Energy at the surface of the earth : an introduction to the energetics of ecosystems Miller,1981-06-19 Energy at the surface of the earth an introduction to the energetics of ecosystems Rise

And Fall Of Marvellous Melbourne Graeme Davison,2014-02-26 In the 1880s a generation after the gold rushes Melbourne rose to become Australia s most populous modern and self consciously metropolitan city Its offices and warehouses leapt skyward its suburbs sprawled and the tentacles of its commerce reached across the continent In the 1890s the housing boom burst depression struck and Melbourne s population and influence declined In this classic work of Australian social history Graeme Davison explores the economic political social and cultural consequences of the meteoric rise and calamitous fall of the city dubbed Marvellous Melbourne Twenty six years after this much acclaimed book was first published Davison offers a reappraisal of his original ideas in a new preface and epilogue The book has also been enhanced by a series of picture essays exploring the response of contemporary artists and photographers to the transformation of city and suburbs Energy at the Surface of the Earth David H. Miller,2016-06-03 Energy at the Surface of the Earth An

Introduction to the Energetics of Ecosystems presents way of looking at the manner in which the biological physical and cultural systems that mantle the landmasses of our planet receive transform and give off energy which is an essential condition of existence that takes many forms Energy conversions establish the climate in which these systems operate The principal forms of energy that are converted at the ecosystem scale include radiant latent mechanical chemical and fossil and thermal The book begins with radiant energy absorbed by ecosystems a phenomenon that is independent of their surface temperature and that can be looked on as a burden or a gift depending on circumstances An increase in such absorption raises surface temperature as described in the fulcrum chapter of the book Chapter VIII This increase in turn sets into action outflows of energy that by the first law of thermodynamics are equal in energy units although not necessarily equal in quality to the inflows The final chapters deal with vertical stratification and areal contrasts in energy budgets the augmented energy budget of the city and the responses that serve to keep the budget balanced Transport History ,1978 Very Public Solution Paul Mees,2015-09-08 Why is public transport so poor in Australian cities Why can t it be more like the fast convenient systems in Europe Unlike Europeans most urban Australians live on far flung suburban blocks rather than in high density apartments Most urban travel is to widespread suburban locations rather than to the city centre It is often argued that fast efficient public transport is impossible in our dispersed cities In A Very Public Solution Paul Mees compares Melbourne s public transport system with the highly successful system in Toronto a dispersed city very like Melbourne with its suburban sprawl and sheds new light on a century old debate This debate is particularly important now as economic rationalists move to privatise public transport in Australian cities We can have European style public transport Mees argues if our different forms of public transport stop competing with each other and start competing with the car A Very Public Solution is the first serious work on public transport planning ever published in Australia It is essential reading for everyone concerned with urban sustainability and our growing traffic problems The American Cities and Technology Reader Gerrylynn K.
