Reappraisals in Canadian History, Pre-confederation Carl Murray Wallace,1993 Foundations ,2004 Changing Women, Changing History Diana Lynn Pedersen,1996 Changing Women Changing History is a bibliographic guide to the scholarship both English and French on Canadian s women s history Organized under broad subject headings and accompanied by author and subject indices it is accessible and comprehensive Canada James M. Roth,2024-09-18 The history of Canada can seem like a subject as large and expansive as the country itself and for those of us who haven t attended a history class in a while it may just feel too big to tackle Academic histories full of footnotes and jargon aren t for everyone but everyone deserves to know the history of the country they call home Direct but never dry historian James M

Roth starts at the country's geographical beginnings at the end of the last Ice Age and weaves Canada's tale from there. From contrasting early New World civilization against established Old World tradition contextualizing Indigenous history within the rest of Canadian history explaining today's complex relationships between English and French Canadians with a play by play analysis of events giving meaning to countless social and political movements by looking at the bigger picture and covering everything else in between in commuter length chapters Canada The First 20 000 Years is a history book for the everyday Canadian. Encyclopedia of the Atlantic World, 1400-1900 David Head, 2017-11-16 A first of its kind reference resource traces the interactions among four Atlantic facing continents Europe Africa and the Americas including the Caribbean between 1400 and 1900. Until recently the age of exploration and empire building was researched and taught within imperial and national boundaries. The histories of Europe Africa North America and South America were told largely as independent stories with the development of individual places within each continent further separated from each other. The indigenous populations of places colonized by Europeans fit into the history even more uneasily often mentioned only in passing. Encyclopedia of the Atlantic World 1400 1900 synthesizes a generation of historical scholarship on the events on four continents providing readers an invaluable introduction to the major people places events movements objects concepts and commodities of the Atlantic world as it developed during a key period in history when the world first started to shrink. The entries discuss specific topics with an eye toward showing how individual items people and events were connected to the larger Atlantic world. This accessibly written reference book brings together topics usually treated separately and discretely alleviating the need for extra legwork when researching and it draws from the latest research to make a vast body of scholarship about seemingly far flung places available to readers new to the field. Taking Medicine Kristin Burnett, 2011-07-01 Hunters medicine men and missionaries continue to dominate images and narratives of the West even though historians have recognized women's role as colonizer and colonized since the 1980s. Kristin Burnett helps to correct this imbalance by presenting colonial medicine as a gendered phenomenon. Although the imperial eye focused on medicine men Aboriginal women in the Treaty 7 region served as healers and caregivers to their own people and to settler society until the advent of settler run hospitals and nursing stations. By revealing Aboriginal and settler women's contributions to health care Taking Medicine challenges traditional understandings of colonial medicine in the contact zone. Toleration and State Institutions Karen Stanbridge, 2003-01-01 Toleration and State Institutions explores the rise of more charitable British policy toward Catholics in Ireland and in Quebec beginning in the latter half of the eighteenth century. Karen Stanbridge carefully demonstrates that Catholic relief arose more gradually and encountered less opposition than is generally maintained. This work sheds new light on the official treatment and mistreatment of minorities at home during the height of British expansion abroad offering a fascinating example of the divisions and rapprochements that characterize the relationship between state and society. The Identities of Marie Rose Delorme Smith Doris Jeanne MacKinnon, 2012 This book relates the history and self identifying process of a Metis woman who lived on the western plains of Canada during the transitional period from fur trade to sedentary agricultural economy Marie Rose Delorme Smith was a woman of French Metis ancestry who was born during the fur trade era and who spent her adult years as a pioneer rancher in the Pincher Creek district of southern Alberta Sold by her mother at the age of sixteen to a robe and whiskey trader several years older than her Marie Rose went on to raise seventeen children establish a boarding house take a homestead serve as medicine woman and midwife and to publish several articles in the early prairie ranch periodical Canadian Cattlemen The author relies on close readings of these articles as well as the diaries manuscripts and fictional writing of Marie Rose Delorme Smith along with personal interviews with her descendants These sources allow a close examination of the self identifying process for Marie Rose as she negotiated the changing environment of the western plains during the late 1800s and early 1900s when large numbers of Anglo speaking immigrants settled in the area Clearly proud of her Metis identity Marie Rose was a member of an extended family who served as Louis Riel s soldiers and she presented that identity tentatively in her own writings Roles which Marie Rose assumed with pride were those of author historian mother and historical character and these roles serve as themes from which to examine her life

Methodists and Women's Education in Ontario, 1836-1925 Johanna Maria Selles, 1996 Situating the evolution of Methodist education for women in Ontario within the larger social and cultural context Methodists and Women s Education in Ontario describes the often unintended and unforeseen forces unleashed by women s education and the ambi

Finding a Way to the Heart Jarvis Brownlie, Valerie J. Korinek, 2012-10-30 When Sylvia Van Kirk published her groundbreaking book Many Tender Ties in 1980 she revolutionized the historical understanding of the North American fur trade and introduced entirely new areas of inquiry in women s social and Aboriginal history Finding a Way to the Heart examines race gender identity and colonization from the early nineteenth to the late twentieth century and illustrates Van Kirk s extensive influence on a generation of feminist scholarship

Anxious Allegiances Chaim David Mazoff, 1998 His analysis reveals the extent to which problems of allegiance anxiety and identity were inextricably involved in the colonial and national projects an involvement which the poetry despite its intentions could neither mask nor resolve

Reappraisals in Canadian History, Post-confederation Angus Gilbert, Carl Wallace, Robert Matthew Bray, 1992 Macdonald at 200 Patrice Dutil, Roger Hall, 2014-10-10 A modern look at a classic leader Macdonald at 200 presents fifteen fresh interpretations of Canada s founding Prime Minister published for the occasion of the bicentennial of his birth in 1815 Well researched and crisply written by recognized scholars and specialists the collection throws new light on Macdonald s formative role in shaping government promoting women s rights managing the nascent economy supervising westward expansion overseeing relations with Native peoples and dealing with Fenian terrorism A special section deals with how Macdonald has or has not been remembered by historians as well as the general public The book concludes with an afterword by prominent Macdonald biographer Richard Gwyn Macdonald emerges as a man of full dimensions an historical figure that is surprisingly relevant to our own times
