The Geography of God's Incarnation Ann Pederson, 2013-07-25 What does geography have to do with the incarnation of God and with our spiritual lives as Christians We will embark on a theological road trip that explores how geographies are at the heart of understanding of God s incarnation in the world It is no surprise to Christians that the center of the incarnation is the person of Jesus Christ God in flesh made manifest However it might be a stretch for some Christians to imagine that the promise that God has become flesh is not only in a person but also in a place in the creation Christians need to expand what incarnation means and what it means to be created in the image of God so that the scope of God s creative and redemptive action and work indeed reaches to the scope of all things from the outer reaches of space to the inner reaches of our hearts To be the creatures of God that God calls us to be requires a kind of dual citizenship within the details of our daily life attending to the needs of our neighbors simultaneously knowing we are part of a greater cosmos whose future is still unfolding Ohio Angels Harriet Scott Chessman, 2002-10-01 Harriet Scott Chessman s Ohio Angels is an intimate and a lyrical story about friendship and family struggles Hallie a painter who now lives in Brooklyn returns to her family home in Ohio where she unearths a secret about her parents Her discovery sheds light on her mother s depression which shadowed her own childhood and helps her understand her own inability to have children In her hometown Hallie reconnects with a beloved childhood friend Rose who is now a writer and pregnant with her third child Chessman beautifully evokes the childhood memories of the two friends illuminating their very different lives As in Lydia Cassatt Reading the Morning Paper Chessman's compassionate and perceptive gaze reveals an entire new world for us one that is subtle alive and deeply honest Relational Designs in Literature and the Arts, 2012-01-01 This collection focuses on texts that address the other arts from painting to photography from the stage to the screen and from avant garde experiments to mass culture Despite their diversity of object and approach the essays in Relational Designs coalesce around the argument that representations are defined by relations and dynamics rather than intrinsic features This rationale is supported by the discourses and methodologies favoured by the book's contributors their approaches offer a cross section of the intellectual and critical environment of our time The book illustrates the critical possibilities that derive from the broad range of modes of inquiry poststructuralist criticism gender studies postcolonial studies new historicism that the book's four sections bring to bear on a wealth of intermedial practices But Relational Designs compounds such critical emphases with the voice of the practitioner the book is rounded off by an interview in which a contemporary novelist discusses her attraction to the other arts in terms that extend the book's insights and bridge the gap between academic discourse and artistic practice
