Feeding Back? Learning from Complaints Handling in Health and Social Care Great Britain. National Audit Office, 2008 There are currently two separate statutory processes for handling complaints about health and social care services NHS organisations are accountable to the Department of Health and social care services are accountable through their local authority whilst adult social care rests with the Department There are differences in the numbers of stages and timescales involved and in the arrangements for advocacy support and independent investigation The Health Service Ombudsman is responsible for the ultimate review and decision on NHS complaints and the Local Government Ombudsman for social care complaints The NAO in this report HCP 853 session 2007 08 has undertaken an evaluation of existing performance capability capacity and costs of complaints handling in both health and adult social care The NAO has set out a number of findings and recommendations including that where people are dissatisfied there is a low number who make formal complaints that navigating the complaints systems is not straightforward particularly for health service users only a small proportion of NHS complainants are aware or receive national advocacy support that the culture and attitudes of the organisations are often a barrier to responsive complaint handling neither the health or social care organisations know the cost of complaints handling that pursuing a complaint requires considerable time determination and resilience
