the foundations are laid here for including documents contexts of use in models that are grounded in cultural theory Key Concepts in Literary Theory Julian Wolfreys, Ruth Robbins, Kenneth Womack, 2016-04-15 This book provides students with lucid and authoritative definitions of some of the most significant terms and concepts employed in the study of literary theory It offers 250 terms from many areas of literary theory including cultural studies psychoanalysis poststructuralism Marxist and feminist studies postcolonialism and other areas of identity politics In addition it provides definitions of principal areas of literary study and a chronological chart of major critics and philosophers Key Concepts in Literary Theory is an indispensable reference work for anyone interested in the complexities of the theories currently discussed in literary and cultural studies The Textual

Condition of Nineteenth-Century Literature Josephine Guy, Ian Small, 2012-03-12 In this important new book Guy and Small develop a new account of literary creativity in the late nineteenth century one that combines concepts generated by text theorists concerning the embodied nature of textuality with the empirical insights of text editors and book historians Through these developments which the authors term the textual turn this study examines the textual condition of nineteenth century literature The authors explore works by Dickens Wilde Hardy Yeats Swinburne FitzGerald Pater Arnold Pinero and Shaw connecting questions about what a work textually is with questions about why we read it and how we value it The study asks whether the textual turn places us in a stronger position to analyze the value of a nineteenth century text not for readers of the nineteenth century but of the twenty first The authors argue that this issue of value is central to their discipline

The Oxford Handbook of Law and Humanities Simon Stern, Maksymilian Del Mar, Bernadette Meyler, 2020 How might law matter to the humanities How might the humanities matter to law In its approach to both of these questions The Oxford Handbook of Law and Humanities shows how rich a resource the law is for humanistic study as well as how and why the humanities are vital for understanding law Tackling questions of method key themes and concepts and a variety of genres and areas of the law this collection of essays by leading scholars from a variety of disciplines illuminates new questions and articulates an exciting new agenda for scholarship in law and humanities The Iconic Page in Manuscript, Print, and Digital Culture George Bornstein, Theresa Lynn Tinkle, 1998 Crystallizes advanced research on the meanings that are created by a work's physical construction Off the Page Tom Lavazzi, 2016-11-01 Off the Page offers a series of critical scripts exploring various cultural texts and a working definition of performative criticism grounded in poststructuralist literary cultural and performance theory Discourse, Structure and Linguistic Choice T. Price Caldwell, 2018-06-19 This volume presents eight papers and a draft monograph by T Price Caldwell on topics in linguistics semiotics and philosophy of language From the beginning of his professional career onwards Caldwell wrote short fiction and poetry and he taught English literature The relevance to these of philosophy of language semiotics and certain areas of linguistics increasingly caught his interest This book presents the fruits of this later work Of the papers included here two are abstract and theoretical focusing on linguistic methodology and Caldwell's overarching views on the nature of meaning in context His position here which he called Molecular Sememics echoes early Structuralism and Functionalism but addresses shortfalls in each Two other papers apply the method and theory to topics within semantics and pragmatics including especially the structuring of discourse The remaining four papers connect Caldwell's theoretical insights to his life long interests in fiction and pedagogy The monograph which Caldwell was left unfinished due to illness aims to present as a single intellectual package the theory and the applications The Anglo-Scottish Ballad and its Imaginary Contexts David Atkinson, 2014-03-12 This is the first book to combine contemporary debates in ballad studies with the insights of modern textual scholarship Just like canonical literature and music the ballad should not be seen as a uniquely authentic item inextricably tied to a documented source but rather as an unstable structure subject to the vagaries of production reception and editing Among the matters addressed are topics central to the subject including ballad origins oral and printed transmission sound and writing agency and editing and textual and melodic indeterminacy and instability While drawing on the time honoured materials of ballad studies the book offers a theoretical framework for the discipline to complement the largely ethnographic approach that has dominated in recent decades Primarily directed at the community of ballad and folk song scholars the book will be of interest to researchers in several adjacent fields including folklore oral literature ethnomusicology and textual scholarship Women Editing/Editing Women Chanita Goodblatt, Ann Hollinshead Hurley, 2009-01-14 This collection of essays links current research in the writings and editing of early modern women and in those women who were themselves early editors with a new methodology of editing currently titled the new textualism As such the collection seeks to solve two problems The first concerns the difficulty of editing the works of early modern women writers for whom there is little biographical data a challenging task when the standard life and works format is thus inhibited Second related but slightly different occurs because although we know that there were women who edited in the early modern and even later periods we know little about them as well The new textualism approach to editing which focuses on the material properties of the manuscript or book its print or performance history and records of its dissemination and the sociology of texts provides a fruitful solution to both problems by broadening the concept of agency and hence provides a richer context for the production of a given text The collection includes two sets of essays One set has been reprinted from seminal works in the field of new textualism These include writings by recognized figures like Jerome McGann Leah Marcus and Wendy Wall among others As such that set provides background for the reading of the second a group of six original essays by scholars now working in the field of early modern women writers who directly apply aspects of the new textualism in their research The fusion of the research field of retrieving early modern women writers with the practices of new textualist editing is thus the core of this collection of essays and is illustrative of what can be achieved in the field of editing when this new approach to texts is put into practice A Companion to the History of the Book Simon Eliot, Jonathan Rose, 2011-08-24 A
