Race, Class & the Apartheid State Harold Wolpe,1990 The Truth of Žižek Paul Bowman,Richard Stamp,2007-05-17
Slavoj Žižek is widely regarded as one of the world's most important contemporary thinkers. His work has contributed dramatically to the reinvention and revivification of many key theoretical and political debates. Indeed, his vociferous and challenging body of work amounts to a sustained ground-breaking terrain-shifting and far-reaching intervention into a large number of academic disciplines, intellectual fields and cultural debates. The Truth of Žižek addresses the rigorous critical assessment demanded by this broad and increasingly influential corpus. This timely and compelling collection of essays from an international team of leading Žižekian scholars addresses the full range of Žižek's theoretical interventions, assessing critically the political, philosophical, psychoanalytical, cultural and institutional stakes of his work. Each chapter engages with and challenges Žižek's thought to explicate a key aspect of his work, clarifying its importance and challenging its claims through rigorous critique. By focusing on Žižek's contributions to these disciplines, fields and debates, this collection sets out to diagnose and assess the emergence of a Žižekian moment within contemporary intellectual, cultural and political events. The Truth of Žižek provides the first sustained engagement with and assessment of the significant impact of Žižek's work. This compelling and valuable collection of essays from cutting-edge scholars picks up the gauntlet thrown down by Žižek: the demand that his readers respond with the coldness and cruelty of true friendship. The Politics of South African Cricket Jon Gemmell,2004-03-31 Jon Gemmell analyses the relationship between sport and politics through a historical analysis of South African cricket. Frontline Nationalism in Angola & Mozambique David Birmingham,1992 Racism After Apartheid Vishwas Satgar,2019-03-01 Racism after Apartheid volume four of the Democratic Marxism series brings together leading scholars and activists from around the world studying and challenging racism. In eleven thematically rich and conceptually informed chapters, the contributors interrogate the complex nexus of questions surrounding race and relations of oppression as they are played out in the global South and global North. Their work challenges Marxism and anti-racism to take these lived realities seriously and consistently struggle to build human solidarities. Ordoliberalism, State and Society Olimpia Malatesta,2025-01-31 This book provides a new interpretation of ordoliberalism, the influential German version of neoliberalism, by exploring the political, legal and social context of its emergence. Ordoliberal scholars regarded sociology, juridical science and economics as concrete policy-making instruments designed to discipline the structural conflicts of modern society. For in their view, society should not impinge on the economy. Ordoliberalism is here presented as a political theory of social order developing out of the crisis of the Weimar Republic and which has proven to be one of the most influential neoliberal accounts of social organization after WWII. Assessing the influence that leading German intellectuals such as Sombart, Schmoller, Savigny and Schmitt have exerted on ordoliberalism, this book provides an in-depth analysis of the social, legal and political theory of Walter Eucken, Franz Böhm, Alfred Müller-Armack, Wilhelm Röpke and Alexander Rüstow.

In so doing the book offers an invaluable study of the ideological roots of the notion of an economic constitution and a political theoretical analysis of one of the first articulations of authoritarian liberalism at the European level This book will appeal to scholars and students of legal social political and economic theory South Africa, Past, Present and Future Tony Binns, Alan Lester, Etienne Nel, 2014-09-25 This is the first book to combine a discussion of post apartheid development initiatives with an extended historical analysis of South Africa s dynamic race class gender and ethnic identities Bringing together the research of an historical geographer and two development geographers the book enables us to locate the post apartheid transition in a broad historical and spatial perspective Within this perspective the limitations as well as the achievements of South Africa s current transformation are highlighted The Road to Democracy in South Africa: 1970-1980 South African Democracy Education Trust, 2004 v 3 The third volume in the series examines the role of anti apartheid movements around the world The global anti apartheid movement was very successful in creating awareness of the liberation struggle in South Africa and in contributing to the downfall of the apartheid government This volume in 2 parts brings together analyses which in the main are written by activist scholars with deep roots in the movements and organizations they are writing about World City Syndrome David Alexander McDonald, 2008 The literature on e world cities e tm has had an enormous influence on urban theory and planning alike From Manila to London academics and policy makers have attempted to understand and to some extent strive for world city status This book is a study of Cape Town e tm s standing in this network of urban centres and an investigation of the conceptual appropriateness of this world city hypothesis Drawing on more than a dozen years of fieldwork in Cape Town McDonald provides an historical overview of institutional and structural reforms examining fiscal imbalances political marginalization de racialization privatization and other neoliberal changes By examining and analyzes these reforms and changes McDonald contributes the first radical critique of the world city literature from a developing country perspective A History of Resistance in Namibia Peter H. Katjavivi, 1990 An account of the struggles that led to elections after 23 years of illegal occupation by neighboring South Africa Researching Racism Muzammil Quraishi, Rob Philburn, 2015-04-21 A welcome and overdue contribution to the field Identifying a need for an empirical guide to complement the abundant theoretical literature this book combines a variety of practical avenues of advice with analytical sophistication without losing any of the subject matter s complexities The contextual chapters are well judged and informative while readers will surely find the careful selection and very clear presentation of the case studies particularly useful in thinking through the projects from start to completion Steve Garner Open University This book offers a one stop guide to the meaning of racism key studies in the field core methodologies and an agenda for research for the future Discussing the salient aspects of race and racism in contemporary society alongside methodological and practical considerations of qualitative research in the field Researching Racism is not only an original textbook but also a crucial guide for anyone beginning their own research on racism Based on Muzammil Quraishi and Rob

Philburn's extensive background as researchers, supervisors and teachers, this book offers a clear and accessible account of an interdisciplinary and complex topic, incorporates historical, legislative and international dimensions of race and racism, outlines and illustrates a range of qualitative research methods, provides case studies and engaging examples, includes a tool kit for researchers of racism. This is an indispensable guide for students wanting to research race and racism across the social sciences. The Palgrave Encyclopedia of Imperialism and Anti-Imperialism Immanuel Ness, Zak Cope, 2016-04-29 The Palgrave Encyclopedia of Imperialism and Anti-Imperialism objectively presents the prominent themes, epochal events, theoretical explanations and historical accounts of imperialism from 1776 to the present. It is the most historically and academically comprehensive examination of the subject to date. Subject Guide to Books in Print, 1993 The Apartheid City and Beyond David M. Smith, 2003-09-02 Apartheid as legislated racial separation substantially changed the South African urban scene. Race group areas remodelled the cities while the creation of homelands, mini states and the pass laws controlling population migration constrained urbanization itself. In the mid 1980s the old system, having proved economically inefficient and politically divisive, was replaced by a new policy of orderly urbanization. This sought to accelerate industrialization and cultural change by relaxing the constraints on urbanization imposed by state planning. The result was further political instability and a quarter of the black or African population housed in shanty towns. Negotiations between the Nationalist government and the African National Congress are working towards the end of the old apartheid system. Yet the negation of apartheid is only the beginning of the creation of a new society. The vested interests and entrenched ideologies behind the existing pattern of property ownership survive the abolition of apartheid laws. Beyond race, class and ethnicity will continue to divide urban life. If the cities of South Africa are to serve all the people, the accelerating process of urbanization must be brought under control and harnessed to a new purpose. The contributors to this volume draw on a broad range of experience and disciplines to present a variety of perspectives on urban South Africa. Geography in a Changing South Africa Christian Myles Rogerson, J. J. McCarthy, 1992 Geography in the 1990s is a dynamic and diverse discipline. South Africa offers a particularly rich and fascinating subject for research because of its unique blend of First and Third Worlds and the challenges presented by political change. The contributors to this volume debate geographical issues which are at the cutting edge of contemporary local and international research on South Africa. Environmental degradation, urban and rural planning, transport, the future role of women and popular culture are among the broad range of topics covered. A full listing of current research into these topics is provided at the end of the book to facilitate further enquiry. The Political Economy of South Africa Nicoli Nattrass, Elisabeth Ardington, 1990 A collection of essays on the South African political economy, this book addresses a range of issues relevant to the current political and economic climate in South Africa. Chapters include such topics as social democracy, regional development, policy redistribution, black wages, trade unions, unemployment, urbanization, migrant labor, small business, economic sanctions and poverty. Predicaments of Knowledge Suren Pillay, 2024-09-01

Predicaments of Knowledge explores the difficult questions South African universities face after apartheid Is there a difference between Africanising a university and decolonising a university What about differences between deracialising and decolonising the curricula taught at universities across disciplines Through a range of reflections on race language colonial postcolonial and decolonial knowledge projects from Africa and Latin America this book explores the pitfalls and possibilities that face a post apartheid generation inventing the future of knowledge The distinctions between Africanisation decolonisation and deracialisation are often conflated in the political demands put to universities Suren Pillay emphasises all three as important but distinct imperatives If an intervention is undertaken with the aim of decolonising the university while actually addressing deracialisation it can undermine the effort to decolonise Similarly if an initiative to Africanise the university does not address decolonisation both processes can be undermined Drawing on more than two and a half decades of the author s participation in these debates these essays aim to intervene in and elucidate questions and predicaments rather than offering blue prints they are dialogical in spirit even when polemical in tone In conversation with existing continental African and Latin American experiences they offer incisive reflections on current South African debates

Neoliberal Apartheid Andy Clarno, 2017-03-07 This is the first comparative analysis of the political transitions in South Africa and Palestine since the 1990s Clarno s study is grounded in impressive ethnographic fieldwork taking him from South African townships to Palestinian refugee camps where he talked to a wide array of informants from local residents to policymakers political activists business representatives and local and international security personnel The resulting inquiry accounts for the simultaneous development of extreme inequality racialized poverty and advanced strategies for securing the powerful and policing the poor in South Africa and Palestine Israel over the last 20 years Clarno places these transitions in a global context while arguing that a new form of neoliberal apartheid has emerged in both countries The width and depth of Clarno s research combined with wide ranging first hand accounts of realities otherwise difficult for researchers to access make Neoliberal Apartheid a path breaking contribution to the study of social change political transitions and security dynamics in highly unequal societies Take one example of Clarno s major themes to wit the issue of security Both places have generated advanced strategies for securing the powerful and policing the racialized poor In South Africa racialized anxieties about black crime shape the growth of private security forces that police poor black South Africans in wealthy neighborhoods Meanwhile a discourse of Muslim terrorism informs the coordinated network of security forces involving Israel the United States Jordan and the Palestinian Authority that polices Palestinians in the West Bank Overall Clarno s pathbreaking book shows how the shifting relationship between racism capitalism colonialism and empire has generated inequality and insecurity marginalization and securitization in South Africa Palestine Israel and other parts of the world Race Ethnicity and Difference: Imagining the Inclusive Society Peter Ratcliffe, 2004-06-16 This excellent book provides an extremely readable account which deserves to be widely read by a more general audience In short the author in making sense of current imaginings presents a mix of theoretical and empirical debates as he challenges exclusionary forces The book's principal aim is to take a critical look at the nature and sources of inequalities in contemporary societies and examine the prospects for an inclusive society This aim captures an important strength of the text as the analysis attempts to move beyond simple description and provide explanations and possible solutions to enable policy and practice to tackle disadvantage and discrimination Social Policy This book addresses many of the key problems facing contemporary societies The social significance attached to various forms of difference most notably race and ethnicity has been seen as resulting in the exclusion of some groups from their full rights as citizens This in turn is viewed as presenting a series of barriers to the creation of more inclusive societies Peter Ratcliffe explores these arguments in a variety of substantive contexts for example immigration and the treatment of refugees and asylum seekers housing and segregation education labour markets and policing and urban conflict Particular emphasis is placed on the role of social agency on the part of minorities in confronting exclusionary forces This lively and highly readable account deals with difficult theoretical ethical and policy issues without resort to unnecessary jargon It is essential reading for undergraduate students in sociology social policy urban geography law and political science and is also of value to the general reader and researcher The Colour of Business Kanya Adam, 2000
