Magic Myth Movie:

Magic and Myth of the Movies Parker Tyler, 1985 Magical Suspension James Combs, 2015-09-04 This book builds upon the author's extensive previous work on the movies adopting a more comprehensive and inquisitive stance for the study of moving pictures as a cultural movement and ludenic innovation. It returns to earlier analysis and commentary on this new invention and recreation quickly termed the movies and develops the initial impression of both moviegoers and observers that the movies appealed because they were fun. As such the book examines the characteristics that made films so enjoyable namely their use of magic presentation of myth and persistence of mnemonic recollection. The enduring appeal of moving pictures remains consistent even though the medium has proliferated and diversified so much so that now a good portion of the human race spends a great deal of time looking at moving pictures. The book is eclectic and exploratory designed to urge consideration of moving pictures in this larger perspective as something that has changed and perhaps enriched the lives of many people leaving inquirers the task of calculating the enormous significance and consequences of our motion picture experience for the conduct of our lives. Such an effort is not without merit since it now seems quite clear that the whole world is watching.

Movie-Made America Robert Sklar, 2012-10-31 Hailed as the definitive work upon its original publication in 1975 and now extensively revised and updated by the author this vastly absorbing and richly illustrated book examines film as an art form technological innovation big business and shaper of American values. Ever since Edison's peep shows first captivated urban audiences film has had a revolutionary impact on American society transforming culture from the bottom up radically revising attitudes toward pleasure and sexuality and at the same time cementing the myth of the American dream. No book has measured film's impact more clearly or comprehensively than Movie Made America. This vastly readable and richly illustrated volume examines film as art form technological innovation big business and cultural bellwether. It takes in stars from Douglas Fairbanks to Sly Stallone auteurs from D W Griffith to Martin Scorsese and Spike Lee and genres from the screwball comedy of the 1930s to the hard body movies of the 1980s to the independents films of the 1990s. Combining panoramic sweep with detailed commentaries on hundreds of individual films Movie Made America is a must for any motion picture enthusiast.

Magic and Myth of the Movies Parker Tyler, 1971-01-01 The Monomyth in American Science Fiction Films Donald E. Palumbo, 2014-11-05 One of the great intellectual achievements of the 20th century Joseph Campbell's The Hero with a Thousand Faces is an elaborate articulation of the monomyth the narrative pattern underlying countless stories from the most ancient myths and legends to the films and television series of today. The monomyth's fundamental storyline in Campbell's words sees the hero venture forth from the world of the common day into a region of supernatural wonder fabulous forces are there encountered and a decisive victory is won the hero comes back from this mysterious adventure with the power to bestow boons to his fellow man. Campbell asserted that the hero is each of us thus the monomyth's endurance as a compelling plot structure. This study examines the monomyth in the context of Campbell's social ambivalence towards crime and criminals while the criminal victim and avenger characters effectively map the shifting relations between subgenres such as the erotic thriller and the police film within the larger genre of crime film that informs them all

Ingmar Bergman, Cinematic Philosopher Irving Singer, 2009-09-18 The development of themes motifs and techniques in Bergman's films from the first intimations in the early work to the consummate resolutions in the final movies Known for their repeating motifs and signature tropes the films of Ingmar Bergman also contain extensive variation and development In these reflections on Bergman's artistry and thought Irving Singer discerns distinctive themes in Bergman's filmmaking from first intimations in the early work to consummate resolutions in the later movies Singer demonstrates that while Bergman's output is not philosophy on celluloid it attains an expressive and purely aesthetic truthfulness that can be considered philosophical in a broader sense Through analysis of both narrative and filmic effects Singer probes Bergman's mythmaking and his reliance upon the magic inherent in his cinematic techniques Singer traces throughout the evolution of Bergman's ideas about life and death and about the possibility of happiness and interpersonal love In the overtly self-referential films that he wrote or directed The Best Intentions Fanny and Alexander Sunday's Children as well as the less obviously autobiographical ones including Wild Strawberries The Seventh Seal and the triad that begins with Through a Glass Darkly Bergman investigates problems in his existence and frequently reverts to childhood memories In such movies as Smiles of a Summer Night Scenes from a Marriage and Saraband Bergman draws upon his mature experience and depicts the troubled relationships between men who are often weak and women who are made to suffer by the damaged men with whom they live In Persona Cries and Whispers and other works his experiments with the camera are uniquely masterful Inspecting the panorama of Bergman's art Singer shows how the endless search for human contact motivates the content of his films and reflects Bergman's profound perspective on the world

Cinematic Mythmaking Irving Singer,2010-09-24 Mythic themes and philosophical probing in film as an art form as seen in works of Preston Sturges Jean Cocteau Stanley Kubrick and various other filmmakers Film is the supreme medium for mythmaking The gods and heroes of mythology are both larger than life and deeply human they teach us about the world and they tell us a good story Similarly our experience of film is both distant and intimate Cinematic techniques panning tracking zooming and the other tools in the filmmaker s toolbox create a world that is unlike reality and yet realistic at the same time We are passive spectators but we also have a personal relationship with the images we are seeing In Cinematic Mythmaking Irving Singer explores the hidden and overt use of myth in various films and in general the philosophical elements of a film s meaning Mythological themes Singer writes perform a crucial role in cinematic art and even philosophy itself Singer incisively disentangles the strands of different myths in the films he discusses He finds in Preston Sturges's The Lady Eve that Barbara Stanwyck's character is not just the biblical Eve but a liberated woman of our times Eliza Doolittle in the filmed versions of Shaw's Pygmalion is not just a statue brought to life but instead a heroic woman who must survive her own dark night of the soul The protagonist of William Wyler's The Heiress and Anieszka Holland's Washington Square is both suffering Dido and an awakened Amazon Singer reads Cocteau's films including La Belle et la Bête Orphée and The Testament of Orpheus as uniquely mythological cinematic poetry He compares Kubrickean and Homeric epics and analyzes in depth the self-referential mythmaking of Federico Fellini in many of his movies including 8½ The aesthetic and probing inventiveness in film Singer shows us restores and revives for audiences in the twenty-first century myths of creation of the questing hero and of ideals both secular and religious that have had enormous significance throughout the human search for love and meaning in life

The Empire Triumphant Kevin J. Wetmore, Jr., 2017-08-10 George Lucas's first Star Wars trilogy shows the influences of its era Cold War tension is evident in its theme of rebellion against totalitarianism Recent entries in the Star Wars saga The Phantom Menace 1999 and Attack of the Clones 2002 are much more concerned with evil corporations terrorists and the corruption of the political process Each film is influenced by the times in which it was released but also by cultural subtexts and by other films that had direct and indirect effects on Lucas as writer producer and director This work focuses on all six Star Wars films The first topic of this multifaceted examination is how the films use the language of colonialism The Rebellion The Empire to emphasize the idea of imperialism Next the author looks at how Asian influences including religious undertones from Taoism and Buddhism and the works of Kurosawa and other Asian filmmakers provide a subtext for much of the action Next the discussion turns to the representation of people of color in the Star Wars universe and how other ethnicities are represented overall particularly through the literalization of the word aliens These topics of discussion provide for penetrating conclusions about Lucas's films and how they represent race religion and rebellion

Transnational Horror Cüneyt Çakırlar, 2025-01-20 Adopting a multi-method critical approach to the global revival of folklore-themed horror media Transnational Horror contests Anglophone film scholarship's widespread adherence to its own film historical canons Navigating alternative meanings of folk horror and locating these meanings within a transnational framework the volume proposes a curatorial paradigm of critical transnationalism in the study of global film cultures and genre formations The book proposes an alternative genealogy of horror media a genealogy that decolonises in provincialising the dominant film historical canons associated with the horror genre and contributes to the formation of a transnational field of horror criticism that troubles the normative geopolitics of canonisation in film and genre studies Through diverse accounts of scale and regionality as categorical markers of screen media the contributors to the volume develop critical tools to address the mobility of folk horror as mode and as genre which operates within and beyond the normative registers of national belonging
