Shadmehr, Alaa A. Ahmed, 2025-02-18 An examination of the link between the vigor with which we move and the value that the brain assigns to the goal of the movement Why do we reflexively run toward people we love but only walk toward others In Vigor Reza Shadmehr and Alaa Ahmed examine the link between how the brain assigns value to things and how it controls our movements They find that brain regions thought to be principally involved in decision making also affect movement vigor and that brain regions thought to be principally responsible for movement also bias patterns of decision making Shadmehr and Ahmed first consider the relationship of value and vigor from a behavioral and mathematical perspective considering a series of fascinating observations including for example data showing that people in certain cities tend to walk faster than those living elsewhere through the lens of optimal foraging theory They then go on to explore the neural basis of vigor and valuation synthesizing results from experiments that have measured activity in various brain structures and neuromodulators including dopamine and serotonin They speculate that in the future technologies may be able to predict our personal preferences by measuring our movements through the vigor with which we move we unwittingly reveal one of our well guarded secrets how much we value the object of our attention The JOLT Effect Matthew Dixon, Ted McKenna, 2022-09-20
