Branding and Designing Disability Elizabeth DePoy, Stephen Gilson, 2014-06-27 Over the past fifty years design and branding have become omnipotent in the market and have made their way to other domains as well Given their potential to divide humans into categories and label their worth and value design and branding can wield immense but currently unharnessed powers of social change Groups designed as devalued can be undesigned redesigned and rebranded to seamlessly and equivalently participate in community work and civic life This innovative book argues that disability as a concept and category is created reified and segregated through current design and branding that begs for creative change Transcending models of disability that locate it either as an embodied medical condition or as a socially constructed entity this book challenges the very existence and usefulness of the category itself Proposing and illustrating creative and responsible design DePoy and Gilson include thinking and action strategies that are useful and potent for undesigning redesigning and rebranding to meet the full range of human needs and to enhance full participation in local through global communities Divided into two parts the first section presents a critical examination of disability as a designed and branded phenomenon exploring what exactly is being designed and branded and how The second part investigates the redesign of disability and provides principles for redesign and rebranding illustrated with examples from high tech to place based sustainable strategies The book provides a unique and contemporary framework for thinking about disability as well as providing relevant design and branding guidance to designers and engineers interested in embodiment issues

Participation in Health and Welfare Services Arne H. Eide, Staffan Josephsson, Kjersti Vik, 2017-02-17 Today healthy ageing and active meaningful lives are core values and aims for international and national health policies Health services are challenged to ensure that the recipients of their services are active participants in their own care and beyond Participation allows patients to become less dependent on healthcare providers increasing their control over their own treatment and health. Increasingly the idea of participation is shifting from participation in services to participation in mainstream society. This book examines the concept of participation as well as the different meanings it takes on in the context of health and welfare services. It asks how services can enable and stimulate participation outside of those services. The contributions in this volume particularly focus on participation as engagement in daily life and everyday life in order to develop the field of participation beyond the sphere of health and social care services. Transgressive Devotion Natalie Wigg-Stevenson, 2021-02-28 Academic theology is in need of a new genre. In Transgressive Devotion Natalie Wigg-Stevenson articulates a theological vision of that genre as performance art. She argues that theology done as performance art stops trying to describe who God is and starts trying to make God appear. Recognising that the act of studying theology or practicing ministry is always a performance where the boundaries between what we see, feel, experience and learn are not just blurred but potentially invisible, Wigg-Stevenson brings together ethnographic, theological, fieldwork, historical and contemporary Christian theological traditions and performance artworks themselves. A daring vision of theology which will energise anybody feeling boxed in by the discipline Transgressive Devotion blurs borders between orthodoxy heterodoxy and heresy to reveal how the very act of doing theology makes God and humanity vulnerable to each other This is theology which is a liturgy of Divine incantation In other words this is theology which is also prayer
