From People's War to People's Rule Timothy J. Lomperis, 2000-11-09 Timothy Lomperis persuasively argues the ironic point that the lessons of American involvement in Vietnam are not to be found in any analysis of the war by itself Rather he proposes a comparison of the Vietnam experience with seven other cases of Western intervention in communist insurgencies during the Cold War era China Indochina Greece the Philippines Malaya

Cambodia and Laos Lomperis maintains that popular insurgencies are manifestations of crises in political legitimacy which occur as a result of the societal stresses caused by modernization Therefore he argues any intervention in a people s war will succeed or fail depending on how it affects this crisis The unifying theme in the cases Lomperis discusses is the power of land reform and electoral democracy to cement political legitimacy and therefore deflect revolutionary movements Applying this theory to the ongoing Sendero Luminoso insurgency in Peru Lomperis makes a qualified prediction of that conflict s outcome He concludes that a global trend toward democratization has produced a new era of people s rule

Social Change and Planning , Power, Protest and Participation Subrata K. Mitra,2021-09-05 This book first published in 1992 examines the attitudes of local elites the hinge between Indian state and rural society towards protest and participation in development illuminating arguments about the nature of the state as well as the development process It looks at the role of local elites in India both as the representatives of the state and of the rest of rural society and explains their importance in the country s development The book deals with the elites contribution to the credibility of the state and examines the strategies through which they manipulate the allocation of resources and influence the pace and direction of social change It contrasts the rural elites in two areas one more economically advanced than the other The elites in the first area were shown to be capable of combining institutional participation with radical protest whilst in the other they tended to rely on state channels to achieve reform The author concludes that despite the different settings both groups were informed active and responsive to political conditions This contrasts with the conventional view that local elites of the dominant castes oppress the lower ones by obstructing reforms for reasons of self interest

The Decolonial Turn in Media Studies in Africa and the Global South Last Moyo, 2020-09-09 This book develops a nuanced decolonial critique that calls for the decolonization of media and communication studies in Africa and the Global South Last Moyo argues that the academic project in African Media Studies and other non Western regions continues to be shaped by Western modernity's histories of imperialism colonialism and the ideologies of Eurocentrism and neoliberalism While Africa and the Global South dismantled the physical empire of colonialism after independence the metaphysical empire of epistemic and academic colonialism is still intact and entrenched in the postcolonial university's academic programmes like media and communication studies To address these problems Moyo argues for the development of a Southern theory that is not only premised on the decolonization imperative but also informed by the cultures geographies and histories of the Global South The author recasts media studies within a radical cultural and epistemic turn that locates future projects of theory building within a decolonial multiculturalism that is informed by trans cultural and trans epistemic dialogue between Southern and Northern epistemologies
