Sharing Cities Duncan McLaren, Julian Agyeman, 2015-12-04 How cities can build on the sharing economy and smart technology to deliver a sharing paradigm that supports justice solidarity and sustainability The future of humanity is urban and the nature of urban space enables and necessitates sharing of resources goods and services experiences Yet traditional forms of sharing have been undermined in modern cities by social fragmentation and commercialization of the public realm In Sharing Cities Duncan McLaren and Julian Agyeman argue that the intersection of cities highly networked physical space with new digital technologies and new mediated forms of sharing offers cities the opportunity to connect smart technology to justice solidarity and sustainability McLaren and Agyeman explore the opportunities and risks for sustainability solidarity and justice in the changing nature of sharing McLaren and Agyeman propose a new sharing paradigm which goes beyond the faddish sharing economy seen in such ventures as Uber and TaskRabbit to envision models of sharing that are not always commercial but also communal encouraging trust and collaboration Detailed case studies of San Francisco Seoul Copenhagen Medell n Amsterdam and Bengaluru formerly Bangalore contextualize the authors discussions of collaborative consumption and production the shared public realm both physical and virtual the design of sharing to enhance equity and justice and the prospects for scaling up the sharing paradigm through city governance They show how sharing could shift values and norms enable civic engagement and political activism and rebuild a shared urban commons Their case for sharing and solidarity offers a powerful alternative for urban futures to conventional race to the bottom narratives of competition enclosure and division

Writing History from the Margins Claire Parfait, Hélène Le Dantec-Lowry, Claire Bourhis-Mariotti, 2016-09-13 With contributions from leading American and European scholars this collection of original essays surveys the actors and the modes of writing history from the margins of society focusing specifically on African Americans Nearly 100 years after The Journal of Negro History was founded this book assesses the legacy of the African American historians mostly amateur historians initially who wrote the history of their community between the 1830s and World War II Subsequently the growth of the civil rights movement further changed historical paradigms and the place of African Americans and that of black writers in publishing and in the historical profession Through slavery and segregation self educated and formally educated Blacks wrote works of history often in order to inscribe African Americans within the main historical narrative of the nation with a two fold objective to make African Americans proud of their past and to enable them to fight against white prejudice Over the past decade historians have turned to the study of these pioneers but a number of issues remain to be considered This anthology will contribute to answering several key questions concerning who published these books and how were they distributed read and received Little has been written concerning what they reveal about the construction of professional history in the nineteenth century when examined in relation to other writings by Euro Americans working in an academic setting or as independent researchers No Ordinary Disruption Richard Dobbs,James Manyika,Jonathan Woetzel,2016-08-30 Our intuition on how the world works could well be wrong We are surprised when new competitors burst on the scene or businesses protected by large and deep moats find their defenses easily breached or vast new markets are conjured from nothing Trend lines resemble saw tooth mountain ridges The world not only feels different The data tell us it is different Based on years of research by the directors of the McKinsey Global Institute No Ordinary Disruption The Four Forces Breaking all the Trends is a timely and important analysis of how we need to reset our intuition as a result of four forces colliding and transforming the global economy the rise of emerging markets the accelerating impact of technology on the natural forces of market competition an aging world population and accelerating flows of trade capital and people Our intuitions formed during a uniquely benign period for the world economy often termed the Great Moderation Asset prices were rising cost of capital was falling labour and resources were abundant and generation after generation was growing up more prosperous than their parents But the Great Moderation has gone The cost of capital may rise The price of everything from grain to steel may become more volatile The world s labor force could shrink Individuals particularly those with low job skills are at risk of growing up poorer than their parents What sets No Ordinary Disruption apart is depth of analysis combined with lively writing informed by surprising memorable insights that enable us to quickly grasp the disruptive forces at work For evidence of the shift to emerging markets consider the startling fact that by 2025 a single regional city in China Tianjin will have a GDP equal to that of the Sweden of that in the decades ahead half of the world s economic growth will come from 440 cities including Kumasi in Ghana or Santa Carina in Brazil that most executives today would be hard pressed to locate on a map What we are now seeing is no ordinary disruption but the new facts of business life facts that require executives and leaders at all levels to reset their operating assumptions and management intuition Media and Culture

Fish Can't See Water Kai Hammerich, Richard D. Lewis, 2013-09-03 How national culture impacts organizational culture and business success Using extensive case studies of successful global corporations this book explores the impact of national culture on the corporate strategy and its execution and through this ultimately business success or failure It does not argue that different cultures lead to different business results but that all cultures impact organizations in ways both positive and negative depending on the business cycle the particular business and the particular strategies being pursued Depending on all of these factors cultural dynamics can either enable or derail performance But recognizing those cultural factors is difficult for business leaders like everyone else they too can be blind to the culture of which they are a part The book offers managers and leaders eight recommendations for recognizing those cultural factors that negatively impact performance as well as those that can be harnessed to encourage superior performance With real case studies from companies in Asia Europe and the United States this book offers a truly global approach to organizational culture Offers a fresh approach to the effects of national culture on organizational culture that is applicable to any country in any region Based on case studies of such companies as Toyota Samsung General Motors Nokia Walmart Kone and British Leyland It describes the origins and nature of the most common corporate crisis and how culture impacts the response to such a crisis Ideal for managers business leaders and board members as well as business school students A welcome response to the flat Earth fad that argues we re all alike this book offers a nuanced and practical view of cultural differentiators and how they can enable or derail business performance The Believer ,2009 Inventing the Cloud Century Marcus Oppitz,Peter Tomsu,2017-08-03 This book combines the three dimensions of technology society and economy to explore the advent of today s cloud ecosystems as successors to older service ecosystems based on networks Further it describes the shifting of services to the cloud as a long term trend that is still progressing rapidly The book adopts a comprehensive perspective on the key success factors for the technology compelling business models and ecosystems including private public and national organizations The authors explore the evolution of service ecosystems describe the similarities and differences and analyze the way they have created and changed industries Lastly based on the current status of cloud computing and related technologies like virtualization the internet of things fog computing big data and analytics cognitive computing and blockchain the authors provide a revealing outlook on the possibilities of future technologies the future of the internet and the potential impacts on business and society The Boston Globe Index ,2001 American Book Publishing Record ,2000-07 Fashion in Altermodern China Feng Jie,2022-03-24 Fashion in Altermodern China examines key features of women s fashion within the cultural and political context of contemporary China While global brands and styles heavily influence Chinese consumer trends the Chinese fashion system is formed of its own internal logics and emergent trends too Adopting the theoretical term altermodern Feng Jie encourages us to view China in terms of its rapid modernization which presents its own rhythms and meanings and argues persuasively that Chinese fashion can t be wholly understood in terms of a Western discourse of modernity postmodernity and the global Expanding our understanding of the fashion system Fashion in Altermodern China takes on board new trends in global trade new technologies and the hybridity of designs and consumption of fashion Through critical readings of Barthes on the neutral and Jullien on blandness both directly influenced by Asian philosophies the author offers a new perspective on Chinese fashion arguing that while global local contexts lead to identifiably postmodern and hybrid aesthetics for women in contemporary China the flux and mix of available fashions is experienced in a more open neutral manner than scholars have previously described Crucially then rather than position trends in China only in terms of hybridity which betrays a Western bias and a binary logic of host recipient there are more fluid ways in which we need to understand how women engage in fashion in China today Inside Triathlon ,2006
