Commission on Human Rights, 2005 The Human Rights City Michele Grigolo, 2019-04-11 We are used to thinking of human rights as a matter for state governments to deal with Much less investigated is the question of what cities do with them even though urban communities and municipalities have been discussing human rights for quite some time In this volume Grigolo borrows the concept of the human rights city to invite us to think about a new urban utopia a place where human rights strive to guide urban life By turning the question of the meaning and use of human rights in cities into the object of critical investigation this book tracks the genesis institutionalisation and implementation of human rights in cities focussing on New York San Francisco and Barcelona Touching also upon matters such as women s rights LGBT rights and migrant rights The Human Rights City emphasises how human rights can serve urban justice but also a neoliberal practice of the city This book is a useful resource for scholars and students interested in fields such as Sociology of Human Rights Sociology of Law International Law Urban Sociology Political Sociology and Social Policies Madison Avenue and the Color Line Jason Chambers, 2011-08-24 Until now most works on the history of African Americans in advertising have focused on the depiction of blacks in advertisements As the first comprehensive examination of African American participation in the industry Madison Avenue and the Color Line breaks new ground by examining the history of black advertising employees and agency owners For much of the twentieth century even as advertisers chased African American consumer dollars the doors to most advertising agencies were firmly closed to African American professionals Over time black participation in the industry resulted from the combined efforts of black media civil rights groups black consumers government organizations and black advertising and marketing professionals working outside white agencies Blacks positioned themselves for jobs within the advertising industry especially as experts on the black consumer market and then used their status to alter stereotypical perceptions of black consumers By doing so they became part of the broader effort to build an African American professional and entrepreneurial class and to challenge the negative portrayals of blacks in American culture Using an extensive review of advertising trade journals government documents and organizational papers as well as personal interviews and the advertisements themselves Jason Chambers weaves individual biographies together with broader events in U S history to tell how blacks struggled to bring equality to the advertising industry Library Catalogue of the Institute of Race Relations, London: Author catalogue Institute of Race Relations, Institute of Race Relations. Sociology and the Race Problem James B. McKee,1993 Tracing developments in the sociology of race relations from the 1920s to the 1960s McKee maintains that sociologists assumed the United States would move unimpeded toward modernization and assimilation aided by industrialization and urbanization The fatal flaw in their perspective was the notion that blacks were culturally inferior backward and pre modern a people who had lost their own culture and couldn't grasp that of their new society Designed to detail a failure the author says is widely acknowledged but little examined this book will be of interest to both specialists and general readers Masterful McKee transports the reader back to the intellectual world in which the early sociologists worked and does not simply treat them as evil racists His approach is informed by the sociology of knowledge Lewis M Killian author of The Impossible Revolution Phase 2 Black Power and the American Dream
