Mixed Media in Contemporary American Literature Joelle Mann, 2021-06-28. Mixed Media in Contemporary American Literature Voices Gone Viral investigates the formation and formulation of the contemporary novel through a historical analysis of voice studies and media studies. After situating research through voices of nineteenth and twentieth century American literature, this book examines the expressions of a multi-media vocality, examining the interactions among cultural polemics, aesthetic forms and changing media in the twenty-first century. The novel studies shown here trace the ways in which the viral aesthetics of the contemporary novel move language out of context, recontextualizing human testimony by galvanizing mixed media forms that shape contemporary literature in our age of networks. Through readings of American authors such as Claudia Rankine, David Foster Wallace, Jennifer Egan, Junot Díaz, Michael Chabon, Joseph O'Neill, Michael Cunningham and Colum McCann, the book considers how voice acts as a site where identities combine, conform and are questioned relationally. By listening to and tracing the spoken and unspoken voices of the novel, the author identifies a politics of listening and speaking in our mediated informational society.

Race, Myth and the News Christopher P. Campbell, 1995-02-28. How are the perceptions of the majority culture, the preferred readings reflected in television news? How do they reinforce stereotyped attitudes on race? This interpretive analysis presents evidence of racism including underrepresentation within news texts. The author examines the values, traditions and practices of news production that often unconsciously serve to maintain the alienation of racial groups in society. While the focus is on local television news in the United States, Race, Myth and the News has a broad relevance to studies of culture and race.

Teaching with Tension Philathia Bolton, Cassander L. Smith, Lee Bebout, 2019-01-15. Teaching with Tension is a collection of seventeen original essays that address the extent to which attitudes about race impacted by the current political moment in the United States have produced pedagogical challenges for professors in the humanities. As a flashpoint, this current political moment is defined by the visibility of the country's first black president, the election of his successor whose presidency has been associated with an increased visibility of the alt-right and the emergence of the neoliberal university. Together, these social currents shape the tensions with which we teach. Drawing together personal reflection, pedagogical strategies and critical theory, Teaching with Tension offers concrete examinations that will foster student learning. The essays are organized into three thematic sections. Teaching in Times and Places of Struggle examines the dynamics of teaching race during the current moment marked by neoconservative politics and twenty first century freedom struggles Teaching in the Neoliberal University focuses on how pressures and exigencies of neoliberalism such as individualism customer service models of education and online courses impact the way in which race is taught and conceptualized in college classes The final section Teaching How to Read Race and Counter Narratives homes in on direct strategies used to historicize race in classrooms comprised of millennials who grapple with race neutral ideologies Taken together these sections and their constitutive essays offer rich and fruitful insight into the complex dynamics of contemporary race and ethnic studies education Ethnic Studies Philip Q. Yang, 2000-04-13 Defines the field of ethnic studies and explores its methodologies The Oxford Handbook of African American Citizenship, 1865-Present Henry Louis Gates, Jr., 2012-05-24 Collection of essays tracing the historical evolution of African American experiences from the dawn of Reconstruction onward through the perspectives of sociology political science law economics education and psychology As a whole the book is a systematic study of the gap between promise and performance of African Americans since 1865 Over the course of thirty four chapters contributors present a portrait of the particular hurdles faced by African Americans and the distinctive contributions African Americans have made to the development of U S institutions and culture From publisher description Opening Doors Harry J. Knopke, Robert Jefferson Norrell, Ronald W. Rogers, 1991 On June 11 1963 The University of Alabama provided the backdrop for what would become a lasting symbol in U S civil right history With his stand in the schoolhouse door staged at Foster Auditorium on the University s campus Governor George C Wallace attempted to defy a federal mandate by blocking the admission of two black students to the University The nature of racial prejudice and discrimination its causes its history and its impact on society was the focus of a 1988 national symposium hosted by The University of Alabama to mark the 25th anniversary of the stand in the schoolhouse door On this occasion major participants in the Wallace stand reconvened to reflect on the issues and circumstances surrounding that event In addition because of the original event s central place in civil rights history and because of the many racial disturbances and difficulties occurring today scholars from across the country were asked to contribute to an extensive examination of racial prejudice and discrimination This book is based on the presentations commissioned for the symposium and is divided into three sections Historical Context Current Psychosocial Cultural Assessments of Prejudice and Discrimination and Strategies for Change The contributors include Dan T Carter E Culpepper Clark John F Dovidio Samuel L Gaertner Rhoda E Johnson James Jones Leon F Litwack Fannie Allen Neal Mortimer Ostow Thomas F Pettigrew and Walter G Stephan The editors have provided introductions to each of the three sections that place the chapters in both historical and contemporary contexts Opening Doors describes the progress that has been made in this country in the relationships between and among the races since a sneering Governor Wallace withdrew from the University campus telling bystanders to come back and see us in Alabama The volume also sheds new light on our understanding of prejudice and discrimination and serves to broaden our current perspectives on the traditions values attitudes and behavior patterns that contribute to and reflect these negative components of race relations At the same time by recounting historical issues associated with prejudice racism and discrimination by offering current analyses of these concepts and by suggesting strategies for effecting appropriate and meaningful change Opening Doors leads to a clear understanding of the nature and extent of progress yet to be realized before we are able to engage in harmonious race relations and enjoy the benefits of a more just society

Combat Death in Contemporary American Culture Agnieszka Soltysik Monnet, 2020-12-16 Combat Death in Contemporary American Culture Popular Cultural Conceptions of War since World War II explores how war has been portrayed in the United States since World War II with a particular focus on an emotionally charged but rarely scrutinized topic combat death Agnieszka Soltysik Monnet argues that most stories about war use three main building blocks melodrama adventure and horror Monnet examines how melodrama and adventure have helped make war seem acceptable to the American public by portraying combat death as a meaningful sacrifice and by making military killing look necessary and often even pleasurable Horror no longer serves its traditional purpose of making the bloody realities of war repulsive but has instead been repurposed in recent years to intensify the positivity of melodrama and adventure Thus this book offers a fascinating diagnosis of how war stories perform ideological and emotional work and why they have such a powerful grip on the American imagination
