Ross, 2006 Ten outstanding specialists in Chinese foreign policy draw on new theories, methods and sources to examine China's use of force, its response to globalization and the role of domestic politics in its foreign policy.

Connecting and Distancing Ho Khai Leong, 2009 Connecting and distancing have been two prominent themes permeating the writings on the historical and contemporary developments of the relationship between Southeast Asia and China. As neighbours, the nation states in Southeast Asia and the giant political entity in the north communicated with each other through a variety of diplomatic overtures, political agitations and cultural nuances. In the last two decades, with the rise of China as an economic powerhouse in the region, Southeast Asia's need to connect with China has become more urgent and necessary as it attempts to reap the benefit from the successful economic modernization in China. At the same time, however, there were feelings of ambivalence, hesitation and even suspicions on the part of the Southeast Asian states vis-à-vis the rise of a political power which is so less understood or misunderstood. The contributors of this volume are authors of various disciplinary backgrounds: history, political science, economics and sociology. They provide a spectrum of perspectives by which the readers can view Sino-Southeast Asia relations. The Geopolitics of Red Oil Andrew Stephen Campion, 2016-01-08 Energy security has emerged as one of the most important contemporary geopolitical issues. Access to reliable, cheap energy has become essential to the functioning of modern economies, but the uneven distribution of energy supplies has led to perceptions of significant Western vulnerability. At the same time, many in the West have become wary of China's re-emergence as a major power in global politics, with its impact on Western foreign policies and potential threat to Western energy security. This book offers fresh insights into the rise of China as a global superpower and the ways in which its rise is perceived to threaten Western energy security, engaging specifically with how the idea of the China threat has emerged in popular discourse. The author questions how recent US foreign policy has sought to position China as an antagonist to Western energy interests and explores how this image has become the dominant understanding of China by the West. Rather than treating these issues as given, which orthodox approaches tend to do, this book analyses the discursive relationship.

between US identity foreign policy and energy security which leads to a more nuanced and critical understanding of perceptions of China's potential threat to Western energy security Filling an important gap in the emerging corpus of research on energy security this book will be particularly valuable to students and scholars of Politics International Relations and Chinese Studies

Why Is The China Model Losing Its Power? - Challenges And Opportunities Of The Second Global Competition Jinghao Zhou,2020-07-23 History has proved that communism failed at many levels during the first global competition between the capitalist and socialist camps during the Cold War As a result the socialist camp was dissolved China is one of the few communist countries to survive in the twenty first century The Chinese economy was on the verge of collapse in the 1970s but began to take off in the early 1980s guided by the China model China became the world's second largest economy in 2010 and has quickly expanded its enormous global market and political influence The second global competition between the capitalist countries and China has started The second global competition is in fact between the China model and the Washington Consensus Will Western hegemonies end as the result of the second global competition Will China be able to rewrite the international rules Will the Chinese communist political system collapse during the competition What should the West do to the China model This book will explore the implications of the China model in the context of the second global competition and argues that the downturn of the China model and China's global expansion are the two sides of the same coin The China model is losing its power but not broken China would be able to become even stronger if it could reshape the philosophical foundation of the China model The future of Western hegemony will depend on how the West understands the China model and deals with it This book addresses these aspects and more

Researching China in Southeast Asia Ngeow Chow-Bing,2019-03-26 This book maps out the state of China Studies in seven Southeast Asian countries from different perspectives It looks at the history current status and characteristics of the study of China in Indonesia the Philippines Thailand Vietnam Malaysia Singapore and Myanmar and what factors shaped the development and prospects of Sinology and Chinese Studies in these countries For the first time China experts from within and outside of this region using a wide range of biographical historical bibliographical and comparative methodologies tell the stories of how intellectuals and scholars in selected Southeast Asian countries understand study and research China Their studies are providing different perspectives and discourses on China Chapters discover and explore common factors such as the presence of sizeable ethnic Chinese communities historical and current interactions between China and Southeast Asia and the diverse intellectual influences in the region A novel insight into the study of China in Southeast Asia this book will be of interest to academics in the fields of China Southeast Asia relations the intellectual history of Southeast Asia the intellectual history of Chinese Studies in the world and the politics of Knowledge production
