

The Magic Monastery

A constant quiet derivate used often to attend the weekly meals given by a cultivated and generous man. This circle was known as "The Assembly of the Cultured".

The derivate never took part in the conversations, but simply arrived, smilingly shook hands with all present, seated himself in a corner, and ate the food provided.

When the meeting was over, he would stand up, say a word of farewell and thanks, and go his way. Nobody knew anything about him, though when he first appeared there were rumors that he was a saint.

For a long time the other guests thought that he must indeed be a man of sanctity and knowledge, and they looked forward to the time when he might impart some of his wisdom to them. Some of them even boasted of his attendance at their meetings to their friends, hinting at the special distinction which they felt in his presence.

Gradually, however, because they could find no relationship with this man developing, the guests began to suspect that he was an impostor, perhaps a fraud. Several of them felt uncomfortable in his presence. He seemed to do nothing to harmonize himself with the atmosphere, and did not even contribute a proverb to the delighted conversation which they had come to prize as a necessary part of their very lives. At last, on the other hand, because unaware that he was there at all, since he drew no attention to himself.

One day the derivate spoke. He said:

"I invite all of you to visit my monastery, tomorrow night. You shall eat with me."

This unexpected invitation caused a change in the opinions

Animals as the Third in Relational Psychotherapy Jo Silbert, Jo Frasca, 2021-03-03 Animals as the Third in Relational Psychotherapy Exploring Theory, Frame and Practice elegantly and skilfully weaves together relevant literature, clinical reflections, compelling case material and contemporary psychoanalytic theory to demonstrate how the presence of an animal in the treatment arena can eventually bring about relational, interpersonal and intrapsychic change. Contemporary relational psychoanalytic literature has been virtually silent about our relationship with animals, a feature seemingly intrinsic to our relational worlds. This book seeks to remediate this void by giving voice to the practice and principles of working relationally in the presence of an animal. The text accentuates recurrent themes: animals are seen by human beings as significant subjective others and are treated as legitimate partners for relational and interpersonal processes; attachment figures and transference objects; animals in the psychotherapy environment can play the role as a bridge from the unconscious to the conscious, from the dissociated to the experienced, from the intrapsychic to the interpersonal; as the third in the treatment arena, the animal helps to reveal the field, bringing conflicts to life and making them available for analysis in the clinical setting. In seeking to authorise the incorporation of animals into the practice of relational psychotherapy, the text applies conventional concepts to novel contexts, it extends psychoanalytic and relational principles to create a theoretical framework within which to consider the therapeutic effects of working in the triadic interactions of therapist, client and animal, and thus also begins to evolve a new version of relational psychoanalytic practice. The authors value the human-animal experience in treatment and repeatedly show how the application of a relational psychoanalytic lens to the patient therapist animal triad can enhance the therapeutic process in ways that encourage progressive communication understanding of the patient and the relaxing of defences leading to the symbolising of relational capacity therapeutic breakthrough and intrapsychic change Catalog of Copyright Entries.
