convene a national panel to assess the status of research based knowledge including the effectiveness of various approaches to teaching children to read The panel was charged with providing a report that should present the panel's conclusions an indication of the readiness for application in the classroom of the results of this research and if appropriate a strategy for rapidly disseminating this information to facilitate effective reading instruction in the schools p 1 1

A Comprehensive Guide to Child Psychotherapy and Counseling Christiane Brems, Christina H. Rasmussen, 2018-08-08 Christiane Brems in collaboration with new coauthor Christina Rasmussen introduces prospective and practicing clinicians to theories and principles of applied clinical work with children ages three to twelve years The authors take an integrated approach to understanding children and their families using a biopsychosociocultural model for conceptualization and treatment planning Their methods are practical and compassionate as well as contextually grounded and individually tailored Chapters follow the logical development of clinicians mirroring the natural flow of work with children Coverage ranges from the importance of a beginning practitioner's introspection and of ethical and legal issues to a variety of intervention techniques and strategies and finally termination Case studies showcase individualized and mindful treatment for each child with whom a clinician works Outstanding Features of the Fourth Edition Essential attention to how clinicians self-awareness can lead to positive therapeutic relationships with children and their families Thorough discussions of the biopsychosociocultural model for conceptualization and treatment planning Emphasis on intensive assessment prior to treatment planning to address the needs of each child and family A compelling practical exploration of mindfulness intervention with children The authors methodology addresses the profound effects of the larger environment and culture on children By adopting the authors integrated approach clinicians are better able to understand important and complicated aspects of a child's and family's life From there compassionate thoughtful and relevant intervention ensues

A Clinician's Guide to Helping Children Cope and Cooperate with Medical Care Keith J. Slifer, 2013-12-01 How adults can help children cope with routine and traumatic medical care Keith J Slifer a pediatric psychologist at the Kennedy Krieger Institute and the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine explores how adults can help children cope with routine and traumatic medical care He draws on practice and research to help health care practitioners provide better care for children with chronic conditions and children undergoing rehabilitation after traumatic injury or surgery By better understanding the behavior emotions and developmental challenges of children health care professionals in practice and in training can solve a range of problems from getting a distressed child to cooperate with a physical examination or diagnostic test to teaching a child to adhere to medical self care More than 9 million children in the United States regularly visit health care professionals for treatment of chronic or recurrent health conditions These children experience multiple doctors visits trips to the emergency department hospital admissions anesthesia surgery medications needle sticks wound cleaning seizures nausea vomiting pain and fear While most of these children are developing typically in terms of their intellectual and cognitive functioning many children with intellectual developmental and physical disabilities also require frequent medical care and as chronic health conditions increase so do the chances of having developmental learning emotional and behavioral problems A Clinician s Guide to Helping Children Cope and Cooperate with Medical Care will benefit health care professionals and children as practitioners aim both to improve medical care and to prevent the children s behavior from disrupting clinics and distressing and frustrating health care workers and family caregivers This book is for pediatric psychologists pediatricians family medicine practitioners physician s assistants nurse specialists pediatric subspecialists and students in these fields and for family members dedicated to helping their children cope with medical procedures and to getting the best possible medical care The Complete Guide to Godly Play Jerome W. Berryman,2017 An imaginative method for presenting scripture stories to children Teaching Early Numeracy to Children with Developmental Disabilities Corinna F. Grindle,Richard P. Hastings,Robert J. Wright,2020-10-14 This practical guide for teaching numeracy to children with a developmental disability is based on core concepts from the landmark Mathematics Recovery text Teaching Number aka the green book that have been adapted for children with developmental disabilities It sets out key principles of teaching and learning underpinning an evidence based teaching approach and provides clear guidance on how educators can plan and implement a structured teaching program so that every child can be given a positive experience in learning numeracy and achieve significant outcomes maximizing their potential The book is supported by a comprehensive set of online resources for use in the classroom including 90 lesson plans carefully tailored to provide sequenced learning experiences for children and school students who may need them most

Teaching English Don Gutteridge,2000 Donald Gutteridge describes the unique way we read poetry and fiction and offers concrete ideas about how English can be best taught in schools He argues that students should read literature in the same spirit in which it is written aesthetically Similarly students should be encouraged to create their own stories and poems through a poetic writing process Teaching English presents six aesthetics based principles for teaching literature and includes sample lesson plans and annotated lists of resources Drawing on recent work in psycho linguistics rhetoric an learning theory Teaching English offers a refreshing method for bringing students closer to the English language

Education in Times of Environmental Crises Ken Winograd,2016-04-14 The core assumption of this book is the interconnectedness of humans and nature and that the future of the planet depends on humans recognition and care for this interconnectedness This comprehensive resource supports the work of pre service and practicing elementary teachers as they teach their students to be part of the world as engaged citizens advocates for social and ecological justice Challenging readers to more explicitly address current environmental issues with students in their classrooms the book presents a diverse set of topics from a variety of perspectives Its broad social cultural perspective emphasizes that social and ecological justice are interrelated Coverage includes descriptions of environmental education pedagogies such as nature based experiences and place based studies peace education practices children doing environmental activism and teachers supporting children emotionally in times of climate disruption and tumult The pedagogies described invite student engagement and action in the public sphere Children are represented as agents of change engaged in social and environmental issues and problems through their actions both local and global Cognitive Self-Instruction (CSI) for Classroom Processes Brenda H. Manning, 1991-04-23 Metacognitive strategies such as cognitive self instruction have important implications for teaching and learning Cognitive self instruction CSI has proven successful in improving memory comprehension problem solving and behavioral self control of both teachers and students This book is the first to combine the theoretical conceptual and research aspects of CSI with applied classroom practices Drawing on over a decade of research and utilization of the methods described here Manning suggests applications of CSI for classroom strategies classroom management and teacher reflection
