Pleasant Places Walter S. Gibson, 2000-04-22 The variations of pleasure and their expression in Dutch rustic landscapes of the seventeenth century are recurring themes in Walter S Gibson's engaging new book Gibson focuses on Haarlem between 1600 and 1635 in his interpretation of Dutch landscapes and emphasizes prints the medium in which the rustic view was first made available to the general art buying public Gibson begins by looking at the origins of the rustic landscape in the sixteenth century Flanders and its later reformation by Dutch artists a legacy very much alive today He next offers a critical review of scriptural reading a popular mode of interpreting the Dutch rustic landscape that incorporates Calvinist influenced moral allegories Gibson then explores traditional ideas concerning recreation and suggests that the pleasure of rural landscapes not preaching constituted their chief appeal for seventeenth century urban viewers Using Visscher's Plaisante Plaetsen Pleasant Places as a point of departure Gibson examines the ways that townspeople both the day trippers and owners of country houses experienced the Dutch countryside He also discusses the role of staffage and suggests how the representations of peasants might have conditioned the responses of contemporary viewers to rural images Finally Gibson considers how scenes of the dilapidated farm buildings dead trees and other evidence of material decay may reflect traditional ideas rustic life as imagined by a townsman Or how they may represent another way for the artist to engage his urban audience far removed from the idealized landscapes of a Giorgione the rustic landscape of a Ruisdael conveys a countryside that was beginning to disappear under the relentless pressures of urbanization Gibson's multilayered exploration of the rustic landscape enhances our understanding of the Golden Age in Dutch art His richly illustrated book recalls a countryside now largely gone at the same time his evocative language gracefully articulates the role of the Dutch rustic landscape in the history of landscape painting

Karel van Mander and his Foundation of the Noble, Free Art of Painting Walter S. Melion, 2022-10-04 Winner of the 2023 Roland H Bainton Prize for Art History Written by the poet painter Karel van Mander who finished it in June 1603 the Grondt der edel vry schilderconst Foundation of the Noble Free Art of Painting was the first systematic treatise on schilderconst the art of painting picturing to be published in Dutch Haarlem Paschier van Westbusch 1604 This English language edition of the Grondt accompanied by an introductory monograph and a full critical apparatus provides unprecedented access to Van Mander's crucially important art treatise The book sheds light on key terms and critical categories such as schilder manier uyt zijn selven doen welstandt leven and gheest and wel schilderen and both exemplifies and explicates the author's distinctive views on the complementary forms and functions of history and landscape

News, Business and Public Information Arthur der Weduwen, Andrew Pettegree, 2020-01-20 The history of newspaper advertising began in the seventeenth century Low Countries The newspaper publishers of the Dutch Republic were the first to embrace advertisements decades before their peers in other news markets in Europe In this survey Arthur der Weduwen and Andrew Pettegree have brought together the first 6 000 advertisements placed in Dutch and Flemish newspapers between 1620 and 1675 Provided here in an English translation and accompanied by seven indices this work provides for the first time a complete overview of the development of newspaper advertising and its impact on the Dutch book trade economy and society In these evocative announcements ranging from advertisement for library auctions the publication of new books pamphlets and maps to notices of crime postal schedules or missing pets the seventeenth century is brought to life This survey offers a unique perspective on daily life personal relationships and societal change in the Dutch Golden Age

Young Rembrandt Onno Blom, 2020-09-08 A captivating exploration of the little known story of Rembrandt's formative years by a prize winning biographer Rembrandt van Rijn's early years are as famously shrouded in mystery as Shakespeare's and his life has always been an enigma How did a miller's son from a provincial Dutch town become the greatest artist of his age How in short did Rembrandt become Rembrandt Seeking the roots of Rembrandt's genius the celebrated Dutch writer Onno Blom immersed himself in Leiden the city in which Rembrandt was born in 1606 and where he spent his first twenty five years It was a turbulent time the city having only recently rebelled against the Spanish There are almost no written records by or about Rembrandt so Blom tracked down old maps sought out the Rembrandt family house and mill and walked the route that Rembrandt would have taken to school Leiden was a bustling center of intellectual life and Blom a native of Leiden himself brings to life all the places Rembrandt would have known the university library botanical garden and anatomy theater He investigated the concerns and tensions of the era burial rites for plague victims the renovation of the city in the wake of the Spanish siege the influx of immigrants to work the cloth trade And he examined the origins and influences that led to the famous and beloved paintings that marked the beginning of Rembrandt's celebrated career as the paramount painter of the Dutch Golden Age Young Rembrandt is a fascinating portrait of the artist and the world that made him Evocatively told and beautifully illustrated with more than 100 color images it is a superb biography that captures Rembrandt for a new generation

The Innocence of Pontius Pilate David Lloyd Dusenbury, 2021-12-01 The gospels and ancient historians agree Jesus was sentenced to death by Pontius Pilate the Roman imperial prefect in Jerusalem To this day Christians of all churches confess that Jesus died under Pontius Pilate But what exactly does that mean Within decades of Jesus' death Christians began suggesting that it was the Judaeen authorities who had crucified Jesus a notion later echoed in the Qur'an In the third century one philosopher raised the notion that although

Pilate had condemned Jesus he d done so justly this idea survives in one of the main strands of modern New Testament criticism So what is the truth of the matter And what is the history of that truth David Lloyd Dusenbury reveals Pilate s innocence as not only a neglected theological question but a recurring theme in the history of European political thought He argues that Jesus interrogation by Pilate and Augustine of Hippo s North African sermon on that trial led to the concept of secularity and the logic of tolerance emerging in early modern Europe Without the Roman trial of Jesus and the arguments over Pilate s innocence the history of empire from the first century to the twenty first would have been radically different

The Birth of Modern Political Satire Meredith McNeill Hale,2020-09-02 Political satire has been a primary weapon of the press since the eighteenth century and is still intimately associated with one of the most important values of western democratic society the right of individuals to free speech This study documents one of the most important moments in the history of printed political imagery when political print became what we would recognise as modern political satire Contrary to conventional historical and art historical narratives which place the emergence of political satire in the news driven coffee house culture of eighteenth century London Meredith M Hale locates the birth of the genre in the late seventeenth century Netherlands in the contentious political milieu surrounding William III s invasion of England known as the Glorious Revolution The satires produced between 1688 and 1690 by the Dutch printmaker Romeyn de Hooghe on the events surrounding William III s campaigns against James II and Louis XIV establish many of the qualities that define the genre to this day the transgression of bodily boundaries the interdependence of text and image the centrality of dialogic text to the generation of meaning serialized production and the emergence of the satirist as a primary participant in political discourse This study the first in depth analysis of De Hooghe s satires since the nineteenth century considers these prints as sites of cultural influence and negotiation works that both reflected and helped to construct a new relationship between the government and the governed Netherlandish Art in the Rijksmuseum Rijksmuseum (Netherlands),H. W. van Os,J. P.

Filedt Kok,2000 This book offers a unique overview of Dutch 18th century art drawing on the vast collections of the Rijksmuseum Amsterdam The art production of this period is demonstrated through art works of both well known and lesser known artists including Cornelis Troost Nicolaas Verkolje Willem van Mieris Jan Baptist Xavery Jacob van Strij and many others It also examines the flourishing artisan trade in the form of furniture silver sculptures and faience from the factories in Delft and Weesp This edition moreover provides information on the historical context the world of the artist the art collectors and the costumes of the 18th century

Vincent van Gogh Victoria Charles,2011-07-01 Vincent van Gogh s life and work are so intertwined that it is hardly possible to observe one without thinking of the other Van Gogh has indeed become the incarnation of the suffering misunderstood martyr of modern art the emblem of the artist as an outsider An article published in 1890 gave details about van Gogh s illness The author of the article saw the painter as a terrible and demented genius often sublime sometimes grotesque always at the brink of the pathological Very little is known about

Vincent's childhood At the age of eleven he had to leave the human nest as he called it himself for various boarding schools The first portrait shows us van Gogh as an earnest nineteen year old At that time he had already been at work for three years in The Hague and later in London in the gallery Goupil Co In 1874 his love for Ursula Loyer ended in disaster and a year later he was transferred to Paris against his will After a particularly heated argument during Christmas holidays in 1881 his father a pastor ordered Vincent to leave With this final break he abandoned his family name and signed his canvases simply Vincent He left for Paris and never returned to Holland In Paris he came to know Paul Gauguin whose paintings he greatly admired The self portrait was the main subject of Vincent's work from 1886c88 In February 1888 Vincent left Paris for Arles and tried to persuade Gauguin to join him The months of waiting for Gauguin were the most productive time in van Gogh's life He wanted to show his friend as many pictures as possible and decorate the Yellow House But Gauguin did not share his views on art and finally returned to Paris On 7 January 1889 fourteen days after his famous self mutilation Vincent left the hospital where he was convalescing Although he hoped to recover from and to forget his madness but he actually came back twice more in the same year During his last stay in hospital Vincent painted landscapes in which he recreated the world of his childhood It is said that Vincent van Gogh shot himself in the side in a field but decided to return to the inn and went to bed The landlord informed Dr Gachet and his brother Theo who described the last moments of his life which ended on 29 July 1890 I wanted to die While I was sitting next to him promising that we would try to heal him he answered La tristesse durera toujours The sadness will last forever

Gender, Power and Identity in the Early Modern House of Orange-Nassau

Susan Broomhall, Jacqueline Van Gent, 2016-08-12 How do gender and power relationships affect the expression of family House and dynastic identities The present study explores this question using a case study of the House of Orange Nassau whose extensive visual material and archival sources from both male and female members enable the authors to trace their complex attempts to express gain and maintain power in texts material culture and spaces as well as rituals acts and practices The book adopts several innovative approaches to the history of the Orange Nassau family and to familial and dynastic studies generally Firstly the authors analyse in detail a vast body of previously unexplored sources including correspondence artwork architectural horticultural and textual commissions ceremonies practices and individual actions that have surprisingly received little attention to date individually and consider these as the collective practices of a key early modern dynastic family They investigate new avenues about the meanings and practices of family and dynasty in the early modern period extending current research that focuses on dominant men to ask how women and subordinate men understood family and dynasty in what respects such notions were shared among members and how it might have been fractured and fashioned by individual experiences Adopting a transnational approach to the Nassau family the authors explore the family's self presentation across a range of languages cultures and historiographical traditions situating their representation of themselves as an influential House within an international context and offering a new vision of power as a gendered concept     The hurt(ful) body Tomas Macsotay, Cornelis van der Haven, Karel Vanhaesebrouck, 2017-07-21 This book offers a cross disciplinary approach to pain and suffering in the early modern period based on research in the fields of literary studies art history theatre studies cultural history and the study of emotions The volume s two fold approach to the hurt body defining hurt from the perspectives of both victim and beholder as well as their combined creation of a gaze is unique It establishes a double perspective about the riddle of cruel viewing by tracking the shifting cultural meanings of victims bodies and confronting them with the values of audiences religious and popular institutional settings and practices of punishment It encompasses both the victim s presence as an image or performed event of pain and the conundrum of the look the transmitted pain experienced by the watching audience     Landscape and Religion from Van Eyck to Rembrandt Boudewijn Bakker, 2017-07-05 Offering a corrective to the common scholarly characterization of seventeenth century Dutch landscape painting as modern realistic and secularized Boudewijn Bakker here explores the long history and purpose of landscape in Netherlandish painting In Bakker s view early Netherlandish as well as seventeenth century Dutch painting can be understood only in the context of the intellectual climate of the day Concentrating on landscape painting as the careful depiction of the visible world Bakker s analysis takes in the thought of figures seldom consulted by traditional art historians such as the fifteenth century philosopher Dionysius the Carthusian the sixteenth century religious reformer John Calvin the geographer Abraham Ortelius and the seventeenth century poet Constantijn Huygens Probing their conception of nature as the first Book of God and art as its representation Bakker identifies a world view that has its roots in the traditional Christian perceptions of God and creation Landscape and Religion from Van Eyck to Rembrandt imposes a new layer of interpretation on the richly varied landscapes of the great masters In so doing it adds a new dimension to the insights offered by modern art historical research Further Bakker s explorations of early modern art and literature provide essential background for any student of European intellectual history     The Bookshop of the World Andrew Pettegree, Arthur der Weduwen, 2019-01-01 The untold story of how the Dutch conquered the European book market and became the world s greatest bibliophiles an instant classic on Dutch book history BMGN Low Countries Historical Review An excellent contribution to book history Robert Darnton New York Review of Books The Dutch Golden Age has long been seen as the age of Rembrandt and Vermeer whose paintings captured the public imagination and came to represent the marvel that was the Dutch Republic Yet there is another largely overlooked marvel in the Dutch world of the seventeenth century books In this fascinating account Andrew Pettegree and Arthur der Weduwen show how the Dutch produced many more books than pictures and bought and owned more books per capita than any other part of Europe Key innovations in marketing book auctions and newspaper advertising brought stability to a market where elsewhere publishers faced bankruptcy and created a population uniquely well informed and politically engaged This book tells for the first time the remarkable story of the Dutch conquest of the European book world and shows the true extent to which these pious prosperous quarrelsome and generous people were shaped by what they read

Collecting Prints and Drawings Sylvia Heudecker, Andrea M.

Gáldy, 2019-01-22 Cabinets of prints and drawings are found in the earliest art collections of Early Modern Europe. From the sixteenth century onwards, some of them acquired such fame that the necessity for an ordered and scientific display meant that a dedicated keeper was occasionally employed to ensure that fellow enthusiasts as well as visiting diplomats, courtiers and artists might have access to the print room. Often collected and displayed together with drawings, the prints formed a substantial part of princely collections which sometimes achieved astounding longevity as a specialised group of collectibles such as the Florentine Gabinetto Disegni e Stampe at the Uffizi. GDSU Prints and drawings both bought and commissioned were collected by princes and by private amateurs. Like the rest of their collections, the prints and drawings were usually preserved and displayed as part of or near the owner's library in close proximity to scientific instruments, cut gems or small sculptural works of art. Both prints and drawings not only documented an encyclopaedic approach to the knowledge available at the time but also depicted parts of the collections in the form of a paper museum. Prints and drawings also served as a guide to the collections. They spread their fame and the renown of their owners across Europe and into new worlds of collecting both East and West. This volume explores issues such as when, how and why did cabinets of prints and drawings become a specialised part of princely and private collections? How important were collections of prints and drawings for the self-representation of a prince or connoisseur among specialists and social peers? Is the presentation of a picture hanging in a gallery, for example by Charles Eisen for the Royal Galleries at Dresden, to be treated as documentary evidence? Are there notable differences in the approach to collecting, presentation and preservation of prints and drawings in diverse parts of the world? What was the afterlife of such collections up to the present day?

Early Modern Women in the Low Countries Susan Broomhall, Jennifer Spinks, 2016-05-13 Combining historical, historiographical, museological and touristic analysis, this study investigates how late medieval and early modern women of the Low Countries expressed themselves through texts, art, architecture and material objects; how they were represented by contemporaries; and how they have been interpreted in modern academic and popular contexts. Broomhall and Spinks analyse late medieval and early modern women's opportunities to narrate their experiences and ideas as well as the processes that have shaped their representation in the heritage and cultural tourism of the Netherlands and Belgium today. The authors study female-authored objects such as familial and political letters, dolls, houses, account books, visual sources, funeral monuments and buildings commissioned by female patrons and further artworks as well as heritage sites, streetscapes, souvenirs and clothing with gendered historical resonances. Employing an innovative range of materials from written sources to artworks, material objects, heritage sites and urban precincts, the authors argue that interpretations of late medieval and early modern women's experiences by historians and art scholars interact with presentations by cultural and heritage tourism providers in significant ways that deserve closer interrogation by feminist researchers.

Images of Miraculous Healing in the Early Modern Netherlands Barbara A.

Kaminska, 2021-11-08 Images of Miraculous Healing in the Early Modern Netherlands explores the ways in which paintings and prints of biblical miracles shaped viewers' approaches to physical and sensory impairments and bolstered their belief in supernatural healing and charitable behavior. Drawing upon a vast range of sources, Barbara Kaminska demonstrates that visual imagery held a central place in premodern disability discourses and that the exegesis of New Testament miracle stories determined key attitudes toward the sick and the poor. Addressed to middle-class collectors, many of the images analyzed in this study have hitherto been neglected by art historians.
