Because Grandma Said So Felicia Stoudemire-Foye,2023-12-18 Many of us have had the opportunity to experience a relationship with our Grandmama's Big Mama's or even a Mut Dear A relationship that was so impactful that it became a foundation or guide for our adulthood Whether you read this series of books to your children or they read it for themselves I believe they will be able to identify with the story of Meg and her grandma Because Grandma Says So

Angels in the Brine Richard F. Quinn,2017-07-17 Angels in the Brine by Richard F Quinn Facing hunger homelessness and little hope for a better life the Malloys and Mahoneys sail from Ireland to Australia in search of a new home The friendship between the two families would continue for the next 150 years including a move from Australia to the United States Angels in the Brine is a historical saga that gives readers a fascinating look at the lives of two families as they navigate their ways from the Great Famine in Ireland through the Vietnam War Angels in the Brine is a story of hope that is sure to inspire those who read it Walking on Fire Jim Linnell,2011-10-08 In this bold new way of looking at dramatic structure

Jim Linnell establishes the central role of emotional experience in the conception execution and reception of plays Walking on Fire The Shaping Force of Emotion in Writing Drama examines dramatic texts through the lens of human behavior to identify the joining of event and emotion in a narrative defined by Linnell as emotional form Effectively building on philosophy psychology and critical theory in ways useful to both scholars and practitioners Linnell unfolds the concept of emotional form as the key to understanding the central shaping force of drama He highlights the Dionysian force of human emotion in the writer as the genesis for creative work and articulates its power to determine narrative outcomes and audience reaction Walking on Fire contains writing exercises to open up playwrights to the emotional realities and challenges of their work Additionally each chapter offers case studies of traditional and nonlinear plays in the known canon that allow readers to evaluate the construction of these works and the authors practices and intentions through an examination of the emotional form embedded in the central characters language thoughts and behaviors The plays discussed include Henrik Ibsen's A Doll's House William Shakespeare's Hamlet Athol Fugard's MASTER HAROLD and the boys Donald Margulies's The Loman Family Picnic Harold Pinter's The Birthday Party and Tony Kushner's Angels in America Walking on Fire opens up new conversations about content and emotion for writers and offers exciting answers to the questions of why we make drama and why we connect to it Linnell's userfriendly theory and passionate approach create a framework for understanding the links between the writer's work in creating the text the text itself and the audience's engagement

This Wicked Man Kate Harper, 2012 Meg Holstock cannot think of anybody less suitable than herself to take care of a young child yet she becomes responsible for her orphaned nephew anyway Thrust into the wilds of Surrey and the charms of a rundown cottage she believes life will be singularly dull But that is before she meets her neighbor a sinfully wicked viscount whose reputation for seduction is legendary
