Psychology in Education Tim Corcoran, 2014-05-13 Psychology's contribution to education has produced a persuasive and burgeoning literature willing to measure e.g. intelligence quotients, categorise e.g. learning and/or behavioural difficulties and pathologise e.g. psychiatric disorders students across learning contexts. Practices like these pervade relationships existing between psychology and education because they share in common certain views of people and the worlds in which they learn. There is however increased acknowledgement that contemporary practice demands alternate ways of working. As learning communities and educators endeavour to make a difference in people's lives they are critically questioning how their use of psychology in education constitutes future possibilities for personhood and psychosocial action. In this book a group of respected international scholars examine controversies presently facing the enduring relationship between psychology and education. The book will appeal to readers who are interested in the innovative development and application of psychological theories and practices in to education. The book will be of interest to transnational audiences and is accessible to scholars and students in disciplines including psychology, education, sociology, social work, youth studies, public and allied health. The volume includes contributions from Tom Billington, Christopher Boyle, Lise Bird, Claiborne Tim Corcoran, Greg Goodman, Jack Martin, Athanasios Marvakis and Ioanna Petritsi, Jace Pillay, Isaac Prilleltensky, Anna Stetsenko, Jeff Sugarman and Stephen Vassallo with a Foreword by Ben Bradley. Tim Corcoran is Senior Research Fellow and Senior Lecturer in Critical Psychology at The Victoria Institute, Victoria University, Melbourne, Australia. He has extensive experience in educational psychology both as a school psychologist and researcher/academic. His work has involved teaching, research and professional practice in Australia, the UK, Singapore and Iraq.

New Frontiers in Ethnography Sam Hillyard, 2010-11-04 Addresses continuities and innovations within the ethnographic canon. This title uses Hammersley's 1991 book What's Wrong with Ethnography to open and situate the debate and engages with contemporary debates and arguments on both sides of the Atlantic.

Learning from the Margins Julie McLeod, Andrea C Allard, 2013-02-01 This collection of ground-breaking international essays address the educational, social work and biographical experiences of young women who are routinely constructed as at risk and on the margins. Drawing on research from an international range of scholars, this book brings together important new perspectives on the gendered dimensions of social exclusion and educational marginalisation. It offers practitioners as well as researchers insights into how to research social marginalisation and reflections on projects and programmes that have attempted to do so. Chapters investigate key topics such as early school leaving, indigenous young women and schooling, pregnant and parenting young women, at school constructions of health, subjectivity and social class, the politics of ethnicity. Provocative and insightful, this book will make interesting reading to students and post graduate students of education, youth studies, gender studies, sociology and social work.

Finding Culture in Talk N. Quinn, 2016-09-23 This edited collection presents a range of heretofore unpublished/unavailable methods for the systematic reconstruction of culture from interviews.

and other discourse Authors set the design and evolution of their methods in the context of their own research projects and draw general lessons about investigating culture through discourse These methods have largely grown out of the work of the cultural models school and represent the approaches of some of the very best methodologists in cultural anthropology today An impetus for the volume has been inquiries from researchers many of them graduate students about how to conduct the kind of research that cultural models theorists do This is not a linguistics book unlike approaches to discourse analysis from linguistics this volume focuses on culture treating discourse as a medium especially rich in clues for cultural analysis and hence a window into culture

New Directions in Social Theory, Education and Embodiment John Evans, Brian Davies, 2014-10-29 This book exemplifies the nurturing spirit of inter discursive debate with a view to opening up new theoretical and empirical insights understanding and engagement with debates on issues relating to pedagogy policy equity and embodiment From a variety of social science perspectives an international force of contributors apply a multitude of concepts to research agendas which illustrate the multiple ways in which the body both impacts culture and is simultaneously and seamlessly positioned and shaped by it maintaining social reproduction of class and cultural hierarchies and social regulation and control They attest that once we begin to trace the flow of knowledge and discourses across continents countries regions and communities by registering their re contextualisation both within various popular pedagogies e g newspapers film TV web pages IT and the formal and informal practices of schools families and peers we are compelled to appreciate the bewildering complexity of subjectivity and the ways in which it is embodied Indeed the chapters suggest that no matter how hegemonic or ubiquitous discursive practices may be they inevitably tend to generate both intended and unexpected affects and effects people and populations cannot easily be determined suppressed or controlled This book was originally published as a special issue of Sport Education and Society

Social and Dialogic Thinking and Learning in Special Education Karen A. Erickson, Charna D'Ardenne, Nitasha M. Clark, David A. Koppenhaver, George W. Noblit, 2021-12-28 Drawing on a three year post critical ethnography this volume counters deficit based notions of disability to present a new social and dialogic theory of thinking and learning for students with significant support needs Dismantling ideas around ableism disableism Social and Dialogic Thinking and Learning offers a uniquely theoretical and conceptual contribution to special education and capability research Illustrating how students exhibit varied practical social and creative abilities possess agency and perform identity chapters present a challenge to the restrictive ways in which disability is constructed through prescriptive forms of teacher student interaction and instruction The text ultimately offers a powerful re imagining of how educators and researchers can perceive observe and respond to students beyond current institutional and cultural norms This text will benefit researchers academics and educators with an interest in inclusion and special educational needs disability studies and the theories of learning more broadly Those specifically interested in educational psychology and the study of severe profound and multiple learning difficulties will also benefit from this book

Becoming a Teen Mom Mary Patrice Erdmans, Timothy Black, 2015-02-06 In 2013 New York City launched a public education campaign with posters of frowning or crying children saying such things as I m twice as likely not to graduate high school because you had me as a teen and Honestly Mom chances are he won t stay with you Campaigns like this support a public narrative that portrays teen mothers as threatening the moral order bankrupting state coffers and causing high rates of poverty incarceration and school dropout These efforts demonize teen mothers but tell us nothing about their lives before they became pregnant In this myth shattering book the authors tell the life stories of 108 brown white and black teen mothers exposing the problems in their lives often overlooked in pregnancy prevention campaigns Some stories are tragic and painful marked by sexual abuse partner violence and school failure Others depict girl next door characters whose unintended pregnancies lay bare insidious gender disparities Offering a fresh perspective on the links between teen births and social inequalities this book demonstrates how the intersecting hierarchies of gender race and class shape the biographies of young mothers

Unresolved Identities Bic Ngo, 2012-02-01 In her ethnographic study of Lao American students at an urban public high school Bic Ngo shows how simplistic accounts of these students smooth over unfinished precarious identities and contested social relations Exploring the ways that immigrant youth identities are shaped by dominant discourses that simplify and confine their experiences within binary categories of good bad traditional modern and success failure she unmask and examines the stories we tell about them and unsettles the hegemony of discourses that frame identities within discrete dualisms Rather than cohesive the identity negotiations of Lao American students are responses that modify resist or echo these discourses Ngo argues that while Lao American students are changing what it means to be urban and immigrant youth most people are unable to read them as doing so and instead see the youth as confused backward and problematic By illuminating the discursive practices of identity this study underscores the need to conceptualize urban immigrant identities as contradictory fractured and unresolved

Getting in the Game Deborah L. Brake, 2012-08-20 Title IX a landmark federal statute enacted in 1972 to prohibit sex discrimination in education has worked its way into American culture as few other laws have The subject of web blogs and T shirt slogans it is credited with opening the doors to the massive numbers of girls and women now participating in competitive sports yet few people fully understand the extent to which it has succeeded in challenging the gender norms that have circumscribed women's place in society more generally In this legal analysis of Title IX the author a law professor assesses the statute's successes and failures She provides an understanding and appreciation of what Title IX has accomplished while taking a critical look at the places where it has fallen short

Schooling Sexual Cultures Louisa Allen, 2017-03-31 Moving beyond the traditional focus on curriculum and pedagogy this volume explores hidden dimensions of sexuality education in schools and how sexual meanings are produced Challenging the standard understandings of sexuality education Allen discusses how students' knowledge of sexualities is often learnt outside the official school curriculum in informal spaces such as the sports field gym locker rooms and peer groups By employing visual methods and analysing student photo diaries Allen's original book captures a sexual culture of schooling that allow readers to literally see through young people's eyes Introducing theoretical ideas in relation to queer theory and new feminist new materialisms this volume calls for a re-conceptualization of how sexuality comes into being at school in order to take account of its material spatial and embodied elements

Deconstructing Developmental Psychology Erica Burman, 2007-09-12 What is childhood and why and how did psychology come to be the arbiter of correct or normal development How do actual lived childhoods connect with theories about child development In this completely revised and updated edition Deconstructing Developmental Psychology interrogates the assumptions and practices surrounding the psychology of child development providing a critical evaluation of the role and contribution of developmental psychology within social practice In the decade since the first edition was published there have been many major changes The role accorded childcare experts and the power of the psychology complex have if anything intensified This book addresses how shifts in advanced capitalism have produced new understandings of children and a new and more punitive range of institutional responses to children It engages with the paradoxes of childhood in an era when young adults are increasingly economically dependent on their families and in a political context of heightened insecurity The new edition includes an updated review of developments in psychological theory in attachment evolutionary psychology theory of mind cultural historical approaches as well as updating and reflecting upon the changed focus on fathers and fathering It offers new perspectives on the connections between Piaget and Vygotsky and now connects much more closely with discussions from the sociology of childhood and critical educational research

Coverage has been expanded to include more material on child rights debates and a new chapter addresses practice dilemmas around child protection which engages even more with the raced and gendered effects of current policies involving children This engaging and accessible text provides key resources to inform better professional practice in social work education and health contexts It offers critical insights into the politics and procedures that have shaped developmental psychological knowledge It will be essential reading for anyone working with children or concerned with policies around children and families It was also be of interest to students at undergraduate and postgraduate levels across a range of professional and practitioner groups as well as parents and policy makers

Black Educational Choice Diana T. Slaughter-Kotzin, Howard C. Stevenson, Edith G. Arrington, Deborah J. Johnson, 2011-11-08 This important book provides African American parents with the knowledge to diversify K 12 school choices beyond traditional neighborhood public schools in order to optimize the educational chances of their own children and it will help educators and policymakers to close the black white academic achievement gap throughout America Closing the K 12 achievement gap is critical to the future welfare of African American individuals families and communities and to the future of our nation as a whole The black white academic achievement gap the significant statistical difference in academic performance between African American students and their white peers is the single greatest impediment to achieving racial equality and social justice in America Black Educational Choice provides parents citizens educators and policymakers the critical knowledge they need to leverage the national trend toward increasing and diversifying K 12 school choice beyond traditional neighborhood public schools Parents can use this information to optimize the success of their own African American children while policymakers and educators can apply these insights to help close the black white academic achievement gap throughout America The book collects the interdisciplinary multi racial and multi ethnic perspectives of education experts to address the questions of millions of anxious African American families Would sending our children to a private school or a charter school significantly better their chances of closing the achievement gap and becoming successful individuals And if so what kinds of challenges would they likely experience in these alternative educational settings

Children Framing Childhoods Wendy Luttrell, 2020-02-12 Urban educational research practice and policy is preoccupied with problems brokenness stigma and blame As a result too many people are unable to recognize the capacities and desires of children and youth growing up in working class communities This book offers an alternative angle of vision animated by young people s own photographs videos and perspectives over time It shows how a racially ethnically and linguistically diverse community of young people in Worcester MA used cameras at different ages 10 12 16 and 18 to capture and value the centrality of care in their lives homes and classrooms Luttrell's immersive creative and layered analysis of the young people's images and narratives boldly refutes biased assumptions about working class childhoods and re-visions schools as inclusive imaginative and care-full spaces. With an accompanying website featuring additional digital resources childrenframingchildhoods.com this book challenges us to see differently and thus set our sights on a better future.

Reconceptualizing Curriculum, Literacy, and Learning for School-Age Mothers Heidi Hallman, Abigail Kindelsperger, 2018-10-09

Reconceptualizing Curriculum Literacy and Learning for School Age Mothers offers a portrait of classroom literacy practices and learning opportunities that are provided for school age mothers in two different schools. Through a series of case studies of school sites teachers and students this book presents evidence of how these at risk students use literacy in complex ways in the classroom and in their everyday lives. Attuned to the struggle for school age mothers access to meaningful and challenging curriculum in public schools as well as to the relative dearth of scholarly research on the topic this volume demonstrates how educators can rethink the issue of schooling for this population of students.
