

Ashes & Memory

There was a light dusting today... scattered your ashes wind blew away your spirit
But left me with Memories of you

There was a wind swept memorial Your ashes
floating into nothingness
but your memory settled in my heart.

There was a moment that I felt your spirit beneath my feet.

Memories And Ashes:

Looking to Jesus Kathryn Kurth Scudder, 2017-10-12 The largest section in Looking to Christ includes a verse or two from each of the Psalms as well as a brief discussion and prayer to go with them Other sections include stories from Kathryn's life as well as the lives of others The biblical guidelines for life are reflected in this book She is a strong believer in the power of prayer and the importance of praying for the needs of others Talking Drama Judith Roof, 2009-10-02 The essays in Talking Drama ask what the relation is between drama and its critics In so far as we conceive of drama and theatre as arising from and providing some sense of social ritual and comment drama is itself a critical genre showing up the foibles and problems of human existence as well as the general hubris and errors of society Plays both constitute criticism of society of ideas of other plays and deploy such self critical gambits as plays within plays characters who watch other characters characters feigning roles and personalities and even the overt inclusion of characters who are critics Plays thus comment both on themselves and on the art of theatre generally At the same time drama implies other kinds of critics in the guise of the audience reviewers and those who might participate in its ideas Just as plays produce the seeds of their own critique so they also spur critique of their aesthetics the artistry of their performance and the ideas and conflicts they illustrate Critics who review play performances are as much an intrinsic part of theatrical events as the audience and the plays themselves

We Monks and Soldiers Lutz Bassmann, Antoine Volodine, 2012-09-01 From one of the most original French writers of our day comes a mysterious prismatic and at times profoundly sad reflection on humanity in its darker moments one of which may very well be our own In a collection of fictions that blur distinctions between dreaming and waking reality Lutz Bassmann sets off a series of echoes the entrevoutes that conduct us from one world to another in a journey as viscerally powerful as it is intellectually heady While humanity seems to be fading around them the members of a shadowy organization are doing their inadequate best to assist those experiencing their last moments From a soldier monk exorcising what seem to be spirits but are they from an abandoned house to a spy executing a mission whose meaning eludes him to characters exploring cells wandering through ruins confronting political dissent and persecution encountering perhaps the spirits once exorcised these stories conduct us through a world at once ambiguous and sharply observed This remarkable work in Jordan Stump's superb translation offers readers a thrilling entry into Bassmann's numinous world Performing European Memories Milija Gluhovic, 2013-04-23 Asking whether a genuinely shared European memory is possible while addressing the dangers of a single homogenized European memory Gluhovic examines the contradictions specificities continuities and discontinuities in the European shared and unshared pasts as represented in the works of Pinter Tadeusz Kantor Heiner Muller and Artur Zmijewski The Descendant of Darkness Justin Lancaster, 2017-07-05 Life is full of ups and downs and most people are capable of maintaining a healthy balance between them However there are also people who struggle with these internal mechanisms This crafty novel details one young adolescent's struggle It is a miraculously inspiring and equally depressing story of a boy living with an undiagnosed mental illness He attempts to diagnose himself throughout the novel but he ultimately fails Soon enough he gets the help he needs and he even receives a proper diagnosis from a psychiatrist The boy vows to change his life for the better but life has other plans for him Family conflict stress and school build up an unearthly tension that leads to a shockingly climactic battle Experience the ups and downs alongside the story's protagonist and journey with him as he attempts to cure himself of his own disease 'Life' Before, After, and Again Rick Wood, 2010-12-09 Robert never had a chance to meet Jonathan but he soon finds out that their paths crossed each other several times in very unusual ways As Robert searches for answers to his anxiety attacks and strange memory flashes he finds far more than he could have ever expected As a young boy his parents felt the memories were only the vivid imagination of a child Later as Robert grew the memories became more complex and began to affect his daily routines Throughout his adult life Robert learned to ignore the flashes and anxiety attacks until he met Ann The reaction he had with the simple touch of Ann's hand was so powerful Robert knew it was time to find out what was causing the attacks and what the memories meant For the next several years Robert discovered many things in his research and he learned answers to questions people have asked for centuries Now Robert must decide what to do with the information he had in front of him and if the world was ready to learn what he had learned Nostalgia SUMATHI SRINIVASAN, 2022-07-18 Do you recall your first day of school when nothing seemed to matter to you but were meant to be happy days Do you recall the day you made a lifelong best friend Do you recall the fun days you had in high school and college How wonderful they are and they are said to be the happiest days of your life but can they be re-lived Of course not but they are preserved as nostalgic memories However your words have the potential to bring it to life And here are the co-authors who have written down their memories and their nostalgic times Every word tells you a tale about their own life which they treasure Each tale may kindle your memories too I hope that when you read theirs you remember your own memorable moments The words are said to be magic and the feel you get is said to be nostalgic Orations Alessandro Gavazzi, 1851 The Jewish Derrida Gideon Ofrat, 2001-06-01 Until now no critical work has touched on the Jewish dimension in Jacques Derrida's philosophical oeuvre Ofrat notes that early Derridean works contained few if any references to Jewish writers concepts or issues At first glance Judaism itself along with all other structures found in traditional Western metaphysics would appear to have no place in Derrida's thought but Ofrat argues that Derrida cannot be thoroughly understood without elucidating the Jewish current running through his philosophy right down to the scar of his circumcision A French Algerian Jew Derrida broke free of the Jewish consciousness and culture of his childhood but taught that leaving something is a precondition for recognizing its significance Ofrat suggests that Derrida's philosophy grew from these early influences and the fragments of his Jewish identity and he offers a comprehensive reading of Derridean writings and strong grounding in Jewish tradition By approaching Derrida's philosophical poetic and artistic themes through a Jewish lens Ofrat gives a sophisticated subtle entirely fresh reading of one of the most influential thinkers of the twentieth century Death, Memory and Material Culture Elizabeth Hallam, Jenny Hockey, 2020-05-26 How do the living maintain ongoing relationships with the dead in Western societies How have the residual belongings of the dead been used to evoke memories Why has the body and its material environment remained so important in memory making Objects images practices and places remind us of the deaths of others and of our own mortality At the time of death embodied persons disappear from view their relationships with others come under threat and their influence may cease Emotionally socially politically much is at stake at the time of death In this context memories and memory making can be highly charged and often provide the dead with a social presence amongst the living Memories of the dead are a bulwark against the terror of forgetting as well as an inescapable outcome of a life's ending Objects in attics gardens museums streets and cemeteries can tell us much about the processes of remembering This unusual and absorbing book develops perspectives in anthropology and cultural history to reveal the importance of material objects in experiences of grief mourning and memorializing Far from being invisible the authors show how past generations dead friends and lovers remain manifest through well worn garments letters photographs flowers residual drops of perfume funerary sculpture Tracing the rituals gestures and materials that have been used to shape and preserve memories of personal loss Hallam and Hockey show how material culture provides the deceased with a powerful presence within the here and now Memories of Hurstwood, Burnley, Lancashire, with tales and traditions of the neighbourhood. By T. Wilkinson and J.F. Tattersall Tattersall Wilkinson, 1889 Memories of the Old Homestead Henry Harrison Lyman, 1900 Armenian and Jewish Experience between Expulsion and Destruction Sarah M. Ross, Regina Randhofer, 2021-11-22 Jews and Armenians are often perceived as peoples with similar tragic historical experiences Not only were both groups forced into statelessness and a life outside their homelands for centuries in the 20th century in the shadow of war they were threatened with collective annihilation Thus far academic approaches to these two classical diasporas have been quite different Moreover Armenian and Jewish questions posed during the 19th and 20th centuries have usually been treated separately The conference We Will Live After Babylon that took place in Hanover in February 2019 addressed this gap in research and was one of the first initiatives to deal directly with Jewish and Armenian historical experiences between expulsion exile and annihilation in a comparative framework The contributions in this volume take on multidisciplinary approaches relating to the conference's central themes diaspora minority issues and genocide Anonymous. Life is a Story - story.one Anil Mustafa, 2024-02-15 It is October 1848 in Venice A young woman called Edith E Shaw has the desire to write Her father likes this idea but her brother is not one of those people In a time where many female authors had to hide their identity to gain success Edith is trying to become a published author herself But will she actually accomplish such thing Will she ever gain the same success as the man in this industry Or will she be known as anonymous Occupying Memory Trevor Hoag, 2018-11-15 Occupying Memory investigates the forces of trauma and mourning as deeply rhetorical in order to account for their capacity to seize one's life

Rather than viewing memory as granting direct access to the past and being readily accessible or pliant to human will Trevor Hoag exposes how the past is a rhetorical production and that trauma and mourning shatter delusions of sovereignty By granting memory the posthuman power to persuade without an accompanying rhetorician and contending the past cannot become a reality without being written this book highlights rhetoric's indispensability while transforming its relationship to memorialization trauma narrative death mourning haunting and survival Analyzing and deploying the rhetorical trope of occupatio Occupying Memory inhabits the conceptual place of memory by reinscribing it in ways that challenge hegemonic power while holding open that same space to keep memory in question and receptive to alternative futures to come Hoag likewise demonstrates how one might occupy memory through insights gleaned from analyzing artifacts media events and tropes from the Occupy Movement a contemporary national and international movement for socioeconomic justice

The Palgrave Handbook of Holocaust Literature and Culture Victoria Aarons, Phyllis Lassner, 2020-01-24 The Palgrave Handbook of Holocaust Literature and Culture reflects current approaches to Holocaust literature that open up future thinking on Holocaust representation The chapters consider diverse generational perspectives survivor writing second and third generation and genres memoirs poetry novels graphic narratives films video testimonies and other forms of literary and cultural expression In turn these perspectives create interactions among generations genres temporalities and cultural contexts The volume also participates in the ongoing project of responding to and talking through moments of rupture and incompleteness that represent an opportunity to contribute to the making of meaning through the continuation of narratives of the past As such the chapters in this volume pose options for reading Holocaust texts offering openings for further discussion and exploration The inquiring body of interpretive scholarship responding to the Shoah becomes itself a story a narrative that materially extends our inquiry into that history

Public Feminism in Times of Crisis Leila Easa, Jennifer Stager, 2022-07-26 Public Feminism in Times of Crisis examines the public practice of feminism in the age of social media While their concept of public feminism emerges from a moment of acute crisis the Trump years and the Covid 19 pandemic Leila Easa and Jennifer Stager locate its foundations in history journeying through broad swatches of time looking for connections between the centuries through art and literature and culture Each chapter focuses on what public feminists do in the world Public feminists gain control over an archive that otherwise contains or excludes them they recover their own stories and subjective experiences sometimes for activist use they examine images and language that construct women in patriarchal texts they situate the individual within a collective and the collective within an individual they confront the limitations of such situating due to the containment of patriarchy and reclaim new systems of power in response and they resurface a deep history for the alternative strategies of memorializing they employ In navigating these practices the authors also attend to the material conditions of writing histories as well as those shaping and enabling public feminist acts and protests more broadly
