Resurrection People:

Resurrection People David R. Catchpole, 2002 By uncovering the process that gave rise to the famous Gospel stories David Catchpole opens a door into each writer's distinctive world of conviction, faith, struggle and controversy. Catchpole shows that the characters of the resurrection narratives—Jesus himself, the women and men, the ecclesiastical heavyweights and the nobodies of Christian history—embody issues which affect the resurrection people of any time, including our own. David Catchpole is Professor and Scholar in Residence, New Testament at Sarum College, Salisbury, England. He is the author of The Quest for Q.
The End of the Unrepentant J. Webb Mealy, 2012-12-24 The End of the Unrepentant stands as the most thorough exegetical analysis of the biblical teachings about the fate of the unrepentant ever written. Following up the author's acclaimed monograph After the Thousand Years: Resurrection and Judgment in Revelation 20, this study makes use of the nexus of the Isaiah Apocalypse (Isa 24-27) and Revelation 20 as a paradigm or interpretive lens through which to understand the teachings of the Psalms, the Prophets, Jesus, and the NT about resurrection, judgment, and the divergent futures of the faithful and the unrepentant. The question of whether hell is everlasting has been a topic of interest for many decades now, among evangelicals, and the controversy has only intensified in recent years. Many Christians feel uneasy about the idea of everlasting torment, but their belief in the authority of Scripture leaves them feeling that this doctrine is inescapable. The End of the Unrepentant is written for them. It mounts a unique, positive exegetical argument for annihilationism, an argument so thoroughly founded on the prophetic words of Jesus, Isaiah, and John that it shifts the exegetical burden of proof to those who would wish for theological reasons to affirm everlasting torment.
