PRE/TEXT Victor J. Vitanza, 2010-11-23 After the first issue of PRE TEXT appeared in 1981 a colleague told Victor Vitanza the creator editor and publisher of the journal how disgusted she was by it how unreadable it was how devoted to self aggrandizement and how much she enjoyed two articles in it Devoted to exploring and expanding the field of rhetoric and composition by publishing articles considered inappropriate by other journals in the field PRE TEXT has from its inception made people angry Yet it has survived and thrived This collection of essays pays tribute to the first ten years of the journal and each reprinted article is paired with a short comment by the author Also included is Victor Vitanza s retrospective history of the journal and perspectives for the future James A. Berlin and Social-Epistemic Rhetorics Victor J. Vitanza, 2021-01-16 The field of rhetoric and composition has at last received a long lost message delivered in the form of Victor J Vitanza s seminar on James A Berlin In this book that is an untext on Berlin s work and its impact on the field Vitanza acquaints us with Berlin by virtue of many Berlins in multiplicity and via the figure of an excluded third that wants to deliver to us a new message that was undelivered from Berlin to us and from Vitanza to Berlin after Berlin s untimely death in 1994 A seminar on a seminar on the teaching of writing it is teaching all the way down They met at the historical NEH seminar at Carnegie Mellon in 1978 Their friendship and rhetorical dialogues spanned only sixteen years but Vitanza continues the conversation through the seminar through this book rife with reflections and yes homework for his readers and through our reception of it It is up to us now to carry it forward As Vitanza writes I would prefer not to not think that what remains unsaid stays undelivered Design Discourse David Franke, Alex Reid, 2010-10-06 Design Discourse Composing and Revising Programs in Professional and Technical Writing addresses the complexities of developing professional and technical writing programs The essays in the collection offer reflections on efforts to bridge two cultures what the editors characterize as the art and science of writing often by addressing explicitly the tensions between them Design Discourse offers insights into the high stakes decisions made by program designers as they seek to function at the intersection of the practical and the abstract the human and the technical Pre/Text , 1997 The Emperor's New Clothes Kathryn Flannery, 2010-11-23 Since the Renaissance what has been considered the best style of writing has always been connected with the dominant cultural agenda of the time In this book Kathryn Flannery offers a demystifying perspective on theorists who have argued for an essential distinction between content and style and focuses on the importance of understanding written prose style as a cultural asset She addresses the development of prose criticism the evolution of English teaching the history of Francis Bacon and Richard Hooker s writing and a modern discourse on stylistics Eating On The Street David Schaafsma, 2010-06-15 David Schaafsma presents a powerful and compelling book about the struggle of teaching literacy in a racially divided society and the importance of story and storytelling in the educational process At the core of this book is the concept of storytelling as an interactive experience for both the teller and listener Schaafsma offers rich samples of students writing about their lives in a troubled neighborhood Eating on the Street offers stories by Schaafsma his colleagues and students to illustrate how talking across multiple perspectives can enrich the learning process and the community building process outside the classroom as well

Writing at the State U Emily Isaacs, 2018-02-21 Writing at the State U presents a comprehensive empirical examination of writing programs at 106 universities Rather than using open survey calls and self reporting Emily Isaacs uses statistical analysis to show the extent to which established principles of writing instruction and administration have been implemented at state comprehensive universities the ways in which writing at those institutions has differed from writing at other institutions over time and how state institutions have responded to major scholarly debates concerning first year composition and writing program administration Isaacs s findings are surprising state university writing programs give lip service to important principles of writing research but many still emphasize grammar instruction and a skills based approach classes continue to be outsized faculty development is optional and orientation toward basic writing is generally remedial As such she considers where a closer match between writing research and writing instruction might help to expose and remedy these difficulties and identifies strategies and areas where faculty or writing program administrators are empowered to enact change Unique in its wide scope and methodology Writing at the State U sheds much needed light on the true state of the writing discipline at state universities and demonstrates the advantages of more frequent and rigorous quantitative studies of the field

CCCC Bibliography of Composition and Rhetoric 1993 Gail E. Hawisher, Cynthia L. Selfe, 1995-06 Greatly expanded over past years this volume lists and annotates 2 054 articles books dissertations and papers that with few exceptions appeared in 1993 It includes an index of authors and editors a subject index and entries cross referenced according to subject matter Entries in this present volume include topics with which rhetoricians and compositionists have always concerned themselves The 1993 volume is however the largest CCCC Bibliography so far with many of its titles dealing with the relationship of composition and rhetoric to critical theory gender issues and cultural studies This volume also differs from earlier editions in that it contains a new section on electronic discussion groups or listservs including information on how readers may join the various groups The CCCC Bibliography of Composition and Rhetoric draws on a large group of experts in the field Annotations which accompany every entry in this volume describe a publication s contents and are intended to help users determine its usefulness Annotations are brief and are meant to be descriptive not evaluative they explain what an entry is about but leave readers free to judge for themselves the work s merits

Concepts in Composition Irene L. Clark, 2019-05-13 Concepts in Composition is designed to foster reflection on how theory impacts practice allowing prospective teachers to assume the dual role of both teacher and student as they enter the discipline of Writing Studies and become familiar with some of its critical conversations Now in its third edition the volume offers up to date scholarship and a deeper focus on diversity both in the classroom and in relation to Writing Studies and literacy more broadly This text continues to offer a wealth of practical assignments classroom activities and readings in each chapter It is the ideal resource for the undergraduate or graduate student looking to pursue a career in writing instruction

Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,2002-04 Experimental Writing in Composition Patricia Suzanne Sullivan,2012-12-15 From the outset experimental writing has been viewed as a means to afford a more creative space for students to express individuality underrepresented social realities and criticisms of dominant socio political discourses and their institutions Yet the recent trend toward multimedia texts has left many composition instructors with little basis from which to assess these new forms and to formulate pedagogies In this original study Patricia Suzanne Sullivan provides a critical history of experimental writing theory and its aesthetic foundations and demonstrates their application to current multimodal writing Sullivan unpacks the work of major scholars in composition and rhetoric and their theories on aesthetics particularly avant gardism She also relates the dialectics that shape these aesthetics and sheds new light on both the positive and negative aspects of experimental writing and its attempts to redefine the writing disciplines Additionally she shows how current debates over the value of multimedia texts echo earlier arguments that pitted experimental writing against traditional models Sullivan further articulates the ways that multimedia is and isn't changing composition pedagogies and provides insights into resolving these tensions

A Counter-History of Composition Byron Hawk,2007-11-25 A Counter History of Composition contests the foundational disciplinary assumption that vitalism and contemporary rhetoric represent opposing disconnected poles in the writing tradition Vitalism has been historically linked to expressivism and concurrently dismissed as innate intuitive and unteachable whereas rhetoric is seen as a rational teachable method for producing argumentative texts Counter to this Byron Hawk identifies vitalism as the ground for producing rhetorical texts the product of complex material relations rather than the product of chance Through insightful historical analysis ranging from classical Greek rhetoric to contemporary complexity theory Hawk defines three forms of vitalism oppositional investigative and complex and argues for their application in the environments where students write and think today Hawk proposes that complex vitalism will prove a useful tool in formulating post dialectical pedagogies most notably in the context of emerging digital media He relates two specific examples of applying complex vitalism in the classroom and calls for the reexamination and reinvention of current self limiting pedagogies to incorporate vitalism and complexity theory

Reinventing (with) Theory in Rhetoric and Writing Studies Andrea Alden,Kendall Gerdes,Judy Holiday,Ryan Skinnell,2019-10-21 Reinventing with Theory in Rhetoric and Writing Studies collects original scholarship that takes up and extends the practices of inventive theorizing that characterize Sharon Crowley's body of work Including sixteen chapters by established and emerging scholars and an interview with Crowley the book shows that doing theory is a contingent and continual rhetorical process that is indispensable for understanding situations and their potential significance and for discovering the available means of persuasion For Crowley theory is a basic building block of rhetoric produced by and within specific times and locations as a means of opening other ways of believing or acting Doing theory in this sense is the practice of surveying the common sense of the community doxa and discovering the available means of persuasion invention The ultimate goal of doing theory is not to prescribe certain actions but to ascertain what options exist for rhetors to see the world differently to discover new possibilities for thought and action and thereby to effect change in the world The scholarship collected in Reinventing with Theory in Rhetoric and Writing Studies takes Crowley's notion of theory as an invitation to develop new avenues for believing and acting By reinventing the understanding of theory and its role in the field this collection makes an important contribution to scholarship in rhetorical studies and writing studies It will be valuable to scholars teachers and students interested in diverse theoretical directions in rhetoric and writing studies as well as in race gender and disability theories religious rhetorics digital rhetoric and the history of rhetoric Publication supported in part by the Texas Tech University Humanities Center Contributors Jason Barrett Fox Geoffrey Clegg Kirsti Cole Joshua Daniel Wariya Diane Davis Rebecca Disrud Bre Garrett Catherine C Gouge Debra Hawhee Matthew Heard Joshua C Hilst David G Holmes Bruce Horner William B Lalicker Jennifer Lin LeMesurier James C McDonald Timothy Oleksiak Dawn Penich Thacker J Blake Scott Victor J Vitanza Susan Wyche

Towards a Rhetoric of Everyday Life Martin Nystrand, John Duffy, 2003 Rhetoric has traditionally studied acts of persuasion in the affairs of government and men but this work investigates the language of other non traditional rhetors including immigrants women urban children and others who have long been on the margins of civic life and political forums

Research on Composition Peter Smagorinsky, 2006 Covering the period between 1984 and 2003 this authoritative sequel picks up where the earlier volumes Braddock et al 1963 and Hillocks 1986 now classics in the field left off It features a broader focus that goes beyond the classroom teaching of writing to include teacher research second language writing rhetoric home and community literacy workplace literacy and histories of writing Each chapter is written by an expert in the area reviewed and covers both conventional written composition and multimodal forms of composition including drawing digital forms and other relevant media Research on Composition is an invaluable road map of composition research for the next decade and required reading for anyone teaching or writing about composition today

Rhetoric at the Margins David Gold, 2008-03-06 Rhetoric at the Margins Revising the History of Writing Instruction in American Colleges 1873 1947 examines the rhetorical education of African American female and working class college students in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries The rich case studies in this work encourage a reconceptualization of both the history of rhetoric and composition and the ways we make use of it Author David Gold uses archival materials to study three types of institutions historically underrepresented in disciplinary histories a black liberal arts college in rural East Texas Wiley College a public women's college Texas Woman's University and an independent teacher training school East Texas Normal College The case studies complement and challenge previous disciplinary histories and suggest that the epistemological schema that have long applied to pedagogical practices may actually limit our understanding of those practices Gold argues that each of these schools championed intellectual and pedagogical traditions that differed from the Eastern liberal arts model a model that often serves as the standard bearer for rhetorical education He demonstrates that by emphasizing community uplift and civic participation and attending to local needs these schools created contexts in which otherwise moribund curricular features of the era such as strict classroom discipline and an emphasis on prescription took on new possibilities Rhetoric at the Margins describes the recent revisionist turn in rhetoric and composition historiography argues for the importance of diverse institutional microhistories and argues that the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries offer rich lessons for contemporary classroom practice The study brings alive the voices of black female rural Southern and first generation college students and their instructors effectively linking these histories to the history of rhetoric and writing Appendices include excerpts of important and rarely seen primary source material allowing readers to experience in fuller detail the voices captured in this work

Composition In The University Sharon Crowley, 1998-05-15 Composition in the University examines the required introductory course in composition within American colleges and universities According to Sharon Crowley the required composition course has never been conceived in the way that other introductory courses have been as an introduction to the principles and practices of a field of study Rather it has been constructed throughout much of its history as a site from which larger educational and ideological agendas could be advanced and such agendas have not always served the interests of students or teachers even though they are usually touted as programs of study that students need If there is a master narrative of the history of composition it is told in the institutional attitude that has governed administration design and staffing of the course from its beginnings the attitude that the universal requirement is in place in order to construct docile academic subjects Crowley argues that due to its association with literary studies in English departments composition instruction has been inappropriately influenced by humanist pedagogy and that modern humanism is not a satisfactory rationale for the study of writing She examines historical attempts to reconfigure the required course in nonhumanist terms such as the advent of communications studies during the 1940s Crowley devotes two essays to this phenomenon concentrating on the furor caused by the adoption of a communications program at the University of Iowa Composition in the University concludes with a pair of essays that argue against maintenance of the universal requirement In the last of these Crowley envisions possible nonhumanist rationales that could be developed for vertical curricula in writing instruction were the universal requirement not in place Crowley presents her findings in a series of essays because she feels the history of the required composition course cannot easily be understood as a coherent narrative since understandings of the purpose of the required course have altered rapidly from decade to decade sometimes in shockingly sudden and erratic fashion The essays in this book are informed by Crowley s long career of teaching composition administering a composition program and training teachers of the required introductory course The book also draw on experience she gained while working with committees formed by the Conference on College Composition and Communication toward implementation of the Wyoming Resolution an attempt to better the working conditions of post secondary teachers of writing
