environmental and natural risks The book's goal is to improve risk communication processes in these areas between private and public risk communication sources and the public The systematic planning approach focuses on research activities which are considered to be diagnostic tools providing insight into the public's reactions to risks and into the public's cognitive abilities to process risk information These studies give us the necessary ingredients for an adequate risk communication from the audience side of the risk communication process Evaluation studies are considered necessary to monitor the effectiveness of the communication Exploring Risk Communication provides a review of current research in risk communication focusing on perceived trust and credibility of risk communication sources and arguments in risk messages risk comparison and framing of risk Special attention is paid to the mass media context of risks and its impact on public perception Finally the potential of the new interactive media for risk communication is reviewed The authors have performed several communication studies in the risk area working from their social psychological background This results in a monograph interesting to those working on risk communication issues on an academic level but the systematic planning approach is also a useful frame of reference for risk communication practitioners or for those who are just interested in the often complex risk communication issues

Effective Risk Communication Joseph Arvai, Louie Rivers III, 2013-10-30 There are two questions often asked of risk communication what has been learned from past work and what is needed to push the field forward Drawing on the experience of leading risk researchers and practitioners Effective Risk Communication focuses on answering these questions The book draws together new examples of research and practice from contexts as diverse as energy generation human health nuclear waste climate change food choice and social media This book treats risk communication as much more than the interchange of risk information between experts and non experts rather it aims to emphasise the diversity in viewpoints and practices In each specially commissioned chapter the authors reflect on the theoretical and applied underpinnings of their best projects and comment on how their approach could be used effectively by others Building upon each other the chapters will provoke new discussion and action around a discipline which many feel is neither meeting important needs in practice nor living up to its potential in research Through a more careful examination of the work already done in risk communication the book will help develop better more reflective practice for the future

The current state of the representation of health and medicine in the media is an important factor to analyze in the field of health communication, especially amidst the onset of a global pandemic.
