traditional and classical music in Ireland as well as providing an overview of aspects of the national field of music production and consumption O Flynn goes on to argue that the relationship between Irish identity and Irish music emerges as a contested site of meaning His analysis exposes the negotiation and articulation of civic ethnic and economic ideas within a shifting hegemony of national musical culture and finds inconsistencies between and among symbolic constructions of Irish music and observed patterns in the domestic field More specifically O Flynn illustrates how settings genres social groups and values can influence individual identifications or negations of Irishness in music While the apprehension of intra musical elements leads to perceptions of music that sounds Irish style and authenticity emerge as critical articulatory principles in the identification of music that feels Irish The celebratory and homogenizing discourse associated with the international success of some Irish musical forms is not reflected in the opinions of the people interviewed by O Flynn at the same time an insider outsider dialectic of national identity is found in various forms of discourse about Irish music Performers and composers discussed include Bill Whelan Riverdance Sinéad O Connor The Corrs Altan U2 Martin Hayes Dolores Keane and Gerald Barry
