Retail Fictions:

Speculative Fictions Elizabeth Hewitt, 2020-06-26 Speculative Fictions places Alexander Hamilton at the center of American literary history to consider the important intersections between economics and literature. By studying Hamilton as an economic and imaginative writer, it argues that we can recast the conflict with the Jeffersonians as a literary debate about the best way to explain and describe modern capitalism and explores how various other literary forms allow us to comprehend the complexities of a modern global economy in entirely new ways. Speculative Fictions identifies two overlooked literary genres of the late eighteenth century as exemplary of this narrative mode. It asks that we read periodical essays and Black Atlantic captivity narratives with an eye not towards bourgeois subject formation but as descriptive analyses of economic systems. In doing so, we discover how these two literary genres offer very different portraits of a global economy than that rendered by the novel, the imaginative genre we are most likely to associate with modern capitalism. Developing an aesthetic appreciation for the speculative digressive and unsystematic plotlines of these earlier narratives has the capacity to generate new imaginative projects with which to make sense of our increasingly difficult economic world.

Women's Fiction Deborah Philips, 2014-06-19 Now in its second edition and with new chapters covering such texts as Elizabeth Gilbert's Eat Pray Love and yummy mummy novels such as Allison Pearson's I Don't Know How She Does It, this is a wide-ranging survey of popular women's fiction from 1945 to the present. Examining key trends in popular writing for women in each decade, Women's Fiction offers case study readings of major British and American writers. Through these readings, the book explores how popular texts often neglected by feminist literary criticism have charted the shifting demands, aspirations, and expectations of women in the 20th and 21st centuries. Women's Fiction 1945-2005 Deborah Philips, 2006-01-01

The paperback edition of major survey of popular women's fiction by wide range of North American and British writers.

The Trouble with Literature Victoria Ann Kahn, 2020 This book argues that the literature of the English Reformation marks a turning point in Western thinking about literature and literariness. Victoria Kahn contrasts modern and early modern understandings of the terms and focuses on the works of Thomas Hobbes, John Milton, Immanuel Kant, Søren Kierkegaard, and J. M. Coetzee. Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress, Library of Congress. Subject Cataloging Division, Library of Congress. Office for Subject Cataloging Policy, 2013

Coverage of essential information is combined with exciting critical approaches.
