Pegler, 2025-07-30 The remarkable story of Harry Furness a young British sniper who fought from D Day to Germany

Growing up in a working class family in Manchester Harry Furness joined the army in 1939 at the age of 16 Having always been captivated by the stories of First World War snipers he immediately volunteered for sniper training when the army began to recruit soldiers in 1941 He did exceptionally well qualifying as a marksman whilst a pre war army cadet and was quickly promoted to lance corporal Just prior to D Day he was promoted to corporal in the Green Howards Regiment and landed at Gold Beach on 6th June 1944 Together he and his comrades began a hard fight across North West Europe gradually moving through Northern France Belgium Holland and eventually into Germany as they pushed the Germans back towards the Rhine The manifold dangers and occasional humour of Harry Furness's experiences of war come across in a very matter of fact but compelling way in the dozens of previously unpublished letters personal interviews and images that make up Martin Pegler's fascinating moving biography of Furness and his extraordinary life

German Jews in Love Christian Bailey, 2022-11-01 This book explores the dynamic role of love in German Jewish lives from the birth of the German Empire in the 1870s to the 1970s a generation after the Shoah During a remarkably turbulent hundred year period when German Jews experienced five political regimes rapid urbanization transformations in gender relations and war and genocide the romantic ideals of falling in love and marrying for love helped German Jews to develop a new sense of self Appeals to romantic love were also significant in justifying relationships between Jews and non Jews even when those unions created conflict within and between communities By incorporating novel approaches from the history of emotions and life cycle history Christian Bailey moves beyond existing research into the sexual and racial politics of modern Germany and approaches a new frontier in the study of subjectivity and the self German Jews in Love draws on a rich array of sources from newspapers and love letters to state and other official records Calling on this evidence Bailey shows the ways German Jews romantic relationships reveal an aspect of acculturation that has been overlooked how deeply cultural scripts worked their way into emotions those most intimate and seemingly pre political aspects of German Jewish subjectivity

London's Strangest Tales: Historic Royal Palaces Iain Spragg, 2014-05-23 London's Royal Palaces are still some of the most visited places in England A great deal of their official histories are well known But London's Strangest Tales Historic Royal Palaces reveals the bizarre funny and surreal events and episodes that have occurred over the centuries on the grounds of these beautiful buildings It gives an alternative history from the wandering inebriated zebras at the Tower of London the cricket ball that probably killed a king and the mystery of Kew's disappearing mosque This is a wonderful collection for anyone with an interest in the history and heritage of our palaces and in London life generally

Last Wild Edge Susan Zwinger, 1999-06 The northwestern edge of North America is a final edge to settle on a finite planet Where does mankind go from here Where else have we not settled altered and consumed Author Susan Zwinger suspects that we have saved this wild edge for last because its geography is punched exploded ground and drenched Its forest of enormous trees once created a boundary difficult to penetrate let alone farm Yet today this wildness is under threat as civilization bores its way into even this remote edge

Lord of Winter Jill Williamson, Andrew Swearingen, 2025-03-18 After years of darkness Eric Livna newly appointed lord of Tsaf town returns from the battlefield ready to properly assume his title and become a true husband and father to his family His marriage to Lady Viola though arranged and built on mutual duty has lacked the warmth of true affection but Eric is hoping to bridge the emotional distance between them For too long Lady Viola Livna has silently endured the injustices woven into Tsafstown's laws she believes will threaten their daughter's future. Determined to forge a better path for their family, she quietly works on a plan to change things even if it means keeping secrets from her husband. When Eric's cousin, the ambitious Sir Fenris Yarden, stirs up division in Tsafstown and wreaks havoc on the Livnas marriage, Eric and Viola must decide whether to let betrayal tear them apart or to unite against the forces trying to destroy them. Together, they will need to fight not only for their city but also for the fragile trust they've begun to rebuild before everything they hold dear is lost forever.

From Darkness Won Nazi Zombie Army: Gotterdammerung Jonathan Green, 2013-02-24

The Nazis desperate for victory at all costs explored every avenue open to science including some long forgotten and some best left dead. But what if they had succeeded? In the obscure village of Totenstadt, a team of the Reich's best minds under the terrible Colonel von Teufel are blending technology and the occult to create a new and terrible weapon to test the boundary between life and death itself. Elite British snipers Joe Randall, George Ginger Gibbs, and Harry Atkins are sent deep into enemy lines to locate and destroy the facility. The mission will test their courage and their sanity to the limits.

Taking Sides in Peacekeeping Emily Paddon Rhoads, 2016-04-29

United Nations peacekeeping has undergone radical transformation in the new millennium. Where it once was limited in scope and based firmly on consent of all parties, contemporary operations are now charged with penalizing spoilers of peace and protecting civilians from peril. Despite its more aggressive posture, practitioners and academics continue to affirm the vital importance of impartiality whilst stating that it no longer means what it once did. Taking Sides in Peacekeeping explores this transformation and its implications in what is the first conceptual and empirical study of impartiality in UN peacekeeping. The book challenges dominant scholarly approaches that conceive of norms as linear and static, conceptualizing impartiality as a composite norm, one that is not free standing but an aggregate of other principles, each of which can change and is open to contestation. Drawing on a large body of primary evidence, it uses the composite norm to trace the evolution of impartiality and to illuminate the macro-level politics surrounding its institutionalization at the UN, as well as the micro-level politics surrounding its implementation in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, site of the largest and costliest peacekeeping mission in UN history. Taking Sides in Peacekeeping reveals that despite a veneer of consensus, impartiality is in fact highly contested. As the collection of principles it refers to has expanded to include human rights and civilian protection, deep disagreements have arisen over what keeping peace impartially actually means. Beyond the semantics, the book shows how this contestation, together with the varying expectations and incentives created by the norm, has resulted in perverse and unintended consequences that have politicized peacekeeping and in some cases effectively converted UN forces into one warring party among many. Taking Sides in Peacekeeping assesses the implications of this radical transformation for the future of peacekeeping and for the UN's role as guarantor of international peace and security.
