A Syllabus of Medieval History, 395-1500... Dana Carleton Munro, 1909 The Human Record: To 1700 Alfred J. Andrea, James H. Overfield, 2001 Unlike some other world history texts that center on the West The Human Record provides balanced coverage of the global past The book features both written and artifactual sources that are placed in their full historical contexts through introductory essays footnotes and focus questions The text sheds light on the experiences of women and non elite groups while maintaining overall balance and a focus on the major patterns of global historical developments through the ages Western Civilization Kenneth L. These needs have long been central to The Making of the West. The book's chronological narrative emphasizes the wide variety of peoples and cultures that created Western civilization and places them together in a common context enabling students to witness the unfolding of Western history, understand change over time and recognize fundamental relationships.

History of Rome and of the Roman people, from its origin to the establishment of the Christian empire, ed. by J.P. Mahaffy [tr. by W.J. Clarke]. Jean Victor Duruy, 1884

Encyclopaedia of the History of Science, Technology, and Medicine in Non-Western Cultures Helaine Selin, 1997-07-31 The Encyclopaedia fills a gap in both the history of science and in cultural studies. Reference works on other cultures tend either to omit science completely or pay little attention to it and those on the history of science almost always start with the Greeks with perhaps a mention of the Islamic world as a translator of Greek scientific works. The purpose of the Encyclopaedia is to bring together knowledge of many disparate fields in one place and to legitimize the study of other cultures' science. Our aim is not to claim the superiority of other cultures but to engage in a mutual exchange of ideas. The Western academic divisions of science, technology and medicine have been united in the Encyclopaedia because in ancient cultures these disciplines were connected. This work contributes to redressing the balance in the number of reference works devoted to the study of Western science and encourages awareness of cultural diversity. The Encyclopaedia is the first compilation of this sort and it is testimony both to the earlier Eurocentric view of academia as well as to the widened vision of today. There is nothing that crosses disciplinary and geographic boundaries dealing with both scientific and philosophical issues to the extent that this work does.

PERSONAL NOTE FROM THE EDITOR Many years ago I taught African history at a secondary school in Central Africa.
