Restructuring Schools Reconstructing Teachers:

Restructuring Schools, Reconstructing Teachers Peter Woods, Bob Jeffrey, Geoff Troman, Mari Boyle, 2019-07-01 Drawing on wide ranging research this book originally published in 1997 explores how the policy changes of previous years were affecting primary teachers and their work at the time Within the context of worldwide restructuring the thoughts feelings and activities of teachers in their daily work are examined The core argument is that what used to be a complex but fulfilling job distinguished by professional dilemmas which are amenable to professional skill had become increasingly marked by tension and constraint which frustrates teacher creativity While some teachers found new opportunities in the new primary school many used strategical and micro political activity in order to cope while others fell victim to stress and burnout The authors argue that teachers own active involvement in policy change is required if their creative potential is to be realized The book will still be of interest to teachers in primary schools researchers and policy makers Handbook of Teacher

Rediscovering the Spirit of Education After Scientific

Management Jim Neyland, 2010-01-01 Education is being eroded Otherwise put education is more and more being brought under the yoke of a mode of thought that reduces it to something mechanical narrowly characterized by codes predefined outcomes protocols and rules The cause it is argued is the growing dominance of a new fashion in education called scientific management Scientific management has become the new and unquestionable orthodoxy in education As a consequence it has become increasingly difficult to imagine let alone articulate an alternative This book explores the origins and fundamental assumptions of scientific management and suggests how the spirit of education might be rediscovered by turning instead to a more ethical socially interpersonal and full bodied orientation The approach taken avoids the difficulties usually associated with such ethically oriented treatments of education by drawing on recent findings in neurophysiology psychology primate and language studies The book is a Reader and is designed to both supplement and invigorate undergraduate and postgraduate courses in education and to appeal to general readers who have an interest in education
