introduction to the complex challenging and rewarding work of building and sustaining rural communities Community Practice David A. Hardcastle, Patricia R. Powers, Stanley Wenocur, 2004 Community Practice is a comprehensive resource for social workers and students eager to learn how to practice effectively in complex systems and diverse communities In this completely revised edition of the definitive text in the field the authors have thoroughly updated each chapter and added two entirely new chapters on community building and community organizing New material on topics such as negotiation and mediation community advocacy participatory rural appraisal the narrative approach to social change community involvement representative client boards and the latest in grassroots endeavors make this text as inspiring as it is practical Drawing upon the wealth of information available from local organizations the Internet newspapers and academic journals the authors introduce contemporary experiments and analyze classic modes of community practice and change The content exercises and references offer instructors the flexibility necessary to tailor their courses to undergraduate graduate and doctoral level students This new edition will continue to provide a comprehensive and integrated overview of the theory and skills fundamental to all areas of social work practice Broad in scope it offers students as well as practitioners the tools necessary to promote the welfare of individuals and communities Handbook of Community-Based Clinical Practice Anita Lightburn, Phebe Sessions, 2006 Bridges community practice and clinical practice by collecting 33 chapters from social workers psychologists and psychiatrists that outline and illustrate the state of the art Designed specifically for clinicians making the transition to community based work Provided by publisher Assessing Outcomes in Child and Family Services Anthony N. Maluccio, 2017-11-30 In this collective portrait editors and authors do not attempt to draw systematic country by country comparisons Given the magnitude of the issues they believed that it would be inappropriate to paint with too broad a stroke What they have accomplished however is to codify and identify what the participants repeatedly noted in regard to issues and difficulties inherent in conducting outcome evaluation These include varying definitions of outcome complexities in measuring outcomes of particular interventions with different groups of consumers and documenting the effectiveness of the intervention the tendency to focus on evaluation of process more than outcome the challenge of involving practitioners in the evaluation task in part because its value is unclear to them or perceived as distant or untrustworthy the typical inadequacy of resources available for systematic evaluation and the need to inject rigor into the design and execution of evaluation projects The authors demonstrate strong conviction about sharing research expertise across national boundaries learning through each other how to cope with organizational impediments to cross national collaboration and strengthening the interaction between practice and research Their contributions suggest that there is wide interest in pursuing cross national collaboration In recent years largely in response to demands by their funding sources for accountability assessment of performance and cost effectiveness researchers in human services have been devoting increased attention to outcome evaluation Limited attention however has been given to the findings of evaluation studies conducted in different countries

The present volume has been organized and edited to address the task of learning from outcome research across the world. Its goal, an extension of a major goal of the human services in any one country, is to improve life chances of vulnerable children and youth.

Person-Environment Practice Susan P. Kemp, James K. Whittaker, Elizabeth M. Tracy, 2024-11-01

Person Environment Practice addresses a core but long neglected dimension in social work and human services practice accurate environmental assessment and strategic environmental intervention Despite the centrality of person environment as a key construct in direct practice the domain of environmental assessment intervention has received relatively little systematic attention in the practice literature For a variety of reasons the core focus of direct practice assessment and change strategies has centered more on person than environment This book seeks to redress that imbalance Ironically the relative lack of attention to environmentally oriented practice persists even as current demands of practice fall increasingly under the rubric of what we here call environmental intervention defined as both action in the environment and the process of transforming individual and collective perspectives through critical analysis of the impact of environmental conditions The authors argue that the ability to understand environment from the client's perspective and to function effectively in the environmental domain is central to many emergent areas of practice such as practice with extended families and personal networks practice from a strengths perspective and culturally competent practice In Person Environment Practice the authors offer a coherent critique and overview of environmental assessment and intervention congruent with the demands of both newly emerging and established interpersonal helping approaches within social work's domain Robert Halpern of the Erikson Institute for Advanced Studies in Child Development described the book as a clear thoughtful and subtle a discussion of how to consider the environment in interpersonal helping as I have seen in the literature and Anthony Maluccio of Boston College called the book a timely and exciting contribution with appreciation and respect for social work practices and qualities of inspiration as well as intellectual stimulation Susan P Kemp is assistant professor School of Social Work The University of Washington Seattle James K Whittaker is professor School of Social Work The University of Washington Seattle Elizabeth M Tracy is associate professor Mandel School of Applied Social Sciences Case Western Reserve University Cleveland Ohio
