This book describes the intricacies of the construction and fabrication more than 150 years ago of masts and yards installed in American merchant vessels particularly those spars which were built or composed of multiple pieces bound together by iron bands These were referred to as made spars as opposed to spars constructed from a single tree It also contains instructions for developing the shape and proportions of various spars Very little information is available on this subject Generally the external sizes of individual spars can be found but intimate details are sorely neglected In addition the book includes the spacing and location of masts in a ship and the rake and it discusses the types of wood that are most desirable in the construction of spars The Persistence of Sail in the Age of Steam Donna J.

Souza,2013-06-29 In Archaeology Under Water 1966 19 pioneer nautical archaeologist George Bass pointed out how much easier it is to train someone who is already an archaeologist to become a diver than to take trained divers and teach them to do archaeology While this is generally true there have also been occasions when well trained and enthusiastic sport divers have been willing to accept the training and discipline necessary to conduct good archaeological science becoming first rate scholars in the process Dr Donna Souza's book is the product of just such a transition It shows how a sport diver and volunteer fieldworker can proceed through a rigorous graduate program to achieve research results that are convincing in their own right and point toward new directions in the discipline as a whole What is new in this book for maritime archaeology Perhaps the most obvious and important feature of Dr Souza's archaeological and historical analysis of the wreck at Pulaski Reef and its contemporaries in the Dry Tortugas National Park Florida is the way it serves as a means to a larger end namely an understanding of the social history of the transition from sail to steam in late nineteenth century maritime commerce in America The relationship between changes in technology and culture is a classic theme in anthropology and this study extends the theme into the domain of underwater archaeology The Pearls of Lutra Brian Jacques,2012-12-31 The ninth book in the beloved bestselling Redwall saga soon to be a major Netflix movie Far away on the isle of Sampetra the evil Emperor Ublaz sends his lizard army on a murderous mission to Redwall Meanwhile Tansy the hedgehog and her fellow Abbey dwellers race against time to unravel the fiendishly difficult riddles leading to six rose
