Factors in the Pathogenesis of Cardiovascular Diseases Dragan M. Djuric, Devendra K. Agrawal, 2024-08-01 Environmental conditions and processes are one of the major pillars on which the human well being rests It is the core responsibility of the society to preserve and enhance better conditions for the human well being Indeed there are several evolving unmet needs in public health Emerging and re emerging infectious diseases and a surge in the incidence of non communicable diseases including cardiovascular diseases CAD chronic respiratory diseases and metabolic diseases have been impediments to sustainable well being Many factors are critical in the global surge in the rate and incidence of cardiovascular diseases These include the shift from acute to chronic conditions the shift from single risk factor vs multiple influences aging population global health disparities exposure to lower harmful influences over a longer period etc However the epigenetic factors due to unhealthy environment play a most significant role in the underlying pathogenesis of cardiovascular diseases. Unfortunately this has been ignored for a long time and realized lately to expand and disseminate knowledge to general population expand research activities to investigate the cellular and molecular mechanisms and develop better preventive and treatment strategies. The most significant environmental impoverishment in the pathogenesis of cardiovascular diseases include different genetical chemical physical and biological influences but not limited to socio economic status and lack of nutrients nutritional aspects including habits diets and additives inhaled and ingested pollutants exhaust gas and gasoline products tobacco smoke water pollution alcohol consumption soil and mineral pollution solvents pesticides microplastics non critical usage of drugs climate change extreme atmospheric conditions extremes in noise and temperature electromagnetic influences microwaves and radiation outdoor light pollution mental stressors lack of or over exercise microbiota and microbiological agents like SARS CoV 2 virus etc

Biology of Women's Heart Health Lorrie Kirshenbaum, Inna Rabinovich-Nikitin, 2023-11-18 Cardiovascular disease CVD is the leading cause of morbidity and mortality in women and men worldwide and represents a major financial burden to world health care systems. Importantly CVD has eclipsed cancer as the leading cause of death for women globally. Through advancements in research and clinical testing the symptoms and risk factors for CVD have been well established for men but not for women. Consequently there is an immediate need for new innovative research that will bridge this gap and allow for improved early diagnosis and treatment of CVD in women. This book will serve as a guide for health care providers to better understand the physiological biochemical and genetic differences in heart disease in women with the goal of providing improved education awareness and treatment of cardiovascular disease in women. The book will cover topics such as sex dependent clinical outcomes of cardiovascular disease cardiac protection by estrogen cardiac health during menopause cardiac rehabilitation programs fitness and exercise cardio oncology shift work and the CVD risk and pregnancy related CVD
