Restorative Justice Contemporary Themes And Practice:

Restorative Justice Jim Consedine, Helen Bowen, 1999 Restorative Justice Heather Strang, John Braithwaite, 2017-09-19 The astonishing development of restorative justice practice over the past decade has inspired creative new thinking about the philosophy of punishment and principles of justice Many of the questions raised in this book such as the relationship between restorative and retributive justice and the values and processes which should guide restorative practice are the subject of intense debates With contributions from many of the most distinguished scholars in the field this book analyzes the gap between philosophy and practice and the need for practice to be more informed by philosophy This volume is a milestone in the development of those underlying principles which will direct the progress of restorative justice in the future

Restorative Justice Charles K. B. Barton, 2003 Restorative Justice The Empowerment Model presents a powerful challenge to many current accounts of the criminal justice system Charles Barton gives a clear and insightful analysis of current restorative justice philosophy and theory He uses a unifying and overarching principle of empowerment to provide a distinct conceptual framework for restorative justice theory and practice He puts forward a step by step implementation process which includes restorative meeting facilitation complete with seating plans and scripted prompts for mediators keepers and facilitators There will also be two sample role plays in the book and additionally there will be four complete role plays available on our website closer to publication Barton emphasises the importance of each participant in a restorative justice meeting the victims offenders and their supporters as well as professionals such as police social workers and legal advocates Successful programs must consistently and reliably achieve maximally restorative outcomes for all of them Practitioners need always keep this objective in mind Barton s book will strengthen their comprehension and facilitate application of the practical process

Restorative Justice in Practice Joanna Shapland, Gwen Robinson, Angela Sorsby, 2011-07-15 This book analyzes the practicalities of setting up and running restorative justice schemes the costs involved and the key professional and ethical issues involved such as victims and offenders needs and expectations community and desistance

Handbook of Restorative Justice Gerry Johnstone, Daniel Van Ness, 2013-01-11 This book provides a comprehensive and authoritative account and analysis of restorative justice one of the most rapidly growing phenomena in the field of criminology and justice studies This book aims to meet the need for a comprehensive reliable and accessible overview of the subject It draws together leading authorities on the subject from around the world in order to elucidate and discuss the key concepts and principles of restorative justice explain how the campaign for restorative justice arose and developed into the influential social movement it is today describe the variety of restorative justice practices explain how they have developed in various places and contexts and critically examine their rationales and effects identify and examine key tensions and issues within the restorative justice movement brings a variety of disciplinary and interdisciplinary perspectives to bear upon the understanding and assessment of restorative justice The Handbook of Restorative Justice is essential reading for students and practitioners in the field Restorative Justice: Theoretical foundations Elmar G. M. Weitekamp, Hans-Jürgen Kerner, 2012-12-06 This book brings together a selection of papers originally presented and discussed at the fourth international restorative justice conference held at the University of Tübingen. The contributors include many of the leading authorities in the field of restorative justice and they provide a comprehensive review of the theoretical foundations underlying this rapidly expanding movement. Restorative Justice: Theoretical foundations addresses a wide range of fundamental questions about restorative justice considering amongst other things ways in which conceptual pitfalls can be avoided and how traditional models of peacemaking and healing developed in traditional societies can be integrated into the justice systems of late modern societies. Overall it provides an authoritative overview of contemporary thinking about restorative justice and will be essential reading for anybody concerned with the future direction of criminal justice and criminal justice systems. Leading world authorities address the theoretical foundations of restorative justice, a rapidly expanding area within criminal justice. Includes chapters on restorative justice as applied to corporate crime, family violence and cases of extreme violence.

Reimagining Restorative Justice David O'Mahony, Jonathan Doak, 2017-09-21 Restorative justice theory has largely failed to keep pace with the rapid expansion of restorative practices worldwide. Indeed, it is remarkable how much support RJ has when so few advocates can even define what it is. As such, this insightful and comprehensive new contribution from two of the top scholars on the frontlines of restorative justice research is hugely welcome. Professor Shadd Maruna, Centre for Criminology and Criminal Justice, University of Manchester. Reimagining Restorative Justice is a reflective and balanced reconsideration of restorative justice. It deftly sweeps across the large literature on the subject, putting it in perspective, seeing anew through its wide angle lens. Empowerment and accountability provide a fertile framework for this richly reimagined justice. Professor John Braithwaite, Australian National University. David O'Mahony and Jonathan Doak have made a significant contribution to the confusing and over-complicated field of restorative justice theory. They do so through their use of empowerment theory to bring conceptual and operational clarity to the concepts of agency and accountability in restorative processes and outcomes. As a result, they develop a convincing argument for face-to-face dialogue between victim and perpetrator within the core of the criminal justice system. Their emphasis upon ethical and skilful practice is a welcome riposte to the rapid spread of restorative justice lite driven by managerialism and the need to cut costs. Tim Chapman, Lecturer at the University of Ulster. O'Mahony and Doak convincingly argue that rapid developments in the practice of restorative interventions have outstripped restorative justice theory. They provide both an outstandingly helpful review of the literature and a fresh theoretical approach based on empowerment theory. Everyone seriously interested in restorative justice will want to reflect carefully on the authors' conclusions. Anthony Bottoms, Emeritus Wolfson Professor of Criminology at the University of Cambridge. In recent years, restorative based interventions have expanded rapidly and are increasingly viewed as a legitimate and even superior means of delivering justice. The result of this swift but piecemeal development has been that restorative justice practice has outpaced the development of restorative justice theory This book takes up this challenge by reimagining a new framework for the operation of restorative justice within criminal justice In essence it is contended that the core empowering values of agency and accountability provide a lens for reimagining how restorative justice works and the normative goals it ought to encompass

Restorative Justice Eugene McLaughlin, Open University, 2003-06-02 Restorative Justice brings together key international writings that trace the development of restorative justice from its diverse beginnings to current global policies and practices

Repositioning Restorative Justice Lode Walgrave, 2012-12-06 Restorative justice has become an increasingly important element in reform and change to criminal justice systems throughout the western world and there are many reasons for satisfaction with the progress that has been made from the point of view of victims offenders the level and incidence of reoffending and in terms of public opinion At the same time there has been cause for concern not least to do with the confusion on aims that has accompanied the rapid spread of restorative justice practices an over estimate of its possibilities a blurring of concepts and a lack of attention to legal rights and processes This book based on papers presented at the 5th international conference held at Leuven Belgium in 2002 aims to provide an overview of recent experience of restorative justice in the light of these concerns The central theme is the positioning or repositioning of restorative justice in contexts where it can offer hope to communities both fearful of crime and looking for more socially constructive responses to crime At the same time restorative justice practitioners seek definition in relation to the kinds of crime it is appropriate to apply restorative justice to how it relates to different forms of punishment to rehabilitation and how it fits in with criminal justice systems and the law of different countries how to reconcile the informal participatory philosophy of restorative justice with formal legal processes and the need for legal safeguards

Ambassadors of Reconciliation: Diverse Christian practices of restorative justice and peacemaking Ched Myers, Elaine Enns, 2009 Restorative justice refers to a social movement that seeks to repair interpersonal communal and social injustices without recourse to violence or retribution Volume two analyzes the contemporary terrain of restorative justice and peacemaking in North America and profiles the exemplary work of nine practitioners who incarnate the scriptural vision in real life contexts of profound violence and injustice

Developing Restorative Justice Jurisprudence Tony Foley, 2016-04-22 What are the requirements for a just response to criminal wrongdoing Drawing on comparative and empirical analysis of existing models of global practice this book offers an approach aimed at restricting the current limitations of criminal justice process and addressing the current deficiencies Putting restoration squarely alongside other aims of justice responses the author argues that only when restorative questions are taken into account can institutional responses be truly said to be just Using the three primary jurisdictions of Australia New Zealand and Canada the book presents the leading examples of restorative justice practices incorporated in mainstream criminal justice systems from around the world In conclusion the work provides a fresh insight into how today s criminal law might develop in order to bring restoration directly into the mix for tomorrow This book will be of interest to undergraduates postgraduate researchers and lecturers as well as lawyers who work in the field of criminal law criminologists social scientists and philosophers interested in ideas of wrongdoing and criminal justice responses to criminal offending

Human Rights in Development, Volume 9 Lone Lindholt, Sten Schaumburg-Müller, 2021-11-29 The current edition is the fifteenth in the series Over the years the structure of the yearbook has shifted from that of a journal to a thematic anthology The main editorship as well as the thematic expertise for this volume has been the responsibility of the Danish Institute for Human Rights As the title of this volume Human Rights and Local Living Law indicates its focus is on the various forms of local informal and or customary law and their interaction with human rights The Human Rights in Development series takes its starting point in a development perspective and aims to be topical comprehensive and multi disciplinary exemplifying the cross fertilization of theoretical and practical approaches Contributions are sought from researchers and practitioners in both donor and recipient countries To ensure an increased focus on Southern perspectives participation in the editorial work and inclusion of authors from a broad geographical scope has been and is continuously sought The volumes published in the Human Rights in Development series which for historical reasons still carry the word Yearbook in their title are the result of a long term collaboration between human rights research institutes and centres Currently the partners in the project include the Christian Michelsen Institute Bergen the Danish Institute for Human Rights Copenhagen the Icelandic Human Rights Centre Reykjavik the Ludwig Boltzman Institute of Human Rights Vienna the Netherlands Institute of Human Rights Utrecht the Norwegian Centre for Human Rights Oslo the Raoul Wallenberg Institute of Human Rights and Humanitarian Law Lund and the bo Akademi University Institute for Human Rights Turku bo As in previous years the publication is aimed at a broad audience including government agencies donor agencies embassies the press non governmental organisations and the academic community

Restorative Justice for Juveniles Allison Morris, Gabrielle Maxwell, Gabrielle M. Maxwell, 2001-06 Internationally there is now an acceptance of the need to develop new strategies in criminal justice which reflect restorative justice principles At the same time theory research and practice in restorative justice is making rapid advances This book provides an up to date and critical account of recent developments It describes the practice of restorative justice with respect to young offenders in a number of jurisdictions Australia Canada England New Zealand South Africa the United States and various continental European countries Research findings on the three most common formats conferencing victims offender mediation and circles are presented Critical issues for the future development of restorative justice are identified Two main themes run through the collection the potential of restorative processes to transform criminal justice processes and the potential for aboriginal or indigenous communities to impact on conventional processes Contributors include active researchers and leading theorists from around the world

God is Subversive Lee Griffith, 2011-04-12 To Lee Griffith being a peacemaker means much more than sporting PEACE T shirts or voting for left wing political candidates Peacemaking is for him a daily practice of community formation lifestyle decisions and prayer ordinary living that is faithful to the gospel and happily out of sync with most of the world most of the time and it is a vital part of following Jesus Christ In these challenging talks Griffith a veteran anti war activist who has been arrested many times for his pro peace demonstrations sets forth a solidly biblical argument for uncompromising nonviolence Along the way he describes encounters with dumpster divers and prostitutes with bag ladies and judges with people who hear voices and see ghosts and he shares how through these encounters and more he has come to know better the subversive God of the gospel

Indigenous Criminology Chris Cunneen, Juan Tauri, 2016-07-27 Indigenous Criminology comprehensively explores Indigenous people's contact with criminal justice systems in a contemporary and historical context It addresses both the theoretical underpinnings of the development of a specific Indigenous criminology and canvasses the broader policy and practice implications for criminal justice

Beyond Retribution Christopher D. Marshall, 2001 Recently a growing number of Christians have actively promoted the concept of restorative justice and attempted to develop programs for dealing with crime based on restorative principles But is this approach truly consistent with the teaching of Scripture To date very little has been done to test this claim Beyond Retribution fills a gap by plumbing the New Testament on the topics of crime justice and punishment Christopher Marshall first explores the problems involved in applying ethical teachings from the New Testament to mainstream society He then surveys the extent to which the New Testament addresses criminal justice issues looking in particular at the concept of the justice of God in the teachings of Paul and Jesus He also examines the topic of punishment reviewing the debate in social thinking over the ethics and purpose of punishment including capital punishment and he advocates a new concept of restorative punishment The result of this engaging work is a biblically based challenge to imitate the way of Christ in dealing with both victims and offenders Publisher

Accountability in Restorative Justice Declan Roche, 2003 In reviving the idea of an informal approach to conflict resolution the Restorative Justice movement attempts to break out of the predominantly punitive thinking which shapes modern criminal justice Its proponents claim that its guiding ideals personalism participation reparation and reintegration deliver a fairer more effective and more humane justice than does the court system However a simplistic tendency both to extol the virtues of restorative justice and to denigrate all conventional formal approaches risks blinding enthusiasts to the dangers inherent in unchecked participant power as well as to the protection which state institutions and professionals can provide to individuals and communities The procedural safeguard of institutional accountability helps reduce these dangers Examining the experiences of 25 programmes in six countries Accountability in Restorative Justice uncovers a number of neglected overlapping and incomplete types of accountability including the informal type built into deliberations between victims and offenders and their supporters This deliberative accountability can provide a rigorous check for regulating decision making holding state agencies accountable and monitoring the completion of agreements reached between participants This book also considers the role played by formal types of accountability such as external review It suggests a new approach in which judges become more involved in monitoring the quality of deliberation in restorative justice conferences than with enforcing traditional sentencing principles

Restorative Justice and Criminal Justice Andreas von Hirsch, Julian V Roberts, Anthony E Bottoms, Kent Roach, Mara Schiff, 2003-01-06 Restorative Justice has emerged around the world as a potent challenge to traditional models of criminal justice and restorative programmes policies and legislative reforms are being implemented in many western nations However the underlying aims values and limits of this new paradigm remain somewhat uncertain and those advocating Restorative Justice have rarely engaged in systematic debate with those defending more traditional conceptions of criminal justice This volume containing contributions from scholars of international renown provides an analytic exploration of Restorative Justice and its potential advantages and disadvantages Chapters of the book examine the aims and limiting principles that should govern Restorative Justice its appropriate scope of application its social and legal contexts its practice and impact in a number of jurisdictions and its relation to more traditional criminal justice conceptions These questions are addressed by twenty distinguished criminologists and legal scholars in papers which make up this volume These contributions will help clarify the aims that Restorative Justice might reasonably hope to achieve the limits that should apply in pursuing these aims and how restorative strategies might comport with or replace other penal strategies Contributors Andrew Ashworth Anthony E Bottoms John Braithwaite Kathleen Daly James Dignan R A Duff Carolyn Hoyle Barbara Hudson Leena Kurki Allison Morris Kent Roach Julian V Roberts Paul Roberts Mara Schiff Joanna Shapland Clifford Shearing Daniel van Ness Andrew von Hirsch Lode Walgrave Richard Young

Governing Paradoxes of Restorative Justice

George Pavlich, 2013-01-11 Restorative justice is the policy of eschewing traditional punishments in favour of group counselling involving both victims and perpetrators Until now there has been no critical analysis of governmental rationales that legitimize restorative practices over traditional approaches but Governing Practices of Restorative Justice fills this gap and addresses the mentalities of governance most prominent in restorative justice The author provides comprehensible commentary on the central images of this discursive arena in a style accessible to participants and observers alike of restorative justice
